As we go to press we receive word that hospital pledges have passed the half million dollar mark.

With continued effort on the part of the army of fund raisers actual hospital construction could start next year.

Special fund projects are being announced each week. Everybody seems to have become hospital conscious.

This column and news columns generally, have said a lot about the responsibility of parents for the actions of their children.

Privately, until we attended a miniature child guidance session last week, we were inclined to accept that statement as just something for society to shout about in its effort to put the blame of delinquency on someone.

An interesting and challenging experience was had by parents who attended a counseling interview conducted by Dr. Rudolf Dreikurs, noted psychiatrist, at the cafeteria of Arlington Heights Junior high school Thursday evening.

A father and mother of Skokie told of their inability to train or control their 2 young children of 7 and 3 years old. A most skillful presentation of helpfulness to this distraught mother and father was given.

Perhaps the "keynote" was the ineffectiveness of "talking."

Said Dr. Dreikurs: "Mother talks when she doesn't know what to do, so she talks and talks and talks—to escape defeatism."

Dr. Dreikurs said that "punishment is outdated in our democratic era and that children respond to punishment only as they don't need it." He was quick to amplify this by saying that punishment should be replaced with facing the natural consequences, such as "asking the child to leave the room and come back when he's quiet."

"A parent should never enter into a power contest with one's children, but remove himself literally and take the wind out of their sails."

He pointed out that if 2 children fight, don't assume that the weaker one can't defend himself.

"Children do the dangerous thing to attract attention of the parents."

"Too many of us are raising a generation of tyrants," said Dr. Dreikurs. "The average 6 or 7 year old is smarter in some matters than his parents. The youngster enjoys shocking his parents. The greater the reaction of the parent, the greater kick the child gets out of it."

"When the fighting is too awful, put them in a room together away from the family or go to the bathroom yourself and lock the door. It should be the only room in the house that should have a locked door."

He suggested that Dad should install a television set there for the benefit of the mother when she goes there to seek refuge from her children."

Dr. Dreikurs said some things that startled his listeners. Some of our readers who read this may be equally as startled. Here they are:

"Children are as irresponsible as their parents allow them to be.

"Most parents treat their children like little idiots.

"Irresponsibility of children is due to the lack of parents' knowledge.

"Most children fight for the benefit of the mother and father.

"Parents should not try to do what they can't do."

The psychiatrist said, "Greater amount of counseling is needed today to help parents withdraw from the children—the most effective thing one can do.

"It's a grave mistake to ask for a promise and worse to accept a promise (in relation to children's behaviour)—let them face the consequences.

It was clear that evening that parents are eager for the constructive help that was given at this provocative meeting. Questions and viewpoints were freely given and a feeling of cameradie was most evident. Perhaps the old saying, "If we don't hang together, we'll hang separately" had some bearing.

A most unusual presentation of Dr. Dreikurs talking with two youngsters, 7 and 3 years of age, was a rare experience. This gave a real insight into the children's ability to control their parents.

We were only a listener at the child guidance meeting, but we have concluded that the boy or girl of kindergarten age who rules his parents has made a good start to become a teenage terror a few years later.

In interviewing local juvenile officers and ministers we were told Child Guidance for the parents of young children and Family Service for the families with teenagers, are both needed.

Here is something else to think about: Parents will not always be able to sidestep responsibility for their children. A bill will be introduced in the state legislature making them responsible for malicious acts of their offspring.

He's Pleased As Punch With His 1911 Knox Car

by TOM BRENNAN

The 1957 models may be "4 inches lower, only 56 inches from the ground" but they hold no charms for at least 1 Arlington Heights resident.

He has an auto that stands 91 inches, or 7 feet, 9 inches, from tread to top, and he's pleased as punch with it.

The car is a 1911 Knox touring car, tended with loving care by owner Vernon R. Hagenbring, 8 S. Vail, genial proprietor of a dry goods business on W. Campbell st.

AS THE ABOVE before-and-after pictures show, the Knox was in a sorry state when Hagenbring acquired it. Rats had chewed up some of its fancy wood fittings, rust had caked on its cylinders. It was last driven 34 years ago, as it was fitted wih 1922 Illinois license plates.

Hagenbring long had been on the lookout for a touring car to rebuild. Of course, he knew as little of the inner workings of vintage automobiles as the rest of us but decided to learn by restoring one to new condition.

Another ancient auto fancier, a friend of Hagenbring's, purchased in Momence exactly the car Vern wanted. So he rummaged in the back country haunts where such cars are usually found until he came across a Locomobile. He traded it to the friend with the Knox in an even swap.

THREE YEARS of spare time were spent in restoring the Knox to its original condition. The car was the Cadillac Eldorado of its day, selling for $3,841 without equipment.

Hagenbring invites visitors to run their hands across the leather upholstery, then proudly remarks 'It's the original."

The hobbyist has spared no expense in refitting his prize.

What he could not do himself, he contracted out, with one bill for a set of tires topping $200.

As to the total cost of the project, Hagenbring explains that members of the rubber horn set usually don't care to mention things like that.

"Everyone is inquisitive about the money involved, including our wives," he smiled. He stressed, however, that many restorers do all their own work at a minimum of cost.

After completing the 3-year task last month Hagenbring piled his wife and daughter and a friend of the daughter into the car for a jaunt to Galena.

"There was a meeting of vintage car owners in Galena that weekend," he said, "and they told me I have one of two 1911 Knox touring cars in existence. The other is in Springfield, Mass., where the cars were manufactured."

The 157-mile trip to Galena required 7½ hours in the Knox, beamed the driver, adding that the motorists enjoyed being ogled by everyone on the road.

"With the sides open to the elements, it gets a bit windy though," the tousle-haired Hagenbring noted.

Election Mandate Sends Village Worker 'Packing'

Harold Dobbins will soon be a victim of electoral unemployment.

In plain terms, Dobbins, superintendent of the sewage disposal plant in Arlington Heights, will apparently be out of a job before long.

The reason is that his plant will be closed down within 6 months because the village was taken into the Chicago Sanitary district by the November 6 election.

So, like defeated senators, state's attorneys and their hangers-on, Dobbins must soon pack his bags. The difference is that he doesn't have a cushy law practice to return to.

ARLINGTON trustees have mulled over trying to pull out of the district. But Sanitary district engineers are rushing plans to connect a district sewer with a village sewer; only a half mile separates them. The district claims it can connect in less than 6 months.

There would be no use for the present village disposal plant after the connection is made.

Dobbins has been superintendent at the E. Davis st. plant for 8 years. For the present he's staying on although recently he had an opportunity to obtain similar employment in another town.

Asked why he is remaining, he replied that F. R. Buechner, village manager, had requested him to do so.

Another job with the village, perhaps in the public works department, is a possibility. However Dobbins would naturally prefer to remain in his present line of work.

NORMALLY a crew of 3 is required to run the disposal plant. For 2 weeks, however, Dobbins operated it by himself. One of his co-workers was hospitalized as a result of an auto accident; another was on vacation. During those 2 weeks Dobbins compiled 41 hours of overtime.

The other 2 men are also seeking employment. Vince Weidner hopes to become a full-time fireman when 4 regular fireman are hired to man the new fire station. He is now a volunteer fireman.

Bob Harth, injured when his car overturned at State and Central rds., will probably be unable to return to work for some time.

In the course of an interview last week Dobbins related an incident that took place earlier this fall but not previously made public.

The Chicago North Western railway received permission of the village some months ago to extend a spur track across Davis st. to the new Bruning plant southwest of the disposal plant.

Originally the spur was to run south along the west side of the disposal plant, until it was learned that the crossing would interfere with traffic along E. Davis st.

The spur was instead routed westward on the south side of the plant. The track was on the Mt. Prospect side of the Arlington-Mt. Prospect line, 33 feet south of the disposal plant fence.

Track was laid across the Arlington Heights sewer which runs south from the plant through Mt. Prospect, to Central rd. Dobbins pointed out to village officials that the weight of a locomotive on top of the 8-foot by 12-foot sewer, there only 4 feet underground, might cause the sewer to collapse.

Railroad officials agreed and not long after a crew tore up the track, laid reinforcing on top of the sewer and relaid the track.

Lake Water For Four Suburbs Now Assured

Des Plaines City Council Votes To Join Commission

Cooperation among 4 northwest suburbs to secure Lake Michigan water seemed assured Wednesday.

In a long awaited development the Des Plaines city council Monday voted to join with Palatine, Arlington Heights and Mt. Prospect to form a northwest suburban water commission.

Park Ridge, however, indicated it is not interested in participating, preferring to stay with city of Chicago water. Palatine Mayor Howard Olson reported on the decision of the Park Ridge city council. He urged aldermen to consider participation at the meeting.

"A MEETING of the 4 towns which have joined will be scheduled for next week to tie up loose ends," Olson said. "Several of the towns must amend ordinances to include Des Plaines."

Each town must appoint a member to the governing board of the water commission; a fifth member would be named by a Circuit court. Olson said the towns would consult on a fifth member acceptable to all.

NO DEFINITE plan for bringing water to the area has gained final approval. One detailed proposal was made earlier this year by Consoer, Townsend & Associates, consulting engineers for several villages involved.

Des Plaines alderman Mary V. Neff said it would be up to the commission to determine the most feasible of 5 proposals:

1) The Consoer, Townsend plan in which the commission would build its own pipeline to the lake.

2) Purchase of water from Evanston.

3) Purchase of water from Chicago.

4) Joining with the new west suburban water commission which will bring water from an intake near Glencoe to the Elmhurst area.

5) Purchase of water from the Sanitary district.

IN A STATEMENT on the action of Des Plaines, Mayor Howard Olson, one of the first backers of the commission, said:

"The fact that the Northwest Suburban Water commission is formed is a victory in principle. There have been suggestions that such problems can only be solved by a mammoth metropolitan authority.

"The fact that the West Suburban Water commission was formed and now a Northwest commission authorized is an indication that the smaller towns themselves recognize their own problems and work jointly to solve them.

"This is a principle of home rule at its finest point," Olson declared.

On the topic of Lake Michigan as a source of water, Olson said he had always considered it "necessary that we get water from the lake. We could buy it from Chicago or from some giant authority but we can be prouder if we get lake water on our own."

"If we cooperate we can act on our own, without a handout from a big government," the mayor concluded.

ONE PROPOSAL was made last week to supply water to Chicago suburbs. The president of the Metropolitan Sanitary district of Chicago, Anthony Olis, suggested that the district wholesale water to the suburbs.

Other members of the district board of trustees later objected to Olis' plan, claiming they had not heard of it.

Olis said that under his plan suburbanites would have a voice in the distribution of water, which they would not have if the city of Chicago undertook to supply water to all suburbs. He also said that Chicago could not bear the staggering cost of constructing a distribution system.

Proper Addresses

Virginia F. Dodge, Arlington Heights postmaster, advised this week that it is most important to include either North, South, East or West in addressing mail.

Proper addresses will eliminate delay and misdelivering of mail, particularly with the heavy holiday volume approaching.

Santa Claus Arrives Here Monday P.M.

Santa Claus will visit Arlington Heights this coming Monday, Dec. 10, at 4 p.m., weather permitting.

He will be flown in by helicopter through the cooperation of the 45th AAA brigade of Chicago, Col. Frank Folk, commanding, and 86th Missile Battalion of Arlington Heights, Capt. Wm. L. Davis commanding.

FOLLOWING his arrival he will be at the Arlington Heights National Bank where he will distribute candy to the children. Starting that evening all Arlington Heights stores will be open every night until Christmas.

These arrangements were made through the cooperative efforts of the progressive merchants of Arlington Heights and through the Arlington Heights chamber of commerce.

Yule Concert This Week To Aid Hospital

A program of Christmas music designed to appeal to everyone in the family from Junior to Aunt Margaret will be presented by the Town and Country chorus in 3 performances this weekend.

A tableau entitled "Christmas Crib," hula dancing, and ballet numbers are several of the offerings. Evening performances are slated for 8:15 p.m. Saturday and Sunday and a Sunday matinee begins at 2:30 p.m. All will be in the girls' gymnasium at Arlington high school.

PROCEEDS of the affair will be turned over to the Northwest Community Hospital building fund. Tickets are being sold by chorus members and many merchants in Arlington Heights, Palatine, Mt. Prospect and other suburbs and may also be obtained from Mrs. Lucille Hoffman, CL 3-6416.

The chorus draws upon all northwest suburbs for its membership. Accompanist will be Carol Conley of Palatine.

County Gives Tinsley 5 Yrs. To Move

County zoning officials have given Waldo E. Tinsley, operator of a bus company serving schools in the Arlington Heights area, 5 years in which to relocate his business.

Tinsley now uses part of a 2-acre parcel on Palatine rd., between Wilke and State rds., for storage and maintenance of buses. It is zoned for quarter-acre residential lots.

HE WILL BE granted a permit to continue the present use until November 14, 1961, with the variation to lapse if the tract is put to another use.

The zoning board findings said that the village of Palatine had objected to Tinsley's original request for light industrial zoning. However the objection was later withdrawn. Tinsley had modified his petition at an earlier public hearing.

Trustees Debate Liquor Licenses

Interpretation of the Arlington Heights liquor ordinance stirred debate among trustees at Tuesday evening village board meeting.

Trustee Richard Bronwell opened fire in referring to a report on liquor license fees paid to the village for the current fiscal year.

Bronwell charged that issuance of 2 class A licenses by Mayor Goedke, also village liquor commissioner, had "in effect" changed the meaning of the liquor statute.

THE CHARGE was denied by Trustee John Hoover, who accused Brownell of "submitting to the influence" of local package liquor store "lobbyists." The latter, said Hoover, had openly lobbied against granting of additional liquor store permits when such a proposal came up earlier this year.

The report shows that 2 class A licenses are now held by firms that, according to the mayor, intend to build and operate package liquor stores.

A class "A" license was held during the first half of the year, from May 1 to Oct. 30, by "Dornan & Parkin, Suburban Snack shop, 1704 W. Campbell." November 1, the same license was taken out, and a 6-month fee of $350 paid, by "Wilkham Liquors, Inc., 1704-1706 W. Campbell, R. F. Parkin, pres."

ALSO DISCLOSED in the report is the transfer of a class A license formerly held by Emma Kosmin, owner of the Union tavern at 1 E. Davis until her recent death. This license was issued to "The Garden Liquor Mart, Inc., Minnie Duro, pres., 401 S. State rd."

Several class A licensees presently sell alcoholic beverages by the bottle on the premises. Bronwell claimed that the 2 new licensees would be "predominantly" a package operation, rather than predominantly a tavern operation as are current "A" places.

Allowing the Wilkham and Garden firms to run under class A franchises would run counter to the past action of the board in limiting class B package liquor store permits to 3, argued Bronwell.

Other trustees saw it differently.

TRUSTEE Frederick Weber stated that under the ordinance as defined, a class "A" licensee may sell liquor for consumption either on or off the premises.

Hoover said that the "situation" would improve if "we can get rid of a couple of taverns."

It was mentioned that the Garden and Wilkham firms might agree to a change to class "B" licenses, thus cutting down the number of taverns in the village from 12 to 10.

Trustees Hoover and Weber of the licensing committee will study the licensing setup, perhaps with a view to redrafting the ordinance. The mayor said Hugo Thal, village attorney, is also studying the question.

IN OTHER business, the board:

—Heard from the attorney that village voters disapproved annexation to the Chicago Sanitary district by a margin of 180 votes. Trustees will discuss possible courses of action, including seeking a recompense from the district for the present disposal plant and filing of litigation to void the referendum, at a private session Tuesday.

—Concurred in 3 zoning board decisions permitting a S. State rd. shopping center, a village parking lot also on S. State rd. and a duplex on W. Miner st.

—Voted to ask the state highway department to erect a stop light at the intersection of Northwest highway and Euclid ave.

Northside Paper Pickup Saturday

Boy scouts of Arlington Heights will make their second fall pickup of scrap paper in the area north of Northwest hwy. Saturday morning.

Residents are urged to tie papers and magazines securely or put them in cardboard boxes and have them on the curb by 9 a.m. Saturday.

LOADING area will be the North school grounds. Anyone late in getting paper out or those living in outlying areas are asked to bring the papers to the school before noon.

Receipts from these drives stay in Arlington Heights and are distributed to all cub, scout and explorer units for the purchase of equipment.

The scouts appreciate the support received for these drives. Last month's drive resulted in a collection of more than 27 tons of paper.

Women Voters Fete New Representatives

Four chapters of the League of Women Voters located in the new sixth state legislative district will honor the 3 state representatives at a reception Saturday from 3 to 4 p.m. in Old Orchard Country club, Mt. Prospect.

ATTENDING will be League members from Park Ridge, Skokie, Northbrook, and Arlington Heights chapters. The women will meet the representatives and discuss the League's legislative program.

Guests of honor will be Rep. John W. Carroll (Park Ridge), Rep. Thomas J. Halpin (Skokie), and Rep. Arthur Simmons (Skokie).

Round 'n About Westgate

Westgate Community Association

This will be the last reminder of the association's Holly-Daze dance to be held this Saturday, Dec. 8, at the VFW hall here in Arlington Heights. The dance will start at 9 p.m. to the music of Hal Irwin and his orchestra. If friends are coming for the weekend, they are also invited to attend. Everyone should have been contacted by a member of the social committee, but if anyone was missed, the following people may be called for tickets: Marty Nicol, Andy Graczyk, Skip Akerlund, Barney Callahan, Jen-Caryl Wickless, and Lois Graham. Tickets may also be purchased at the door.

As published in the Arlington Heights Herald last week, residents have been invited to help name the various parks being developed in several subdivisions. Westgate's park, which is bordered on Reuter ave. and St. James pl., certainly is of interest to the community. Jim Blocki, president of the association, received a letter from the park district asking that residents submit names for the park. Another park, which will be of interest, is the 23-acre park nearing completion between Westgate and Our Lady of the Wayside church. This means these youngsters will no longer have to cross the highway to go to Recreation park and the same facilities will be offered. This park also is in need of a name. Suggestions from Westgate residents will be helpful. Mail suggested names on a plain sheet of paper along with sender's name to either Jim Blocki, 419 Yale, or Maryan Granis, 1500 W. Fremont. There is no award in naming the parks.

Baby Shower

An after-the-baby-came shower was held for Jane Rice, 403 Reuter, last Thursday evening. Bari O'Dea and Eleanor DeZonna were hostesses for the evening. Twenty-five girls attended the gathering. A unique idea in prizes was white elephant costume jewelry donated by guests and arranged on miniature Christmas trees. Punch was served during the evening. After Jane opened gifts refreshments were served.

Entertain

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Bennett of Madison, Wis. and their 8 children were houseguests of Fran and Bill Johnston, 1505 Euclid, over the weekend. Fran and Bill have 4 children and along with the 8 Bennett children, much merriment prevailed.

Dorothy and Charles Kenny, 403 Wilke, entertained at a party and buffet supper Saturday evening for 8 couples. Guests at the party were Bari and Pat O'Dea, Bert and Andy Graczyk, Eleanor and Bud DeZonna, Elaine and Dick Hoppe, Fran and Harry Hebard, Kay and Marty Pattyn, Dolores and Frank DeRosa and Elaine and Bob Maley.

Happy Birthday

Stefani Stein celebrated her third birthday November 24. A luncheon was held in her honor and her guests included Raymond Herigodt, Kim Rothery, Maureen McDonald, Maureen Callahan, Johnny Brogan, Keith Lynne Czerney, Pam and Pat Hawkes, Susie and Gail Collins, Johnson, Pamela Graczyk, Jamie Townsend and Philip and Stephan ents, Ruth and Stefan, at 1518 Fremont.

Eleanor DeZonna, 402 Reuter, celebrated her birthday December 2. Eleanor and her husband, Bud, were invited to the home of Bari and Pat O'Dea for the evening. Fran and Harry Hebard, Dorothy and Charles Kenny and Bert and Andy Graczyk arrived soon after for a pre-arranged informal surprise party for Eleanor.

A birthday luncheon was held Monday for Eleanor DeZonna at the home of Elaine Hoppe, 319 Wilke. Dorothy Stokes, Pat Nelson and Marty Nicol attended the luncheon. (A

It's a Whiz at Everything a car should do

It turns out that the 1957 Buick is far more than just a brand-new automobile.

It turns out that this new '57 Buick is winning the raves with a new kind of going and a new kind of stopping—a new kind of handling and a new kind of road sureness—a new kind of safety and a new kind of comfort.

We'll be specific.

When you press the pedal of a new '57 Buick, the response is literally instant . . .

Because the high-torque power of a new 364-cubic-inch V8 engine is delivered in the split of a second through a new full-range Variable Pitch Dynaflow that's immediate in its oil-smooth action.*

When you brake to a stop, you and the car stay on a level plane . . .

Because an ingenious new ball-joint suspension in every '57 Buick virtually ends the down-in-front dip that cars have on sudden stops.

When you take a turn or swing into an "S" curve, you still hug the road like a streamliner on rails—

Because under you is a massive wide-frame new chassis that "nests" the whole car inches closer to the road with the lowest center of gravity in Buick history—yet with no change in road clearance.

And when you sit in the deep comfort of those soft wide seats, you can drive with the pleasant ease of a clear conscience, without watching the speedometer . . .

Because only in Buick today can you have an ingenious new Safety-Minder that acts as a warning sentinel for the miles-per-hour you preset for yourself.*

There are many other new things that make this gorgeous Buick a car of limitless wonders—from the bigger and more rakish windshield that makes seeing more relieving, to the extra roominess that's so surprising in this beauty with the sports-car lowness.

But there's nothing like a firsthand sampling to know how modern the newest thing on wheels really is. Come in today for your meeting with the newest Buick yet.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century — optional at modest extra cost on the Special. Safety-Minder standard on Roadmaster, optional other Series.

Request More Heavy Industry

The Northern Illinois Gas Co. has asked the county board for heavy industry zoning for 26¾ acres on the west side of Elmhurst rd., ½ mile south of Oakton st. in Elk Grove township. It is now known as August Wolter farm.

The property is now zoned for farming.

The board referred the request to the county zoning board of appeals for a public hearing and recommendation.

Rezoning of one-third acre on the northwest corner of Rohlwing rd. and Kirchhoff rd. in Palatine township was turned down by the board.

The property remains zoned for residences on lots with a minimum area of 20,000 square feet. A business zoning for the property had been asked by John Phillippe, Rohlwing rd., rte 1, Box 42, Palatine.

Two Arlington Residents Hit By Car On Highway

Two Arlington Heights men were hospitalized Monday morning from injuries suffered when they were struck by a car while standing in the middle of Northwest hwy. near Evergreen, waiting for traffic to pass.

Police said the men injured were John V. Sunkel, 52, of 612 N. Douglas, head cuts and ankle injuries, and Charles J. Misek, 50, of 508 E. Euclid, head cuts and a broken left leg.

The men were knocked to the pavement by a car driven by a Des Plaines man who was headed west and traveling in the inner lane. Police said the men admitted standing in the street, to the west of the crosswalk on the west side of the intersection of Evergreen and U. S. 14.

The autoskidded to a halt about 22 feet west of the crosswalk. The 2 pedestrians had stopped to permit eastbound traffic to clear. Police added that the car's left front tire apparently passed over Misek's left leg.

The two were taken to Resurrection hospital.

A MAN identified by police as Kermit Hamilton was jailed on a bad check count Saturday. He was charged with cashing a $20 check at Shelkop's appliance, putting it down on merchandise and taking $10 in cash.

He was apprehended by village police in a local tavern, less than 8 hours after he left the store. Trial was set for Wednesday morning.

A backyard swing set was stolen from the home of Frank Kieca, 821 N. Salem, some time during the weekend, he told police. Break-ins were reported at the E. T. Schutz residence, 729 S. Beverly ln., no loss, and at St. Peter Lutheran school, where the school bell was rung and a door lock broken. Also on Saturday, a spare wheel and tire were stolen from a car parked in a S. Lincoln driveway.

Statistics

Texas' surface elevations range from sea level to 4,000 feet above on plateaus, with several mountains more than 7,000 feet high, and the Guadalupe peak at 8,751 feet.

Blame Wrecks On New Stop Signs, Bad Emergency Brake

Four-way stop signs were installed at the intersection of Wilke rd. and Northwest hwy. a week ago Tuesday to cut down the number of accidents.

Friday an accident occurred, the first apparently due to the new installation. A woman was slightly injured on the right hand, Arlington police said.

SHE WAS Mrs. Newell Whiteis, a passenger in a car driven by her husband, operator of a sanitary sewer service on Rand rd. outside Palatine. Whiteis had stopped on the north side of the highway and started across to head south on Wilke rd. when his car was struck by an auto eastbound on the highway.

The eastbound driver, Allen Williams, 33, of Wheaton, was ticketed for failure to stop.

AN EMERGENCY brake that failed to hold brought trouble on 2 counts to A. C. Askeloff of 1019 S. Chestnut, Arlington Heights. His auto, parallel parked near the Elms shopping center Saturday morning, slipped backwards into a car being towed north along Walnut. Askeloff's car was slightly damaged and he received a ticket for leaving a vehicle unattended after police noticed ignition keys left in his car.

The car being towed belonged to James C. Dewberry of Chicago. Police examined his license and arrested him for carrying an expired chauffeur's license. Tow truck driver Vernon L. Frost of Palatine was not arrested.

Northwest Heighters

Florence Gordon had a coffee Friday morning at which she displayed Christmas candles the WSCS of the Methodist Church is selling as a building fund project. All those who came were delighted with the wide variety of candles, as well as other Christmas decorations she had. She will be glad to take orders for any who want them.

Guest of Honor

Joan Hahn was the guest of honor at a recent coffee given for her by Eunice Dale and Lucy Erickson to introduce her to her new neighbors on and around Ridge ave.

Charlotte and Jim Ronayne are getting a good start on their holiday entertaining. Saturday they invited her cousin and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Benson of Deerfield for dinner. Also included were her aunts and uncles, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Compton and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Challiss of Oak Park, and Charlotte' parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Compton, also of Oak Park. After dinner they set up tables for pinochle and bridge.

Recently the Burt O. Gaenzles went to the Elmhurst country club as guests of her father, George Stewart. Mrs. Gaenzle's brother, Ray Stewart of Edison Park and his family, had dinner with them, as well as her sister, Mrs. Ell Sampson and her family. Eleven children were included in the party. Mrs. Gaenzle says that almost as good as eating out is not having to clean up afterward.

The Norman Walls were among those who had a wonderful time Friday night at the dance at Chevy Chase, sponsored by St. James church. They danced to the music of Buddy Pressner and his orchestra. During intermission there was organ music, which was equally as pleasant as the orchestra. The Walls went with the John Schmidts and met other friends at the dance to form a party which went to a restaurant after the dance. The evening was much too short, says Mrs. Wall, which indicates they had a wonderful time.

They hardly got a second wind when they were off to Chicago the following morning to the wedding of Mr. Wall's step-sis- ...e Wall, in Chicago. The reception after the wedding was at the Tally Ho in Park Ridge.

New Daughter

There is a baby girl at the Harold Vetter house and she's almost brand new. Carol Jean was born the day before Thanksgiving in Resurrection hospital and weighed 9 pounds 1 ounce. She came home to an 8-year-old sister, Gail, and a 7-year-old brother, John, who are just entranced with her. Mrs. Vetter says that they have taken over many duties.

This week Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Inselberger entertained old friends from Rhinelander, Wis., Mr. and Mrs. Bradly Freeborn. Mrs. Freeborn is a half-sister to the Inselberger's son-in-law, Robert Alderton of Lake Villa.

To Be Married Soon

There will be double excitement around the James Kelly home at Christmastime this year. Tom will be marrying Eileen Doyle December 29 at her church in Chicago, St. Francis Borgia. Tom is a junior at Loyola university, majoring in accounting, and is also vice president of Delta Sigma Pi fraternity. His fiancee attended Mundelein college.

Jeff Platt, 8-year-old son of the Richard Platts, has been home sick for 4 weeks. He's been keeping up with his school work through home teaching and his mother says he's been a good boy through it all. It is hoped that he will have a speedy recovery.

The John J. Lightners were among those who enjoyed the St. James dance Friday night.

Friends and neighbors of Mrs. T. A. Schoen will be sorry to know that she is in a hospital in Evanston under observation.

Shower

Mrs. W. F. Tritton and Mrs. John L. Mowatt are giving a baby shower Wednesday night for Mrs. Vi Loechl. Several of the Patton ave. neighbors have been invited. (A

"Buffalo" cub scouts of den 8 held a puppet show and party for their parents Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of their cub-scout denmother, Mrs. T. C. Carlsen, 1314 N. Harvard. In The Shadow Of The Steeple

She Wept, 'But I've Never Had A Bible Of My Own!'

by REV. WILLIAM McGILL

Most of the people who read this paper have a Bible of their own, or can get one readily enough if they want one.

John Thomas, who has been the Church Federation's chaplain at Cook county hospital, has had a different experience. What he says lends meaning to the celebration of Bible Sunday and our recognition of the work of the American Bible society.

"THERE WERE tears in her eyes. 'You mean this Bible is mine, Chaplain? I've never had a Bible of my own before. I don't know how to thank you.' The following evening I stopped to see her before she went to surgery. She was sitting up in bed reading from John 14. In response to a few questions she told me she had been afraid, but now things were all different. The message of God's Word and the hospital chapel service had helped her. A brief prayer of thanksgiving for God's love for us in Jesus Christ and for her confidence in God's eternal care closed the visit. She recovered quickly from the operation and took her Bible home with her when she left the hospital.

"One morning the doctor suggested that I visit a young man who had recently been admitted; this young man was a blind student. It was a genuine joy to be able to tell him that at his bedside next morning would be two of the Gospels in Braille, and that arrangements could easily be made to procure other portions should he desire them. These two volumes had been a grant from the Chicago Bible society.

"IT IS A thrill to see an elderly person with poor eyesight, or a person with defective eyesight, reading for the first time in several years God's Holy Word, by himself. Quite frequently this happens because I have on hand a supply of Gospels and Psalms in very large type. To a person whose failing eyesight has shut out the pleasure of Bible reading, it is a wonderful thing when his eyes again may behold 'wondrous things out of Thy law.' These Gospel portions and the Book of Psalms mean much to folks like these.

"During physical illness, when the body is diseased or weakened, man's spirit can be, and often is, at low ebb. The right use of the Bible at this time can help man face death, illness and handicaps, confident in God's love. The Bible can bring new hope to the lonely and guilt-ridden, and open the eyes of those who have forgotten Him in their health. The Bible Society upholds the hands of chaplains everywhere who 'visit those who are sick and in prison.' " (B10

Slate New City At Valley Forge

America's youngest, newest and busiest city for over 50,000 persons will teem with excitement next Juy 12 to 18.

At the moment it doesn't exist.

A 1,500-acre tent city will house the Fourth National Jamboree of th Boy Scouts of America at historic Valley Forge in Pennsylvania.

In it boys from all walks of life, of all races and creeds will live together, exchanging skills, swapping home-town products, and learning about customs and traditions of many sections of the nation.

"THE PURPOSE of the jamboree," says Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, Chief Scout Executive of the Boy Scouts of America, "is to strengthen the program of the individual unit and to provide an opportunity for boys to be associated with Scouts from all parts of their own country. This living together in a spirit of brotherhood and friendship is one of the continuing objectives of our movement and the basis upon which we undertake this gigantic task."

Valley Forge Park is owned and maintained by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania which invited the Scouts to camp there. After the jamboree the Scouts will have the grounds restored to their original condition.

SURVEY PARTIES are allocating 1,292 troop camp sites each 90 feet by 90 feet. There will be 38 sectional camps each comprising 34 troops of 37 Scouts or Explorers and 3 adult leaders, and also

The Scout city will have its own water, electric power, and telephone systems, post offices, fire department, medical facilities, an amphitheatre seating 55,000 persons and even its own trading posts.

It will be a self-sustaining venture with each participant paying his own way. (B7

Hospital Appeal Passes $500,000

Pledges to the Northwest Community Hospital center fund drive totaling well over a half million dollars were reported at an enthusiastic leaders' meeting Monday night at hospital drive headquarters in Arlington Heights.

Major reasons for encouragement were reports of Lou Langpo, heading the Mount Prospect drive, Earl Riley, for Arlington Heights, and Richard Windsor, for Rolling Meadows.

Langpop reported a total of $195,000 pledged thus far in Mount Prospect, with these returns divided as follows:

Residential, $64,184; business, $29,850; special gifts, $16,243; and industry, $85,000.

Major item in the $85,000 industrial division is the $75,000 pledge made by Herbert F. Bruning of the Charles Bruning company which will have a new plant in Mt. Prospect in the near future.

RILEY'S Arlington Heights report totaled $242,419, with just over $146,000 of this amount coming from residential calls.

Business solicitation in Arlington Heights has returned $61,000 thus far, Don Florence reported, with special gifts accounting for $34,300, reported by Hugh Nichol.

ROLLING MEADOWS report given by Richard Windsor showed coverage of a considerable portion of the newly-built community, with total returns now reaching $32,854. Of this amount, $10,000 was represented by the pledge of Kimball Hill & Associates.

Lattof expressed the sentiment of the entire drive leadership when he stated that the returns thus far were extremely encouraging.

"I am confident" Lattof said, "that this drive is going to succeed if the work remaining to be done is carried to completion with the same efficiency and enthusiasm and public support which we have seen evidenced by reports turned in thus far.

"It is wonderful to be able to look at reports at this early stage and to be able to say to the public with sincere confidence that our area is going to be assured a hospital if those who have not yet been contacted respond as enthusiastically as those who have already pledged."

LEADERS of the drive noted that, although returns are now approaching the $600,000 level, major sections of the northwest area which are participating in the campaign, have not yet made their first official reports. This includes the communities of Palatine, Prospect Heights, and Des Plaines.

Des Plaines, which is now entering the opening stages of its drive, announced today that G. Rex Wilson, cashier of the First National Bank, will serve as chairman for the business fund solicitations. He will coordinate his work with that of John A. Eagleson, secretary-treasurer of the First Federal Savings Bank, who is chairman of the Des Plaines residential drive. (AF

Eastwood Events

Hospital Drive

Georgia Schneller and Matt Cockrell, co-chairmen of this district in the current Hospital drive, wish to thank everyone who cooperated in this most worthy cause. The people who were active in the drive gave generously of their time.

The majority of Eastwood residents donated, however, those who may have been missed or failed to donate at the time are urged to contact the above mentioned people. Donations are much needed and will be greatly appreciated.

Boy Scout Drive

Ivor Fruehling, captain of collection in this district for the recent Boy Scout drive reports that the results have been most favorable and thanks everyone who co-operated.

New Additions

Lorraine and Ed Vana, 409 N. Dryden, are parents of a girl, Sharon Diane, born November 25 in Swedish Covenant hospital, Chicago. The baby, their first, and incidentally, the first grandchild on either side of the family, weighed 7 pounds 3¾ ounces. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Nelson of Chicago. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ed Vana of Minong, Wis.

Congratulations go to Rosalia and Arthur Brinckman, 210 N. Dryden, on the birth of their first child, a boy. Randy Wade, weighing 6 pounds 7½ ounces, was born November 14 in Resurrection hospital. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hawkins of Taylorville and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Brinckman of Park Ridge.

A surprise stork shower was given for Eleanor Lett Wednesday evening at the home of Lois Evans, 215 N. Beverly. Those attending were neighbors on Beverly lane.

Here and There

Betty and Arthur Templin with 4½-month-old son, Gary, are back home at 214 N. Dryden, after spending several months in Sharon, Mass., where Mr. Templin was engaged in extensive engineering studies for his firm.

Virginia Vlach has taken over for Lou Larson as secretary of the Eastwood Community association.

Vera Mell, 207 N. Lincoln lane, is convalescing at home from a recent operation in Sherman hospital, Elgin.

Arthur Sailer returned home recently from a short business trip to Florida.

Dorothy House has recuperated from a recent operation in Wesley Memorial hospital, and is now back at work.

The annual Christmas party is to be held at the field house Sunday, Dec. 16th, from 3-5 p.m. Santa Claus will be there and a puppet show will be presented.

There were several Eastwoodites at the St. James benefit dance at Chevy Chase Friday evening: Lois and Dick Evans, Eileen and Jack Anderson and Delores and Homer Nielsen. Lou and Ben Yunker were the lucky winners of a portable TV set, which was one of 3 prizes awarded during the evening.

Sympathy

Sympathy is extended to former Eastwoodites Mr. and Mrs. Rex Dallstream, now of Gages Lake, on the sudden death of their son, Jerry, as the result of an automobile accident.

No bridge scores yet. (A

Brownie troop 427

Brownie troop 427 will celebrate its first birthday Thursday, Dec. 6, with a party and investiture ceremony. Eleven of the girls received their first year stars, now used in lieu of the flower pendants.

Four new girls were invested into the troop and received Brownie pins. The troop was entertained with a birthday cake and a troop shower, planned by the troop committee with all mothers participating. The troop received many useful and attractive gifts.

Brownie Troop 452

Brownie troop 452 held an investiture program at the home of its leader, 707 N. Harvard, with Brownie mothers also present.

The 7 girls invested at brownies were Wendy Brogan, Christine Clausing, Uanessa Foley, Geraldine Francisco, Eileen Hoehle. Diane Hoggay and Barbara Lee. The 4 brownies receiving 1-year pins were Linda Berggren, Jeanne Holzem, Linda Milner and Dana Martinson.

Mrs. James Lee provided the refreshments. (A

Twenties Farce Arlington High Stage Bill Dec. 15

George Kelly's realistic comedy of the twenties, "The Show-off," will be the first presentation in the new high Little Theatre, December 15 at 8 p.m.

Kelly, who is an uncle of The Grace Kelly, eliminates slapstick and creates a humor from the characterizations.

"The Show-off" ran several times on Broadway, played at the Hinsdale Theatre with Joe E. Brown in the leading role, and was made into a movie starring Red Skelton. The play is not done more often because of its small cast.

WHETHER you like it funny or sad The Show-off is sure to suit your tastes," says Jan Davenport, who portrays the Show-off's mother-in-law.

"Ya." agrees Aubrey Piper, the Show-off, played by John Liebenow. "Especially that quote of William Jennings Bryan, "Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

And so it goes in "The Show-off." Through the adventures and misdemeanors of Audrey Piper — the flashy dresser, the dimwit, the jerk, the loudmouth, and the one who can with equal ease invent success or account for failure.

"THAT NOT true." Aubrey's true love, Amy, played by Joy Vitoux, disagrees "He's sweet and understanding and—well to me he is."

"Other characters who also formulate opinions about the Show-off are. Mr. Fischer, Randy Bolsinger; Clara, Penny Pearne; Frank, John Anderson; Joe, Barry Walsh; Mr. Gill, George Sawyer; and Mr. Rogers, John Peterson.

ALSO WORKING hard towards the production deadline are prop girls, Crayl Ternovits and Patt McGill, Prompter Ellen Wolf, and understudy Sue Westerlund

Residents' Protests Halt Dunton Avenue Rezoning

A verbal barricade thrown up by residents of Arlington Heights near north side has apparently halted the expansion of commercial zoning north along Dunton ave.

The village zoning board of appeals unanimously ruled Monday night to reject a zoning variation to permit a parking lot on the northeast corner of Dunton and St. James.

The lot was to have provided parking for 56 autos of employees of the local office of the Illinois Bell Telephone co. exchange at Vail and Eastman.

In its ruling the board declared there is no "practical difficulty nor hardship" preventing the lot owner from using the property as a single family residence.

Attorney for the objectors, Lyle L. Richmond, admitted that the utility suffered a "hardship" in its lack of employee parking space but said the firm had brought the hardship on by erecting an addition at the rear of its building, thus losing a parking lot.

A HOUSE occupied by William F. Meyer Jr., village treasurer, was to have been razed to make way for the parking facility.

BLAIR WHITE, representing the utility, asked for a variation on grounds that the lot would serve the public welfare by removing parked autos from the street. In a session last week the firm testified that the lot would be fenced and landscaped.

Thirteen witnesses charged that granting of a variation would be detrimental to property values in the neighborhood and be hazardous to children. However under cross-examination several admitted they had not objected to construction of a parking lot at nearby North school. Objectors reside in the 400, 500 and 600 blocks of N Evergreen, Dunton and Vail.

The village board Tuesday neither concurred in nor overrode the zoning board decision. Trustees said the rejection had been on a "technicality"—that a hardship had not been proven.

Urging the telephone company representative to resubmit his petition, next time for rezoning rather than a variation, trustees took action to speed the matter to a second public hearing. For a rezoning a plea is made on the grounds of "highest and best use." (AF

This Week with PTA

As a rule, this column is used only to report news and doings of Arlington Heights PTA. This week we make an exception and indulge in a little editorial comment.

Last Saturday was the day of the annual boot and skate exchange at the Junior high school. By the 10 a.m. opening hour, a line of prospective customers stretched from the gym door all the way to the curb and then half-way down the block. The snatches of conversation I caught were interesting indeed — for they served to highlight some of the common misconceptions held about this event by many people.

THERE WERE, of course, a number of people who disliked waiting in line — and said so. Of course, they didn't know that the day before the gymnasium had to be clear for school use and that from the time the building opened until 10 a.m. 30 women, under the leadership of Mrs. Frederick Gorder, were working to sort, display and account for the more than 500 items taken on consignment for sale.

While we're talking about people involved, another 20 ladies worked in advance preparation; assembling, tagging and collecting the material at each school for the sale. Well, all of this is just to explain why the sale could not begin early in the morning. Ten o'clock was early enough for all the preparation that had to be done.

Inside, in the press of parents, kids, boots and skates, there were a number of comments about the need for standing in a number of lines. While Mrs. Gorder and her assistants foresaw the temporary inconvenience of asking patrons to pay for their purchases in particular checkout lines, still, it seemed better than to run only one line, which would have meant even greater delay.

THESE FEW LINES, built around critical comments overheard at the sale, are not intended to imply that the sale was not successful. The importance of the event can perhaps best be appreciated in the remarks of one father, reminiscing on childhood days when skates were always purchased a full 2 sizes too large to insure 2 or 3 seasons of use. The memory was still clear in his mind of learning to skate in misfitted skates. Our children need not be so handicapped for through the exchange, skates can be purchased economically for one year's use.

The boot and skate exchange sale, a PTA service to all of Arlington Heights, is a real "lifesaver' to economy-minded parents and skating-minded children.

MORE THAN 500 items were brought in for sale by the PTA for the owners. Proceeds of sales, less a 20 per cent commission, go to owners of the items sold. While the event produces some income for the PTA its importance is measured more in terms of the number of those it serves, both buyers and sellers, who find in this event an economical way to keep growing childrn properly shod for wintertime outdoor activity.

Mrs. Gorder and her assistants have earned a sincere vote of thanks for their efforts in behalf of all of us. The committee also extends thanks to the school principals and custodians for all the help they received.

To complete the job and close the books on this year's sale, Mrs. Gorder asks the people who did not pick up the money or unsold items Saturday to call her Thursday or Friday at CL 3-4318. Money not picked up by December 15 will go into the PTA treasury and unclaimed items will go to charity.

Junior High November Meeting Report

November 27 was a rewarding evening with food for thought as well as entertainment. Mr. Strong of the new counseling service for the northwest area spoke, outlining its aims for family guidance and how it can be accomplished. The style show by the home economics girls, under the direction of Miss Ruth Offringa and Mrs. Betty Nuss was especially interesting with the girls showing to good advantage their handwork for the 13 weeks' effort.

MISS RITA CAMPBELL, director of the department of nutrition, National Live Stock and Meat board, proved an interesting and entertaining speaker with a message for all parents concerned about their adolescents' food habits and helpful tips on their own diets.

Her talk on "Adolescents Travel on their Stomachs" brought out the fact that children have a growth and age differentiation, that WE are what WE eat, that good looks are gained at the table and not at the cosmetic counter, that the young athlete's training table is in the home, that snacks can be wholesome proteins to build strong bodies rather than too many sweets, and that the gulp and dash breakfast is the worst offense to good eating habits in the American home today.

One hundred researches conducted revealed that the teen age girl is the poorest fed. Girls grow the fastest at 12 years, boys at 14. Girls reach their maximum about 16, boys into the 20s.

Mothers of the sixth grades, sections 4 and 5, were hostesses during the refreshment and social hour following the meeting.

Interpretative Reader To Speak To Heights WSCS

Mrs. James A. Smith, interpretive reader, has chosen an excerpt from a Lloyd Douglas story entitled "Precious Jeopardy" to present before the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodis church, Arlington Heights, next Tuesday afternoon at the 12:45 p.m. luncheon meeting.

Mrs. Smith, a speech graduate from Chicago and Northwestern universities, has been a teacher in that field and has participated in dramatic productions wherever she has lived. Now a resident of Arlington Heights, she is a member of the local Village Theatre and has participated in several plays here and directed last year's children's play.

The music portion of the program will be presented by 2 select high school choral groups, the "Choraliers" directed by Robert Wolff and the "Harmonettes" directed by Miss June Leick.

Mrs. E. E. Piefer and Mrs. Robert Higgins will lead the devotional meditation.

In the spirit of Christmas, gifts will be brought to the meeting for Newberry center, a settlement house in the Halsted st. area, Chicago, which is aided by the women's organizations of the Methodist churches in the Rock River conference.

Luncheon arrangements are being made by Lynay circle members and their chairman, Mrs. Earle Strehlow.

Mrs. Clifford Crane is president of the organization and Mrs. John Dickie Jr. is program chairman. (A Mph K

The Mailman's Corner

Our Energies Need A Morality

BY LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

What to do with too much is a problem which, as a mail man, never bothered me very much. But it seems that the problem does exist for the nation as a whole; and no doubt it exists with the people who boast a string of Cadillacs for their private use.

The United States is in the non — too-enviable position of a nation that has too much, and can't give it away for fear of upsetting the economies of other nations which have too little. Great wealth in a nation provides grave responsibilities.

THE SAME thing holds true of wealthy people. But in America, men of great wealth are increasingly turning their brains and their resources to the welfare of the common man.

Art institutes, great libraries, hospitals, churches, research foundations, colleges, all receive much in grants from the fortunes of great men.

The list of institutions and their types too long to include here, would no doubt fill a good size book. I really believe that, while wealthy men do live lavishly and entertain lavishly, the nation is better off because of them.

GREAT corporations are giving better and better breaks to their employees in safety, wages and working conditions.

They, too, now realize that a corporation is no longer a great business or industrial enterprise alone, but has with the gift of greatness a grave responsibility to the nation.

They have not learned easily, but they are learning fast, and much credit is due to organized labor. Business and industry have learned that greater production can be gained only by a cooperative action of both labor and capital.

BUT WHAT I started out to say is that the responsibility of a corporation or a wealthy man also extends to improving national morals as well.

This is a field in which neither labor nor management has taken enough interest.

A publicity campaign of churches, business and labor in the field of christian training for everyone can go farther to make America stronger and better than all these other efforts put together. (B10

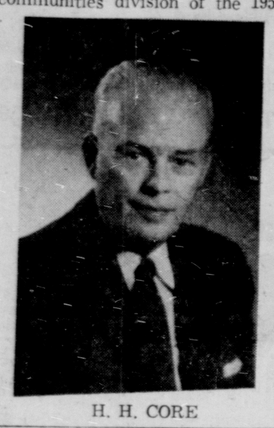
Phone Executive Named Red Cross Appeal Chief

H. H. Core, division commercial manager of Illinois Bell Telephone company, has been appointed chairman of the county communities division of the 1957 fund campaign of the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross, J. Porter Langfitt, general campaign chairman, reported to George Sheppard, 210 E. Marion st., Red Cross public information representative for Prospect Heights.



H. H. CORE

CORE WILL coordinate the work of some 20,000 volunteer fund people in about 120 suburban communities during the annual campaign in March.

The campaign will be conducted throughout Cook and DuPage counties, the territory of the Chicago chapter, said Sheppard.

Core is a veteran of 34 years with Illinois Bell and a graduate of the University of Chicago. Besides serving the Red Cross for several years as a volunteer, h has also been active in the Decatur and Springfield, Ill., Community Chests.

Hospital Auxiliary Draws 1900 Tonight

Because the new Northwest Community hospital holds membership in the American Hospital association and the Illinois Hospital association, its auxilary will have the opportunity of affiliating with both these organizations tonight when more than 1,900 women vote on this and other business at their first full membership meeting embracing the 6 townships to be served by the proposed hospital.

The meeting will take place at 8 p.m. in the cafeteria of the Arlington Heights high school.

By joining the 2 associations, the newly organized women's auxiliary will benefit from the exchange of ideas it will receive through association conventions, as well as valuable information published in booklets and brochures by these groups. The use of both associations' medical libraries will also become available to the local hospital and its auxiliary upon membership, it was pointed out.

ALSO AMONG the business matters to be brought before the full membership will be the selection of a nominating committee. Members of this group, to be named from the floor, will report with a slate of officers at the January meeting. The nominating committee will include 2 members of the executive board, plus 1 woman from the general membership representing each township.

Ross Garrett, consultant to the Northwest Community hospital's board of trustees, will speak to the group on "The Role an Auxiliary Can Play in a Community Hospital." (B7

400 Attend Open House At Elk Grove School

More than 400 residents of Elk Grove school district 59, corner of Higgins and Touhy, attended the open house at Elk Grove Consolidated school Thursday evening, Nov. 29.

Ernest Cavallo, superintendent, said that he is extremely pleased with the interest displayed by the parents in this district.

Boys and girls of the Junior high department ushered the crowd into the just-completed gymnasium at 7 p.m. for the opening festivities. Twenty-five band members from the 40-instrumental music section, under the direction of Milton V. Case, Elk Grove music director, gave a concert of 5 selections. One of the special numbers was a trumpet duet with band accompaniment, by Bill Johnson and John Mollenkamp.

The primary division, including all 218 pupils, presented an original play, authored and directed by Mrs. Josephine Klingler, a third grade teacher. Mrs. Klingler was assisted by Mrs. Barnadine Gebbia, Mrs. J. Boyland, Mrs. Katherine McFeely, first grade teachers; Mrs. Christine Anderson and Miss Charlotte Harre, second grade teachers; and Mrs. Margaret Runo, third grade teacher. Mr. Case and the band furnished the music during the performance.

Theme of the production was a town meeting and rally, expanding the social studies program in learning the ways of democracy.

Following the program, the parents visited the 20 classrooms where the children's work was on display. The 20 members of the teaching staff were available for general consultation. Visitors were especially interested in the newly-equipped gym with its spacious basketball courts, immense stage and shower rooms. The recently well-equipped domestic science room, the special speech correction room, the library, the bandroom, the science room and the 5 new classrooms were also visited.

Mrs. Shirley Grosche, domestic science director, assisted by the girls in her department, prepared a decorated table of refreshments in the cafeteria for pupils and guests. (AMC

Give Homemaking Quiz To Senior Girls At High

Give Homemakiing —Kabel .....

Girls of Arlington Heights and Mt. Prospect joined 300,000 others throughout the United States in observing "Homemaker of Tomorrow Day" Tuesday.

Simultaneously in more than 11,600 of the nation's high schools, graduating girls tested their homemaking knowledge and attitude in a 50-minute written examination. A total of $106,000 in scholarships is offered by General Mills in this third annual Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow.

Participating here were the senior girls of Arlington high school.

APPROXIMATELY 750,000 girls have been enrolled in this national homemaking program since it was launched by General Mills in 1955 to assist the schools in homemaking education. There has been a steady increase in participation from 187,000 girls in 8,040 schools the first year and 256,000 girls in 10,222 schools last year to the present enrollment of 300,000

In this state, 15,779 girls in 504 schools took the written examination which consists of multiple choice and objective questions testing the students' attitudes and knowledge in the major areas of homemaking.

The girl with the highest test score in each school will be named Homemaker of Tomorrow for her school and will receive an award pin designed by Trifari of New York. Her test will be entered in competition for $1,500 and $500 scholarships which will be awarded each state Homemaker of Tomorrow and the runner-up respectively. The school of each state winner will receive a complete set of the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

THE 48 STATE winners and the representative from the District of Columbia will receive an expense-paid educational tour to Washington, D.C., colonial Williamsburg, Va., and New York, where on May 2 at a Waldorf-Astoria hotel banquet one of them will be announced as the 1957 All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow. Her scholarship will be increased to $5,000. This year for the first time girls who rank second, third and fourth in the national finals will receive $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 scholarships respectively.

The test, prepared and judged by Science Research Associates of Chicago and administered by the schools, will be the basis for awards until the national selections when personal observation and personal interviews will be included.

Each girl who took the test will receive a new aid to self analysis called "Betty Crocker's Homemaker Profiler and Guide to Homemaking." (ACM

School Board Nominations Deadline Set

Community organizations who wish to send delegates to meetings of the nominating committee for members of the board of education of the public elementary school should name 2 representatives before the first meeting January 14.

Any organization is eligible to participate, according to the by-laws, " . . . that is non-political, non-religious, civic and/or educational in interest, that has been in operation during the 2 previous years, and that has officers properly elected in conformance with its by-laws."

EACH SUCH organization may choose two delegates and the names of such delegates should be sent to the chairman promptly so they can be notified of the meetings of the committee. Names should be mailed to Harold W. Klingner, 321 W. Euclid, Arlington Heights.

Delegates of organizations which have not previously been represented on the committee may be seated by a two-thirds vote of the other delegates. Since delegates normally serve two years and since one of the 2 delegates is to be replaced annually, new organizations should, at the beginning, designate one of the delegates for a one-year term.

PURPOSE of the organization is to secure the best possible candidates for the board, selected by broad community participation in the study of the qualifications of possible candidates.

Our Saviour Church To Hold Stewardship Meetings

A different approach to the 1957 financial program will be taken by Our Saviour United Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, beginning the week of December 9 than that which has been in use in former years. Instead of the usual every-member visitation, small groups of members, meeting according to zones, are planned, at which the members can signify their pledges for the coming year.

Two zones will meet each evening according to the following schedule: "Neighbors," and "Gleaners," Sunday, Dec. 9, at Dryden school; "Sou'Easters" and "Lamp-Lighters," Monday, Dec. 10 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Anderson, 701 S. Walnut ave.; "Shepherds" and "Pilgrims," Tuesday, Dec. 11, at Dryden school; and "Crusaders" and "Builders," Wednesday, Dec. 12, at Dryden school. All meetings will start at 8 p.m.

A PRESENTATION of the budget needs of the church for the coming year will be made by a panel of finance committee members each evening. Persons unable to attend the evening designated for their zone should plan to attend one of the other evenings.

Each of the zone representatives to the stewardship committee is tryin gto make his zone 100 per cent in attendance. These representatives and their zones are: Joe Reinhardt, "Shepherds"; Ken Stevens, "Crusaders"; Vern Heim, "Pilgrims"; Arnold Selan, "Lamp-lighters;" Frank Miller, "Gleaners"; Burton Elvig "Neighbors"; Bob Wallace, "Builders"; and Bob McReynolds, "Sou'Easters." Coffee will be served at the close of each meeting.

NEW OFFICERS have been elected for the 1957 year in 2 Our Saviour organizations. Robert McReynolds was elected president of the brotherhood at the November meeting, and serving with him will be Kenneth Machecek, vice president; Frank Miller, secretary; and Dwight West, treasurer.

Newest organization to be formed at Our Saviour church is the Couples club, which met in the field house last Saturday evening for election of officers and Christmas party. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Almquist will direct the activities of the club as co-chairmen, and Dwight West and Mrs. Dwight West will serve as treasurer and secretary, respectively. The club will meet the third Saturday evening of each month.

SUNDAY SCHOOL Christmas program will be held at the junior high school auditorium Sunday, Dec. 23, at 4 o'clock. The traditional candlelight service will be held at 7 p.m. Christmas eve, and a festival service will be held at 10 a.m. Christmas day.

New members will be received into the congregation Sunday, Dec. 16. Any families who wish to transfer their memberships from Lutheran churches in other communities are asked to call the Rev. John P. Petersen, pastor, CL 5-1012. (A

Two Men Killed In Crash With Trailer Truck

Two young men, well known in Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights, were killed early Saturday when their auto plowed into the rear of a semi-trailer truck near Pontiac, Ill.

Lawrence Claus, 22, 105 N. Lancaster, Mount Prospect, who was driving, and Jerry L. Dallstream, 20, of Gages Lake, Lake county, were en route to Bloomington to spend the weekend with friends.

According to the insurance report, the truck, loaded with steel, had turned onto route 66 from route 23. The accident occurred about 300 feet beyond the intersection, at 6 a.m. Driver of the truck was uninjured.

Services were held Monday in the chapel at Northwest hwy. and Vail ave., Arlington Heights for Jerry Dallstream. He graduated from Arlington high school, where he had participated in football, basketball and track, in 1953.

HE WAS the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Dalistream, and until 18 months ago the family resided in Arlington Heights. Besides his parents, Jerry leaves 2 brothers, Robert E. and Charles D.

The Claus family has lived in Mount Prospect for 22 years. Lawrence graduated from Arlington high school and was employed at Western Electric. Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Claus, he leaves 3 brothers, Robert, Albert and Richard.

Services were held Wednesday afternoon at the funeral home at 1458 Belmont ave., Chicago.

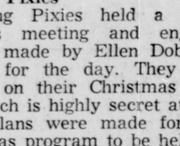
TWO PERSONS were killed and another injured in a 2-car crash at Touhy ave. and Mount Prospect rd. Saturday.

Dead were Alex L. Sauers, 64, of 1436 Cuyler ave., Chicago, driver of one car, and his passenger, Gertrude Buckham, 60, of the same address.

Driver of the other car, John C. Phelps, 65, of 1018 Forest ave., River Forest, was taken to Resurrection hospital with a broken shoulder.

State policeman James Blue quoted Phelps as saying he failed to see a stop sign while driving north on Mount Prospect rd. His auto hit the side of Sauers' car, headed west on Touhy.

With The Blue Birds



Blue Angels

Blue Angels Bluebirds held their meeting last week at the home of Mrs. Claude Chapin. They learned Christmas songs and planned a program for their mothers for Christmas. Robin Mills, formerly with the Bluebird Wings has been welcomed into the Blue Angels group.

Merry Bluebirds

At the meeting of the Merry Bluebirds November 21 they finished making the Pilgrim favors they started the previous week. They also welcomed 2 new members to the group, Nancy Hennings and Joanne Russell.

Barbara Traver was hostess and served cup cakes to the group.

Forest View

A short meeting was held by the Forest View Bluebirds after which they had a surprise birthday gift for their leader, Shirley Smital, and sang "Happy Birthday" to her along with the treat served by Faith Best. They shopped for school supplies for a Christmas project. Mrs. Gale Best, Mrs. Currier and Mrs. Smital accompanied the girls on the shopping trip. The meeting was closed by the friendship circle.

Helping Pixies

Helping Pixies held a short business meeting and enjoyed cookies made by Ellen Dobbins, hostess for the day. They also worked on their Christmas project which is highly secret at this time. Plans were made for the Christmas program to be held by the group and the presentation of the gifts to take place at that time.

Honey Bears

Honey Bear Bluebirds worked on their scrapbook and Christmas project which they will continue at their next meeting. Darlene Kasl led the girls in group singing and Shirley Quinn was hostess for the day.

Merry Bluebirds

The meeting of the Merry Bluebirds was called to order by its president, Nancy Roth, roll was called and dues collected. The girls discussed projects for Christmas presents and started working on doll beds. They also wrapped gifts for overseas children, assisted by one of the mothers, Mrs. Lawlor. Refreshments were served and the meeting closed with the friendship circle.

Minnehaha

Girls of the Minnehaha Bluebirds group made a tour of the Arlington Packing Co. accompanied by Mrs. Loughrin and Mrs. Knutsen, leader of the group. They saw many items of interest including the various machines, the sausage maker, hamburger press and slicers. Excitement was aroused upon entering the walk-in locker where they viewed a freshly-killed deer which had just been brought in to be processed. (A

World Series Movie For St. James Holy Name Society Dec. 10

A movie on the 1956 world series will be shown at the December 10 meeting of St. James Holy Name society. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the basement of the church with Ed Weirich, president, presiding over the business meeting.

Baseball enthusiasts interested in seeing the film are invited to attend as guests of the society. Refreshments will be served after the movie. (A

Arlington Heights Woman In Locp Play

Mary Best, wife of Richard Best of Arlington Heights, is in the cast of "A Month in the Country" which opened at the Studebaker theatre last week. Geraldine Page is starred as capricious Natasha in the Russian comedy. Mary Best takes the part of a governess who becomes a demure flirt.

Claudia Cassidy in her column "On the Aisle" calls it a fascinating play. (A

New Egypt Is Travel Topic

Guests will be welcomed at the December 11 film lecture of the Arlington high school Travel and Adventure series at 8 p.m. in the Boys gym of the school.

Members of the series and others in the community who would like to attend as guests will hear Willis Butlers' lecture which accompanies his film "The New Egypt."

Although the film was made a number of months prior to the present crisis situation, the picture it presents will add to an understanding of the factors which played a part in the growing tensions.

AS AN OFFICIAL guest of the Egyptian government, Butler was able to include material which otherwise would have been inaccessible. While capturing the charm and beauty of Egypt in breath-taking color, he goes beyond the travelogue to present an intimate and exciting account of life in one of the most strategic areas of our modern world.

Tour Hospital

Nine eighth grade girls from Elk Grove school interested in nursing, toured Evanston hospital and nurses' residence December 1. The girls, Patti Folkman, Susan Horbus, Susan Kappa, Joan Klamer, Sharon Knaack, Dierra Kreider, Nancy Hejduk, Kathy Sibilski and Theona Popp, were accompanied by their homeroom teacher, Mrs. Coston, and Mrs. Folkman and Mrs. Horbus.

Included in the program were lunch served in the nurses' cafeteria, talks in the auditorium by directors of the nursing staff and woman's auxiliary, 2 nursing films and a skit put on by freshmen students. The girls then toured the hospital and nurses' residence as well as classrooms used by the nurses during their 3 years of training.

Patti Folkman was November hostess to her Campfire group with Mrs. Welsh and Mrs. Christ, leaders, also present. A short meeting was held and each girl contributed a wrapped Christmas gift for the needy.

Gams and dancing provided entertainment and refreshments were served. Beryl Esmond will be December hostess.

Auxiliary Film Monday

"The Auxiliary Woman of Today" will be the subject of a film to be shown Monday evening, December 10, to Wheeling township members of the women's auxiliary of the Northwest Community hospital center, it was announced this week.

Mrs. Albert Peters, Arlington Heights, who heads the Wheeling township branch of the auxiliary, will preside at the 8 p.m. meeting in the cafeteria of the Arlington Heights high school.

Fifteen hundred women — all charter members of the service group's Wheeling township branch—have been invited by card to attend the initial meeting Monday night, said Mrs. Peters.

Major business will be the selection of a nominating committee to prepare a slate of township officer candidates to be presented at the January 3 meeting of the Wheeling township branch of the auxiliary.

News Of Rolling Meadows

Goodbye

A farewell party was given for Loretta Mayus, 2909 Dove st., November 27, as she will soon be leaving Rolling Meadows. The party was given by the group with whom she formerly played canasta and was held at the home of Jo Allan, 3005 Dove st. Those present were Joyce Mielke, Donna Piehl, Ruth Smith, Mary Massa, Doris Mackin and Audrey Price. The girls brought refreshments and presented Loretta with a parting gift.

Weekend Guests

Pamela and Heather Gusland, Chicago, were guests of Ann and Debbie Van Dormolen, 3101 Martin lane, last weekend while their parents were busy moving to Addison. Ted Van Dormolen spent the weekend helping the Guslands move into their new home. Ann and Debbie are the daughters of Ted and Muriel Van Dormolen.

Welcome Neighbor

An afternoon kaffee klatsch was held at the home of Ruby Jones, 3203 St. James st., for the purpose of introducing a new neighbor, Phyllis Watson, 3202 St. James st., to the gals on the block. Those attending were Sue Kolens, Alice Diamond, Anna Spitler, Billie Traub, Maureen O'Brien, Ruby Yurtis, Rosalee McLean, Florence Welsh and Connie Jansen. The Watsons moved into their new home the first part of November from Greenville, S. C. Jim and Phyllis have 3 children, Loree, 14, Marty, 11, and Skip, 6. Their neighbors and the community take this opportunity to wish them good luck in their new home.

A welcome goes out to Roland and Jane Meyer and their daughter, 21-month-old Ann Marie, who have recently come to Rolling Meadows from Chicago. They are living at 2809 Sigwalt. Mr. Meyer is the brother of Carol LeVitus of 2804 Sigwalt.

New Arrivals

It's another boy, to make it 3 of a kind, for Audrey and Egert Ericson, 3302 St. James st. David Alan, the name chosen for the new arrival, chose Norwegian American hospital, Chicago, as his point of arrival November 13. He checked in with a birth weight of 7 pounds 8 ounces. David's 2 older brothers, Gary, 3, and Scott, 15 months, were on hand to welcome him home from the hospital.

A third son, Danny, was born to Ann and Jim White, 3100 Thrush lane, Sunday, Dec. 2, in Loretto hospital, Chicago. He 'tipped the scales" at 10 pounds 6 ounces and will soon be a good match for his other 2 brothers, Michael, 3, and Tom, 1½. Ann's mother and father from Kankakee have been visiting with the Whites for the past few weeks and will stay with the boys until Ann is back home with Danny and able to take over the family reins.

Frances Ellen, who made it a "full house" at the Cantwell's, 2205 Heron ct., November 23, welcomed the world in Resurrection hospital, Chicago. She is the newborn daughter of Doris and Bill Cantwell and the new sister to Peter, Kevin, Mary and Carolyn. Frances Ellen weighed 9 pounds 12 ounces at birth.

Scott Duncan McEwan is the reason for all the excitement at the home of Donald and Blanche McEwan, 2306 St. James. Scott was born November 24 and checked in at Resurrection hospital weighing 7 pounds 13 ounces. The McEwans have 2 other children, Jean and Lee.

Jeannette and Doug Douglas, 2307 School, are now the parents of 4 children, David, 10, Deborah 8, Beverly and Kimberley Sue. Kimberley was born in the South Bend Osteopathic hospital, South Bend, Ind., November 29. She weighed 8 pounds ½ ounce at birth.

Their second child, a girl, was born to Dick and Dot Churchill, 2311 St. James, December 2. Susan was born in Sherman hospital, Elgin, and weighed 6 pounds 10 ounces. The Churchills' other "pride and joy" is Mark, 3½.

Birthdays

That all-important first birthday party was had by Kris Olson Friday, Nov. 30, on her third birthday. Kris, however, was 3 December 1. Several playmates who shared the excitement of her pretty gifts were Debbie Storcz, Nancy Blum, Earl Chylewski, Danny McCool, Mary Irene and Kathy Ann Groves, Stevie and Gail Mathys and last, but not least, her big brother, Sandy. The children enjoyed ice cream, birthday cake and soda, and especially, the little wrist watches they received as favors. Several of the mothers were also on hand for coffee and cake. Kris is the daughter of Clifford and Donna Olson, 2606 Flicker lane.

Four candles glowed atop the birthday cake for Diane Broeske, 2202 Campbell. Her party December 3, included Diane Knudsen, Diane Kotlarz, Beth Hill, Jan Grundwald and her brother, Dennis, 5. Diane is the daughter of Hazel and Herb Broeske.

Kenny Kotlarz, the son of Dorothy and Ed Kotlarz, 2200 Campbell, was 7 December 7. Richard and Diane, Kenny's brother and sister, joined the others that day for a large family dinner.

Surprise Baby Shower

Babs Padden, 3309 Campbell st., was the guilty party who made all the arrangements for the surprise baby shower on Mary Anne Suerth, 2602 Cardinal dr., which was held in her home November 28. Mary Anne was presented with a bunting and a sleeping garment, a "hibernater." The table was appropriately decorated with a ceramic baby carriage and the refreshments were enjoyed by Bee Skowran, Pat Cashin, Marie Mork, Betty Wilkerson, Mary Palace, Carol Todd, Emily Berglund and Marice Fortune, who all "chipped in" for the gifts.

Sympathy

Friends and neighbors of Joe Stapleton and his wife, Lorrie, 2312 Wing, want to express their sympathy upon the loss of Joe's father, John Thomas Stapleton, who died last week, leaving his wife, Bernadine, sister, Mrs. Alice Miles, and brother, John. The funeral mass was given in Our Lady of Mercy Catholic church, Chicago, December 2.

Baptisms

There is double cause for rejoicing at the home of Joyce and Bob Reeves, 2803 Sigwalt. Their boy, Scott Robert, 15 months, and daughter, Cindy Joy, 2½ months, were christened Sunday, Nov. 25, in St. Paul Evangelical church, Palatine, by Rev. Gumm. Sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Schwingel, an aunt and uncle. Following the ceremony a family buffet dinner was served to 25 guests.

Also baptized that day was Edward Anthony LeVitus, son of Danny and Carol LeVitus, 2804 Sigwalt. The godparents were William Bachman, an uncle, and Charlotte Meyer, an aunt. Invited to the buffet dinner were Mr. and Mrs. H. Meyer and Mr. and Mrs. H. Le Vitus.

It was "movie night" last Tuesday, Nov. 27, for the Rohlwing rd. girls' club, who held their meeting at the home of Mary Ann Irey, 2306 Rohlwing rd. Mary Ann's husband, Chuck, had taken several feet of film at the hard times party the girls gave last October and these pictures were shown, as well as other movies and slides brought by other members of the club. The gals are having their Christmas party December 18, at which time they will also decide on an appropriate name for the club. Those on hand for this meeting were Marian Venegas, Doris Wojtowicz, Norma McFeggan, Pat Fielding, Pat Eidnes, Evelyn Crandall, Alice Granger, Marge Piro, Dorothy Ashworth and Ann Pastirik.

The George St. Georgettes had their first social gathering November 27 at the home of Barbara Hahn, 2502 George st. The club includes 10 neighborhood ladies and will meet once a month at the different homes. The members were surprised to learn that it was their hostess's birthday on the night of their first meeting. Those attending the meeting were Bernadette Madden, Gertrude Sorensen, Joyce Morzek, Ruth Reddy, Florence Bryant and Dorothy Wirth. Also present were Jean Ehard, Elaine Miller and Joan Dudzienski. Refreshments were served. A Christmas party is now being planned.

More Birthdays

Daniel Dahlquist had 2 birthday parties to celebrate his second birthday—one for each year. December 1 his parents, Nancy and Donald Dahlquist, celebrated with a family party at their home at 2506 Sigwalt. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dahlquist and their 3 children, Mari Jo, Tommy and Terry, and Mr. and Mrs. Len Dahlquist and their children, Mike and Jimmy. Also present were friends of the family, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Weber of Chicago. The following day another party was held, which included Daniel's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Olson of Evanston, and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Francis and their 2 girls, Marcia and Carol of Bellwood. Daniel's 5-year-old sister, Diane, had a wonderful time at both celebrations.

December 1 was the date of Bobby Replinger's fourth birthday party. Bobby is the son of Ericka and Edward Replinger and lives at 2509 Wilke rd. His party included his sister, Susan, Donny Holthe, Wendy and Pauline Gogola, and Lynn and Larry Fredrich.

Chuckie Birt is still "up in the air" over his eighth birthday celebrated the weekend of December 2. Friday he treated his second-grade class to cookies and candy. Saturday his parents, Marion and Floyd Birt, 2307 Campbell, invited 7 of his friends to their home for a party. Chuckie's father took a group to a movie at the Glenview naval air station and afterwards took them on a grand tour of the base. When the boys returned to Chuckie's home they were served luncheon and cake. The birthday cake was decorated with a large airplane and each of the guests received an airplane.

Sunday, Dec. 2, a belated Thanksgiving dinner was served to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Birt and Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Birt and son, Jerry, who came in from Wausau, Wis. Also present was Mr. and Mrs. Robert Utecht and son, Robert Jr., from Des Plaines.

They Were There

Six tots and their moms spent last Thursday "doing the town," window shopping, seeing Lunchtime Little Theatre, with Uncle Buck, Uncle Dan and Aunt Dodie, and topping it off with lunch at Hardings' in the Colonial room. The moms were Louise Byrne, 2400 Fremont st., and Estelle Johnson. The kiddies were Mary Kay, Timmy and Ellen Byrne and Mark, Joe and Kristy Johnson. A happy, but weary group, returned to Rolling Meadows that evening.

Havana, Cuba, was the spot where Bob and Carol Binnie "were there." The Binnies just returned from a winter vacation in Miami Beach and Havana, Carol reports the temperature was in the middle 80's every day, and the weather was wonderful during the trip. Bob and Carol were so anxious to return to Rolling Meadows, however, that they drove more than 700 miles on their last day to get home. Bob Binnie, chairman of the local Republican organization, after working so hard before and during the election, felt the need for a vacation—a feeling shared by his equally hard-working wife, Carol. Junior Women Fete Husbands, Children

Children and husbands will be guests of honor of members of Rolling Meadows Junior Womans club next Monday at the annual club Christmas party. The affair will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. in Kimball Hill school gymnasium.

Santa Claus will visit the party with a gift for each child. Santa's visit was arranged through the cooperation of George Schmidt of Grouse lane.

MRS. JOSEPH Katkus is chairman of the party. Mrs. Katkus has reminded club members to have the gifts for Santa at her home, 2507 Campbell st., by Monday afternoon. Gifts are to be wrapped and clearly marked with the names of the children. Value of the gifts should not exceed 50 cents.

Refreshments will be served. Christmas songs will be a featured part of the program. (K

Youth Fellowship Plan A Snow Ball

Snow Balls are popular with young people of all types, but to members of the Youth Fellowship of the Community church of Rolling Meadows they are especially important right now.

The young people are planning a Snow Ball for Friday, Dec. 21, to be held in the Kimball Hill school auditorium.

TICKETS for the dance will go on sale Saturday. Music for the event will be provided by the Quarter Notes. Tickets are being sold by members of the Youth Fellowship for $2 per couple.

Proceeds raised through the dance will be added to a fund being raised by the church members for a trip to New York in April. (K

Scouts Flip 2000 Pancakes To More Than 300 Diners

Aunt Jemima reigned supreme Saturday night—with the help of Rolling Meadows boy scouts and explorers.

The boys staged their first pancake supper in the Community church Barn to raise funds for their troop treasuries. Nearly 300 diners attended the supper to assure the success of the venture.

Pancakes and sausages sizzled in the Barn kitchen from 4 to 8 p.m. More than 2,000 pancakes were prepared and 50 pounds of sausages were used.

"ALL YOU COULD EAT" was the boast of the scouts. First customer to take up the boast was Kenny Burmeister, 10 years, who was seated at the table promptly at 4 p. m. The youngest champion eater was little Bobby Bristol, 21 months, who tucked away 8 pancakes and 4 sausages.

The scouting organizations have extended apologies to their dinner customers who arrived during the height of the supper rush at 6 p. m. Slight delays were experienced by these diners, but the kitchen soon managed to catch up with the demand again.

"Heroes" of the occasion were Bert Trager and Larry Hall, cooks for the entire supper. Other scouting officials who "pitched in" were Howard Christenson, Orville Rumrey, John Jennings, Pete Keller, Earl Young and Henry Seestedt. Lady scouts adding to the work crews were Mrs. John Jennings, Mrs. Earl Young, Mrs. Peter Keller, Mrs. Howard Christensen and Mrs. Orville Rumrey.

WINNERS AMONG the scouts in a pancake supper ticket selling contest were Explorer Tom Cashin and Scout Wachs. Runners-up were Bill Klouthis, Roger Rumrey, Don Rajkowski and Dennis Dorwick.

Scouting officials have expressed appreciation to Borden Dairy Company, Hedlin's Dairy Company, Aunt Jemima Milling company for their donations. Help in ticket selling was given by Jewel Tea Company, Suburban Drugs and National Tea. Al Garms of Rolling Meadows supplied all of the sausage and butter for the event.

Trinity Lutheran To Call First Permanent Pastor

On the eve of celebrating the beginning of its third year of conducting worship services in Rolling Meadows, Trinity Lutheran church has reached another milestone in its history by taking definite steps to call its first permanent pastor.

At a special extended Voters' Assembly, Edward Westphal, Paul Werfelmann, Earl Schinkowsky and Gerald Roesler were appointed to serve as a "call committee" and were instructed to take the initial steps in the calling of a pastor from the field, that is, a pastor who is presently serving in a congregation.

THE USE of the term "call" in connection with the securing of a pastor has rich traditional significance in the Lutheran church.

A "call" is the request which a congregation extends to an ordained minister to come and serve them in their spiritual needs. This man may either accept or decline the "call."

The whole procedure of the extending and the accepting or refusing of a "call" usually follows a certain time-houored pattern.

AFTER THE CALL committee has been appointed, any member of the congregation may submit the name of the man whom he feels should be called. Having gathered all the suggestions, the call committee works under the guidance of a pastor from the locality known as the circuit visitor.

They proceed to gather information concerning the qualifications of the various men suggested. On this basis they attempt to narrow the list down to as few men as possible whom they feel are qualified.

After the Voters' Assembly, guided by the findings of the call committee, has selected one man, he is sent a call. During this time the congregation as a group and as individuals, offers prayers for the guidance of the Holy Spirit.

WHEN A MAN receives a call, he must first prayerfully and carefully decide whether or not he feels that God wants him to leave his present congregation. If he decides it is God's will, he asks his present congregation if they agree and if they will be willing to grant him a peaceful dismissal. This is necessary because a call is extended and accepted on a lifetime basis and can only be broken by mutual agreement.

If the man called declines, the whole procedure is repeated.

Between December 1954 and June 1955 the congregation was served jointly by the Rev. Luther Stephan of St. Peter's, Arlington Heights, and the Rev. Hilmar Rosenberg of Immanuel, Palatine, with the help of their vicars, William Bartels and Varnes Stringer.

In June, 1955, Mr. Fred Koehler, a vicar from Concordia Seminary, arrived to serve the congregation as student pastor for one year. He was replaced in June, 1956, by Mr. Arthur Erb who will serve the congregation as student pastor until the congregation succeeds in calling a permanent pastor. (K

Trinity Lutheran To Observe Anniversary

A special service will be held by Trinity Lutheran church of Rolling Meadows Sunday to observe the second anniversary of the congregation. The service will be held at 10:30 a.m. in Kimball Hill school.

A guest minister, Rev. John E. Mueller, will give the anniversary sermon. Rev. Mueller has been pastor of St. Paul Lutheran church of Mt. Prospect for the past 40 years. He also is the uncle of Henry Ehard, chairman of the Trinity Lutheran congregation.

ROLLING MEADOWS congregation was organized in December, 1954. The group has been meeting in temporary quarters in the Kimball Hill school since that time, but a new church building is now under construction.

Completion of the new church, located on Meadow dr. south of Kirchhoff rd., is scheduled for the first of the year. (K

BY WILLIAM GOLDEN

If you missed the column last week I am sorry. When nothing happens, it is very difficult to write!

This was the night of the regular meeting, and much business was transacted.

As announced this year's dance will be held on the last Saturday of February at the Carpenter's hall, Des Plaines.

IT WAS DECIDED that, in order to eliminate the chance of overcrowding, the number of tickets to be sold will be held to 700.

In order to give everyone in Rolling Meadows a chance to buy tickets, they will be sold in a public place instead of door to door. Everyone will receive a notice of the time and place of this sale.

Ken Gobeyn was named chairman of this year's Queen contest. A woman will be chosen by the Auxiliary to assist with the Queen and her court.

THIS YEAR the number of applicants for the contest will be limited to the first 15 girls who apply. Any girl who lives in Rolling Meadows and is attending any high school is eligible. The voting will be done by the people who buy tickets. One vote per ticket.

The question of the Babe Ruth League was brought up.

It was decided by unanimous vote that for this season there would be 2 separate leagues.

The franchise of the Little League from Williamsport, home of Little League, states that the name "Little League" cannot be used for any other function than strictly Little League.

Because of this rule a committee was formed to find out how we could organize one group for boy's baseball and still retain our franchise.

DICK FRIEHE and Bill Golden were chosen to represent Little League at a hearing before the school board in regards to a site for a Little League and Babe Ruth League field. I will report on this meeting in the column of December 20.

our appeal the zoning board for

The legal steps necessary for the retention of our use of the Cardinal drive field were begun.

To show the spirit of our neighbors, Roy Cranmer, who just bought some special dquipment has already promised to do the necessary preparations of the dirt on the new field, should we receive a favorable decision from the school board, so we can plant the grass seed and be ready to play next June.

It was a busy night and every one was glad to drink the coffee and eat the cake so generously supplied by the Auxiliary.

Organize New Junior High Group

Development of a junior high group of the Community church of Rolling Meadows was accomplished Sunday when the teams laid plans for their first activity.

The first project of the group will be a full-dress dinner to celebrate their organization.

Mr. and Mrs. James Watson of St. James st., have agreed to act as advisors to the group. Also present at the organizational meeting were Rev. S. Nelson Ringsmuth and Rev. Clyde Dodder of the church.

TEMPORARY officers of the teen group are Bob Carlson, Melody Grieseman, Sandra Borgardt and Dan Carlson. These officers will meet with the group advisors to set plans for future activities.

Tentative plans for the youngsters include a Christmas party, a Christmas caroling tour and attendance at the midnight Christmas service of the church. Plans for a 2-day retreat on a farm for December 29 and 30 were also discussed. (K

F.E.D. Plans 2nd Benefit Carnival

Rolling Meadows F.E.D. committee has set the dates for the second annual Rolling Meadows carnival next year.

Dates announced by the fire equipment drive organization this week are June 13, 14, 15 and 16. The carnival will be held in the city to raise funds for necessary fire equipment.

Victor Schrock, chairman of the F.E.D. committee, stated this week that the first F.E.D. Rolling Meadows carnival last June had raised almost $7,000 for the fire fund. He stressed the committee hoped to raise even more next year.

THE F.E.D. FUND is currently set at more than $10,000. In addition to the carnival, funds have been raised through contributions and 2 "Dancing Dollars" events.

The Fire Equipment Drive committee is composed of representatives of the city's civic groups —Lions, Jaycees, Junior Womans club, Home Owners' association and Volunteer Firemen. (K

Vote on Referendum

Virginia Terrace residents will vote on the referendum to increase the educational fund for the school district 24 at the Lutheran Home for the Aged December 8. The polls will be open from noon until 7 p.m. Anyone wishing transportation to and from the polls may phone Bob Hult, Cl5-0428; Paul Stassevitch, Cl 3-5677; or Bud Klint, Cl 5-0447. A baby sitter for the time needed to vote may be obtained by phoning Mary Klint, Cl 5-0447. Adoption of the referendum has been strongly urged by the board of education and many other groups interested in maintaining adequate educational standards for the Wilson school district.

At a meeting of th fund raising committee at the home of project chairman, Judy Zare, 1251 N. Illinois, it was decided that the refreshments to be sold by the Wilson Community Kindergarten association at the VTIA Christmas dance December 14 will consist of baked ham sandwiches and coffee. The dance itself is a non-profit social function of the Virginia Terrace Homeowners Improvement association and the tickets of admission available through any director of the association will cover the cost of giving the dance at the VFW hall and the hiring of the orchestra and will not benefit the fund raising campaign for kindergarten equipment. The VFW will operate a refreshment stand during the dance and the kindergarten association will sell the sandwiches and coffee at midnight.

St. James Boy Scout troop 66, of which Danny Murray, 1433 N. Wilke, is a member, recently made an excursion to visit the state penitentiary at Joliet. They were able to tour most of the prison facilities and witness, first hand, some of the phases of prison life and work.

Birthdays Celebrated

A birthday party for a year-old boy attended by 10 children might seem like a big undertaking to many mothers, but Bunny Reinhardt, 1414 N. Illinois, reports that the party for her son, Jamie, was a quiet success as most of the guests couldn't talk. The guests included Val Moser, Kathy Hnatt, Susie Vodick, Stephen Balow, Brian Leckie, Kathleen, Mauren, David and Tommy McCoy and Jamie's older brother, John.

Linda Hnatt celebrated her fifth birthday with a party given by her parents, Jerry and George Hnatt, 1405 N. Illinois. Those invited included Ricky Minogue, Gary, Scott and Christie Steffens, Susie and Penny Barse, Christie Dalton, Leslie Bang, Jeffery Fairfield, Mike and Chuckie Moser, Steve Von Ebers, Johnny Reinhardt, Gregory Pahr, Bruce Leckie, Linda Jean Donath and the guest of honor's younger sister, Kathleen Hnatt.

Gregory Pahr's seventh birthday was the occasion for 2 birthday celebrations. In the afternoon Greg entertained his contemporaries and in the evening his parents, Albert and Norma Pahr, were hosts to a family party of 20 adults. The children invited to the afternoon party included Ricky Minogue, Chuckie Moser, Bruce Leckie, Linda Hnatt, Scott Steffans, Susie Barse, Johnny Reinhardt and Gail, Ellen, Wayne and Babbette Pahr.

Another 7-year-old to celebrate a birthday was Scott Steffens. Penny, Susan and Dinky Barse, Marty Bloom, Linda Hnatt, Nancy and Cindy Cates, Susan and Nancy Childs and Scott's broher and sister, Gary and Christie Steffens, attended the party given by Elaine and Charles Steffens, 1408 N. Yale. Scott's father, Charles, a musician plays an accordion and has been spending his leisure time playing with a newly reorganized 3-piece combo, the Meltones, who have been playing a numbr of engagements in the Evanston area.

Gerry and Ken Williams entertained a group of their daughter Carol's friends at a birthday party Saturday. Those invited included Patty Van de Merkt, Janet Crowe, Patty and Kathy Klint, Donna O'Brien, Betty Frederickson, Roberta Altman, Karen Forsberg, Leslie Bewley, Judy and Kathy Ladney, Penny Freeman, Denise Seppala and Tina Kotke.

Saturday Kathleen Brown, daughter of Ray and Eileen Brown, will entertain at a party to celebrate her fourth birthday. Her guests will include Felicity, Ann and Thomas Frisbie, Timmy Trummer, Guy Frick, Leslie Yates, her brother, Jimmy, and sisters, Mary Ann and Barbara.

Ducks and Black Bear

Hunting has proven a success this fall for Gene Domingue, who recently returned from a duck hunting excursion with a flock of ducks and neighbors of Frank and Mona McKiernan did a "double take" as they drove by the McKiernan's carport and noticed a black bear strung up from the supporting beams. The McKiernan's house guest, Bob Langan, had just returned from the upper peninsula in Michigan and was looking forward to some bear steaks.

A recent out-of-town guest for the Thanksgiving weekend was Mrs. Edgar Bolantz of Huntington, Ind. who visited Marge and Bob Stein at 1414 W. Oakton. Mrs. Bolantz is Marge's mother.

Dean and Virginia Arnold and their sons, John and Jim, spent the Thanksgiving weekend in Garrett, Ind. visiting Virginia's mother, Mrs. Sarah Stoner.

Before the Dance

John and Mary Ann Geer, 1515 Clarendon, gave a cocktail party preceding the St. James Mothers club dance held at Chevy Chase country club Friday evening. Those invited included the Bert Glatzes, the Bob Hults, the Richard Trummers, the Ray Browns, the Richard Frisbies and the David Yates.

Another cocktail party to precede the dance was given by Frank and Mona McKiernan, 1429 N. Wilke. Their guests included Lee and Kathy Rodell, Pat and Dick Gorman, Frank and Doris Sullivan, Arnold and Doris Silver, Lennie and Dorothy Ukleja and Tom and Tess Rossell.

A 'potluck" cocktail party was held at the home of Carolyn and Bob Parkin, 1511 W. Oakton, by Bill and Dorothy Henneman, Charlie and Phyllis Marshall, Shel and Maxine Mells, Sandy and David Yates, Les and Barbara Poklun, Gene and Dorothy Domingue and Dick and Nancy Quinn.

Gene and Dorothy Domingue entertained at a midnight buffet supper following the dance. Guests included the Bert Glatzes, the Bob Klines, the Dick Quinns, the Les Pokluns, the Charles Marshalls, the Sheldon Mells, the William Hennemans and the David Yates. (A

Arlington Terrace News

Arlington Terrace association held a meeting Wednesday, November 28. Trustee John Hoover of the village board gave an educational talk on the roll of village government and answered many questions from the members on a variety of interesting subjects.

The fellow with a merry twinkle in his eye and laughter that makes his belly wobble like a bowl full of jello will be at the North school for all the Arlington Terrace kids, single or married! The specific date is December 16, 3-5 p.m. There will be movies, candy, ice cream, cookies, carols and more.

In Hospital

Friends in Arlington Terrace are sorry to hear that the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Schoeneck, 1006 N. Beverly, is in St. Joseph hospital. The baby, only 6 weeks old, was taken to the hospital last Thursday with bronchial pneumonia. It is hoped that the Schoenecks will soon have their baby back home again.

Welcome

A welcome is extended to Mr. and Mrs. William Hartwig, 1014 N. Hickory, who are new to Arlington Terrace. Mr. Hartwig, is employed at O'Hare field for American airlines. The Hartwigs are originally from Texas.

Presbyterians To Install Associate Minister Sunday

The Rev. George W. Kincheloe, who was recently called by The First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights to become associate minister, will be installed by the Presbytery of Chicago next Sunday afternoon, Dec. 9, with a service in the sanctuary at 4 p.m.

The Rev. Paul Louis Stumpf, minister of First Presbyterian church, will preside and Douglas Trout, minister of education of the church will read the scripture. The installation sermon will be preached by Dr. Wendell Q. Halverson, minister of the First Presbyterian Church of La Grange. The charge to the minister will be given by the Rev. Curtis Glick, assistant minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Gary, and the charge to the congregation will be given by Professor Vartan D. Melconian of McCormick Theological seminary, Chicago. The Chancel choir will sing. A reception will be held immediately following the installation service.

The Rev. and Mrs. Kincheloe are living at 730 S. Highland ave., Arlington Heights. (AK

Public Notice

Notice of Proposed Changes in Schedule

COMMONWEALTH EDISON COMPANY (Public Service Company Division) hereby gives notice to the public that a revision of Rate 3 and of Rider 25, as contained in Schedule E-3, has been filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission on November 27, 1956.

The proposed revision of Rate 3 offers to residential customers uncontrolled electric water heating service on a 24-hour-a-day basis as an alternative to the present limited-hour water heating service which will continue to be available.

It is also proposed that availability of Rider 25, relating to water heating service in DeKalb and the immediately adjacent area, be extended for one year, with minor modifications.

Further information with respect to these changes may be obtained directly from the Company, or by addressing the Secretary of the Illinois Commerce Commission in Springfield, Illinois.

A copy of the proposed changes may be inspected by any interested party in any business office of this Company.

Wedgewood Terrace

Mrs. Adam Kwiecinski gave a baby shower for Mrs. Art Haapoja Thursday evening. She was given a complete layette. Present from Wedgewood were the Mesdames Eugene Melvin, Arthur Cisewski, Leo Becker, Joe Heckenbach, Nick Molitor, Robert Schaffer, Robert Schulty, Tom Merrit, Clyde House, Jim Salisbury and Robert Marchetti. Invited, but unable to attend, were Mesdames Joe Warfsman, Henry Combs, Oscar Miller, Henry Schwin and John Hendrickson. Mrs. Eugene Melvin made an angle food cake and coffee and other refreshments were served.

A new member was added to the Louis Sylvestor household. A daughter was born in Elmhurst hospital Wednesday, Nov. 27, and has been named Patricia Louise. The Sylvestors have 2 sons, Rocky and Johnny.

Mrs. John Revus is in Cuneo hospital recovering from surgery. Friends and neighbors hope she will be home soon.

The John Hendrickson's new baby, Norman Nickolas, was christened Sunday in St. James church, Arlington Heights. Mrs. Hendrickson's parents, the Norman Knights, have been visiting the last 2 weeks from Silver Springs, Md.

Fourth Birthday

Stephen Melvin celebrated his fourth birthday with a party for the children of Wedgewood. Present were Louwanne Cisewski, Mike, Rickey and Janice Kwiecinski, John and Jeff Hartness, Jim Hendrickson, Eddie Becker and Sharon Becker, Carey Wemhaer, Fran and Christine Hahn, Jimmy Merrit, Greg Combs, Peter Salisbury and Albert Marchetti. Steven's cousins, Terry and Jill Harrison from Prospect Heights, were also present. (AM

Housing Referendum

The Maine township high school board of education last week set January 5 as the date for a teacher housing referendum. Proposal up for vote is authorization of a $450,000 bond issue to construct 32 2-bedroom apartments and 8 1-bedroom apartments for use by township teachers. School officials said rentals will pay off the debt, pay the interest and maintain the property.

Class Plans Reunion

The June 1943 graduation class of Steinmetz high school, Chicago, is planning a buffet-dance reunion for February 1 at Elmhurst Country club. The affair is being coordinated by the class president, Willis Burgess, who requests that all persons in the class who have not already been contacted, call the personnel chairman, A. E. Thake at CLearbrook 3-3643 to confirm their residence.

Special features of the occasion will be the distribution of special gifts to mothers with the largest number of children and men with the smallest waistlines.

The class has never had a reunion and Mr. Burgess comments that the greatest difficulty encountered so far has been the gathering of the current married names and addresses for the class of 500 graduates. Letters of explanation and invitations to the reunion will be received within the next week by all who have been located and all who phone this information to Mr. Thake.

Nun's Story Is Reviewer's Topic

"The Nun's Story" will be reviewed by Mrs. Purdie Nelson Meissner for the World of Books course of Arlington high school's adult evening school December 10 at 8 p.m.

The group will meet for the first time in the new Little Theater. Tickets are available at the door for a single review for those not enrolled for the entire course.

KATHRYN HULME'S non-fiction story in novel form describes a young woman's entrance into the cloistered life and her experiences from that time until the day, 17 years later, when she received a papal release from her vows.

With a characterization, pace and dramatic intensity of a good novel the story looks into the world most readers could enter in no other way. Sister Luke received her nursing degree in tropical medicine and a diploma in psychiatry. After her investiture, she worked in an insane asylum in the Congo until her health broke down after years of working 16 hours a day in the tropical heat at one of the world's most exacting professions and attempting at the same time to live the exemplary life of a nun.

RETURNING to Europe at the beginning of World War II, she found herself again in internal conflict over her inability to stay aloof while the Nazis invaded Holland.

The book pictures poignantly the tremendous battles of the soul Sister Luke fights behind her cloister walls before finally requesting her release from her vows. (ACM

St. James Holy Name Sets Day Of Recollection

REV. JOHN J. EGAN

Holy Name society of St. James Catholic church is sponsoring the second annual Day of Recollection at St. James church Sunday, Dec. 9.

Under the direction of John Lightner, retreat committee chairman, the Day of Recollection was instituted last year as part of the society's efforts to provide spiritual guidance for the men of the parish. The second Sunday of December in the season of advent was choen as the day to be spent in discussion, prayer, and meditation on the approaching Feast of the Nativity.

Conducting the program this year is the Rev. John J. Egan, whose work as Cana Director during the past 10 years in the Chicago diocese, has taken him into almost every parish in the area.

The day's activities will begin with mass and communion at 10 a.m. Robert Hetzel, food committee chairman, has engaged a caterer to serve a full-course breakfast after mass. After breakfast Fr. Egan will conduct a series of conferences emphasizing the spiritual significance of Christmas. The program will be concluded with benediction at 4 p.m.

Edward Weirich, president of the Holy Name society, announced that although the Day of Recollection is intended for the men of the parish, any adult male wishing to attend will be welcome. (AMP

Unique Gifts, Large Pledges Swell Hospital

Bear, Reindeer At Yule Tree Stand

An enormous bear, weighing more than 500 pounds, and a "red nosed" reindeer will be on display at the Carlsen and Schuman Christmas tree stand at Northwest hwy. and Dunton ave., Arlington Heights, starting December 8.

Schuman 'captured" the animals on a recent hunting trip in the North woods and will display them this week end only. Any boy or girl who would like to have his picture taken beside the ferocious looking bear or the 'distant cousin' of Rudolph, the red-nosed reindeer, should bring his camera along when he comes to view the animals. (ACM

Among the many unusual bequests coming to the Northwest Community Hospital center fund drive was one received early this week from a profssional man residing in Mt. Prospect.

He brought in an automobile to Nicholas M. Lattof, chairman of the fund drive, who is also in the automobile business, and said, "Sell it for whatever you can get and turn the proceeds over to the hospital fund treasurer."

Lattof found a buyer and turned the $300 sale price into another boost upward for the Northwest Community hospital fund.

SOME of the major gifts reported by the fund leadership this week include the following: John Henricks, Inc.

Henricks and the members of his organization signed up for a pledge of $12,500, with their donation assigned to purchase the first Pediatrics Room in the new hospital.

Mt. Prospect State Bank, $10,000; $5,000; Nick Funk, $2,500; Jim Service, service station, $2,000; Virgil Horath, $2,500; Max Rhodes Appliances, $10,000; Lattof Motor Sales, $10,000 Tinsley Bus Service, $5,000 and Earl K. Riley, $5,000. (E7

What Kind Of People Are All These Newcomers To Our Area?

By REV. WILLIAM McGILL

All of the available data tells us that the people of America are on the move.

The post office department says that 20 per cent of the families in this country change their postal address each year.

IN THE northwest part of Cook county, we have seen extremely rapid changes in the populations of all our towns.

We have seen houses sprouting, as it were, as rapidly as weeds in a garden. (The figure of speech is purely for numerically comparative purposes, and has no intimation of a value judgment.)

There have been occasions when this movement of people has been compared to earlier movements in this amazingly mobile country of ours.

The comparison might be instructive but it is hardly realistic. To say that one family in 5 moves each year means that more people move annually than were in the total population at the close of the Civil War.

WHY DO people change their residence, even their community and neighborhood, so frequently?

One suspects that part of the time they are looking for answers which have not been found where they presently live.

Subconsciously, every family seeks a new status in a new community, a new relationship to new neighbors, a new appreciation of themselves as neighbors.

There is probably some reason for such hope, but it it also realistic to remember that we are the same people we have been.

Carl Sandburg tells of the sodbuster in Kansas who stood at his gate-post and watched the wagons come by. There was a question from each wagon, 'What kind of people live here?"

And to each, the sodbuster replied, "What kind of people lived where you come from?"

ONE CAME from a town where people were bitter and gossiping, slanderous and unfriendly. One came from a town where people were friendly and charitable, helpful, enjoying their association with their neighbors.

And to each, the old sodbuster replied, "I reckon that's the kind of folks you'll find around here.'

For the most important fact in all of our mobility to new homes and new neighborhoods is that we take ourselves along. (B10

Revoke Licenses Of 312 Erring Illinois Motorists

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier has announced the revocation of 312 and the suspension of 74 drivers licenses, chauffeurs licenses and driving privileges based on local court convictions and police reports.

Reasons for the revocations were: Driving while intoxicated, 263; three or more traffic law violations within one year, 3; leaving the scene of an accident, 4; failure to appear for citation examination, 3; reckless homicide, 1; concealing a material fact on an application, 1; mental and physical disabilities, 37.

REASONS for the suspensions were: Driving while intoxicated, 20; three or more traffic law violations within one year, 35; failure to appear for citation examination, 6; making a false statement on an application, 2; concealing a material fact on an application, 3; failure to pass citation examination, 6; leaving the scene of an accident, 1; caused or contributed to an accident resulting in injury, 1.

Cook county residents accounted for 195 of the actions, downstate residents for 164 and residents of other states for 27. Mandatory provisions of the law applied in 292 of the cases and discretionary provisions in 94. There were 278 drivers licenses revoked or suspended, 24 chauffeurs licenses and 84 driving privileges. 30 Teachers At Audio Course Here

Thirty teachers from schools in Northwest area are meeting in the Arlington Heights high school from 7 to 9 p.m. every Wednesday for a class in the use of audio-visual aids.

The class is taught by Prof. Donald W. Smith, supervisor of the University of Illinois million-dollar audio-visual aids service, who comes to the class from the campus every Wednesday.

It is one of the courses being presented to 2,585 extramural students in 55 communities of the state through the division of university extension of the University of Illinois.

THE AUDIO-VISUAL service which Smith heads is another unit of the division of extension. The library has some 20,000 films, 3,800 filmstrips, and 1,700 tape recordings which it serves to the schools of the state. It is a completely self-supporting organization, and the largest of its kind in the world.

Prof. Smith was one of its early employees, back when it started in a former cloakroom of University high school, now heads the service. (B7

Notre Dame Mothers Club To Attend Christmas Tea

December meeting of the Mothers club of the Notre Dame high school for boys will be held December 10 at 1 p.m. in the school library, 7655 Dempster st.

Mrs. Raymond Bilodeau, social chairman, has planned a Christmas tea, and will be assisted by mothers of boys in freshman sections.

Putting Christ in Christmas will be the theme carried out in the table decorations by the social committee.

The sewing committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. F. X. Quinn of Park Ridge, will have a display of hand made articles for sale. Packages from all over the world will fill the parcel post booth, which is under the chairmanship of Mrs. Earl Becker of Park Ridge. An invitation is extended to all mothers of boys attending the high school to attend the meeting and get acquainted.

Marines Seeks Toys For Children

The Marine Corps Reserve's annual Toys for Tots campaign was opened this week across the nation with this year's campaign expected to completely surpass previous marks . . . all for the benefit of underprivileged children.

"Toys for Tots" was started in 1948 by 3 Marine Corps Reserve officers in Los Angeles who wanted to improve the shortcomings of their city's annual Christmas toy collection for underprivileged kids.

It is a community relations program of the Marine Corps Reserve designed to collect and distribute toys at Christmas to less fortunate children all over the country.

IN PAST YEARS the campaign has been given votes of confidence by large industries and the movie colony in an effort to provide a cheerier Christmas for more and more children.

Last year's drive netted over 5 million toys and they were then turned over to nearly one million children. (B10

Navajo Social Security Plight Provides A Lesson

BY JULIUS BERMAN
Northwest District Manager Social Security Administration

Among the little-known (and perhaps best-forgotten) stories of World War II is the one about how the Navajo Indians threw a tomahawk into the social security machinery and almost stripped its gears.

It began when the Army decided to build some sort of installation in a remote section of New Mexico.

SKILLED labor was imported by the contractors, but common labor was in short supply.

In desperation, the army approached the Bureau of Indian Affairs to determine if it would be possible to employ some of the braves from the nearby Navajo reservation.

Why our government encourages, or at least does not discourage, Indians to perpetuate a passe, primitive, unproductive way of life, I cannot understand.

As a government employee, I suppose I have no business questioning that policy, so I won't.

IT IS FACT, however, that the Indian who chooses to remain on a reservation is restricted in many ways.

He cannot leave the reservation without permission and he is not allowed earnings off the reservation except with prior approval and then in limited amounts.

To the great credit of the Red man, many have lifted themselves by their moccasin-straps and have foresworn the protected stagnation of the reservation to seek an unsheltered existence in our twentieth-century world.

But not the Navajos, I was told. They are different.

TO UNDERSTAND the Navajo, you must first understand that the tribe has a social philosophy that makes the Russian communists look like rank reactionaries. The Navajos literally share everything, including their identities.

To their way of thinking, an individual does not exist. Only the clan exists and the individual is separate only in the sense that each finger on your hand is separate.

Each clan, or part of a clan, lives together in one rude shelter called a hogan. Every possession, be it clothing, weapon, tool or whatnot, is placed on a common pile. An item is taken from the pile when needed by whoever needs it. When it has served its purpose it is returned to the pile.

And every man of the clan has exactly the same name.

To our later sorrow, the Bureau of Indian Affairs decided that those braves who wanted to could work for a specified, limited time.

Since the construction was being done by private contractors, social security reports had to be made and each worker was required to have a social security card.

THE WAY it worked out, residents of each hogan took turns working.

The first brave to present himself had no social security card, of course, so an application was filled out for him on the basis of such sketchy information as he could furnish. His Navajo name being unpronounceable, he was dubbed, for work purposes, Charlie Brown.

Then, after a day's work, or what passed for it, he returned to the hogan, where he tosed his traveling clothes — and his social security card — on the pile of common possessions.

NEXT DAY, another brave would take his turn. His name also was Charlie Brown. But he needed no new social security card—there already was one on the pile.

To the contractor's white foremen, one Indian looked just like every other Indian.

All they knew was that the man who reported for work had a card with a name and number on it, and apparently had worked on the project before.

To all the Navajo Charlie Browns, the red-white-and blue card with the strange writing on it was just another of the formalities the crazy white man looked for.

IT WASN'T until the job was almost finished that someone discovered that many Charlie Browns, and many Charlie Whites, and many Charlie Sourpantses had worked under the same social security numbers.

Problem! Catastrophe!

The experts had devised a system that would enable us to keep every man's wage record separate and accurate — we thought. And yet with one onslaught of massed ignorance the Navajos blew it to bits.

SOME OF the mess was straightened out after much digging by us with the help of Indian agents. Most of it was not — but we reasoned, rightly, that it would make no difference because most of the braves would never work again under social security.

All of the ignorance surrounding the care and use of the social security card is, unfortunately, not confined to the Navajo reservation in New Mexico.

On a smaller individual scale — but greater in the aggregate — it can and does happen here, too.

People leave their jobs without having shown their social security cards to their employers. People carelessly give wrong numbers to their employers. Others, mostly women, neglect to have their names changed on our records.

THE CHAOS and additional expense that results is deplorable.

But the real tragedy is in the future loss of benefits that can be and is experienced by the careless worker or his survivors.

Better Government Group Vows Fresh 'Vigilance'

A vastly expanded program of vigilance on behalf of the voters of Cook county was announced Wednesday by William W. Miller, president of the Better Government association.

The announcement was timed to coincide with the beginning of the association's new fiscal year December 1.

As an integral part of the association's expanded activity, Miller announced the addition to the Better Government staff of Charles F. Strubbe, Jr. as executive vice president.

Strubbe, an attorney, will be in charge of the administration of the Association's activities.

His work will complement that of Fred W. Blaisdell, longtime executive director of the association who will continue in that capacity as senior political consultant.

Strubbe previously has served as president of the Great Books foundation, a national adult education program; and as vice president of St. Xavier college on Chicago's south side.

RECENT exposures of corruption and inefficiency in high places have dramatized the necessity for an intensified effort by guardians of the public interest such as the Better Government association, said Miller.

"We are going to meet this need by ever more extensive investigations into the conduct of public offices in the city, county and state, by constant review of legislative questions, and by using all of the techniques of modern communication to report those findings to the voters whom we serve," he declared.

Miller added that the problem of evaluation of proposed legislation and of the performance of our lawmakers will be tremendously complicated in the forthcoming session of the legislature because of the recent redistricting in both houses.

"AS A RESULT," he pointed out, "there are 24 more representatives and 7 more senators than previously, and this added to the normal turn-over means that about 60 of our legislators are without experience in Springfield. We intend to report fully on the performance of these freshman legislators as well as their more experienced associates."

Miller indicated that "there are man pressing problems clamoring for our attention. Our executive director, Mr. Blaisdell, is serving as consultant to the election laws commission of the state of Illinois in its comprehensive review of our election laws and procedures. We are concerned, too, with the attempt to improve personnel practice in state offices — to make them conform to accepted business standards. And we are exploring ways of working with neighborhood associations to meet community needs at the grass-roots level. For, we believe that the solutions to our political economic and sociological problems are increasingly to be found not in Washington, nor Springfield, nor even city hall but in the neighborhood itself — through enlightened understanding and cooperation of every citizen to solve his own problems." December 15 Is Deadline For YMCA Ski Reservations

December 15 has been set as the deadline for reservations for the 4-day New Year's weekend trip to Camp Kroehler which is being sponsored by the Mr.-Miss club of the Northwest Suburban YMCA. Reservations should be made by that date through the YMCA office in Des Plaines, Va 4-4156.

Enthusiasm is mounting as the young adult club works out plans for the weekend with the cooperation of the Soo Line railroad. The Soo line office reports that reservations are coming in fast from persons all over Chicago.

The deluxe Camp Kroehler is approximately 400 miles north of Hayward, Wis. and 20 miles from the famous ski area, Mt. Tellemark. Transportation to the ski area will be provided daily for those who wish to spend a great part of their weekend skiing. Ski equipment can be rented at the area.

The train will pick up the vacationers in Des Plaines at 7:14 p.m. Friday, Dec. 28, and return Wednesday, Jan. 2, at 7:10 a.m. This arrangement provides for 4 full days of skiing, skating, tobogganing, fireside bridge and relaxing.

The Mr.-Miss club, a club for single adults between 21-35, urges anyone interested in the trip, regardless of their ages, to call the YMCA office for full details. The club would like to include those who have not become familiar with the club. (B7

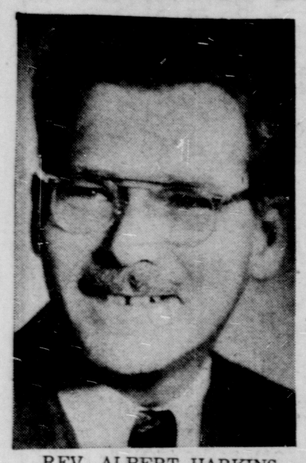
Rev. Harkins Called As 1st Minister Of Local Fellowship



REV. ALBERT HARKINS

The Countryside Universalist fellowship, temporarily meeting in Roselle, has called the Rev. Albert F. Harkins to serve as its first minister. The Fellowship was established in October of this year, with denominational aid, to serve the new northwest suburban area families.

The minister, in addition to delivering Sunday morning addresses, acts as a technical advisor of the parish which folows a group-centered program in worship, education and in community service. At present the fellowship meets at 10:45 a.m. Sundays in the elementary school at Park and Pine sts. in Roselle.

MR. HARKINS was recently elected president of the Midwest Universalist conference at the biennial regional convention in Muncie, Ind. Although the congregational principle applies to matters of parish affairs, the president of the Midwest conference has jurisdiction in denominational affairs over all the churches in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Kansas, and Iowa. He will serve the Countryside parish in addition to his conference duties.

Well known in the Elgin area for his many civic activities, Mr. Harkins was one of 2 persons who initiated exploratory meetings into the need for the establishment of a Mental Health association in Elgin and later was one of its founders.

HE TOOK an active part in the organization leading to the city manager form of government for Elgin. He was vice president of the Elgin ministerial association; chairman of the Community Relations department of the Elgin Council of Churches; vice-chairman of the mayor's commission on human rights, president of the Washington school PTA and the Abbott Junior high school PTA.

Mr. Harkins will deliver his first sermon as minister of the Countryside Universalist fellowship Sunday morning. His topic will be: "Fellowship in Freedom —Freedom in Fllowship."

The Countryside fellowship is an area center for liberal religion, serving the communities of Roselle, Barrington, Algonquin, Cary, Palatine, Glen Ellyn, Addison, Mt. Prospect, Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, Wood Dale and Itasca. (A 10

Army Reserve Organizes New Youth Group

A new organization has been formed in Des Plaines to meet spare-time recreational needs of high school age boys. Sponsored by a local unit of the army reserve, the group is the first chapter of what its founder hopes will become a nation-wide movement.

According to the founder, 2nd Lt. Raymond F. Trost of Niles, the organization will be known as the National Society of Crossed Rifles.

MOST OF the nearly 100 boys attending weekly meetings are students at Maine Township high school. The organization meets Wednesday evening in the former Masonic building at 620 Lee st., Des Plaines.

Trost said that boys in other northwest suburbs, particularly Mt. Prospect and Arlington Heights, will soon be urged to join. He expects to form other units for students throughout Chicago and suburbs.

MAIN emphasis of the program will be on developing sound athletic and social activities for teen age youths. There will also be some instruction in military fundamentals. For example, there will be opportunities to fire small caliber rifles on regulation ranges supervised by responsible individuals.

"With every young man having a military obligation ahead of him, this instruction will enable the boys to become familiar with some of the facts of military life," Trost noted.

Members elected officers last week and discussd formation of activities with their advisors of the 337th Infantry regiment. The regiment is attached to the 85th Infantry division. B7)

Wilson School Will Vote Saturdav On Tax Rate

An important election will be held at Wilson school Saturday between the hours of 12 noon and 7 o'clock.

For the convenience of voters, 2 voting precincts have been established. Precinct No. 1 is for district 24 voters residing in Arlington Heights and will be at the Lutheran Home and Service for Aged at 800 W. Oakton st.

Precinct No. 2, for voters outside of the corporate limits, will be at the Wilson school building.

The board of education in a circular mailed recently have laid all their cards upon the table, answering all possible questions regarding the need for the additional tax rate. The financial situation the board now faces is outlined with the projected enrollments from 1957 to 1962.

THE BALLOT is short. It authorizes the rate of $1.17 per $100 of assessed valuation. Present educational tax rate is now $.96.

The increase in the rate is not a surprise to voters because last spring when they approved $120,000 bond issue for an addition to the building, they were told that the $.96 approved by the voters at that time would not be sufficient to pay future increased cost of maintaining the enlarged school building and the salaries of additional teachers.

THE ADDITIONAL rate does not entail the issuance of any bonds, nor does it increase the building fund rate. The Wilson school has changed from the rural 2 school rooms of 1950 with 48 pupils in all 8 grades to a metropolitan suburban school, which will soon have 10 classrooms, an all purpose room and a growing library.

Today, with an enrollment of 254, there are 9 full time teachers and a full time principal.

THE EXPECTED increase is in the lower grades. An enrollment of 422 pupils is anticipated in 1962. The figures given cover only those children already born and already living in the school district, thus the enrollment figures cover a minimum growth.

There is every indication that the school population will grow beyond those figures. Additional homes are being built and there is every reason to expect that new homes are continuing to be built at the same or at an increased rate. The school district today is still 2/3 ot 3/4 farm land representing possible future developments.

Without the increased educational rate, the school board cannot pay for additional teachers. The increased rate will only provide additional funds of $9,000.

The increased rate per $1,000 valuation would only be $2.10 or $14.70 on a home with a total valuation of $7,000.

NEIGHBORING school districts, including Wheeling, Prospect Heights and Arlington Heights, now have a tax rate of $1.25.

The operating cost per child in average daily attendance in the Wilson school is $243.98. The cost in Wheeling is $303.; Prospect Heights, $295.00; Arlington Heights $314.00.

The school board has made it plain that if the Wilson school is to continue to operate and serve the increase in enrollment, the approval of the additional tax rate is a necessity.

The answer rests with the voters. (B7

Welfare Council Needs Assistance

The Welfare Council's Christmas Clearing House already has channeled 176 cash contributions and gifts in kind to community agencies, but Mrs. Marjorie K. Hopewell, Clearing House director, said this week that there are many Christmas needs throughout the Chicago area which are still unmet.

The Clearing House, which is an annual Council project, has a comprehensive file on the Christmas needs and desires of underprivileged families and individuals known to health and welfare organizations in metropolitan Chicago.

"CASH CONTRIBUTIONS are the most welcome," Mrs. Hopewell said, "because we can then channel the money to social agencies which distribute it to the people under their care who otherwise would have nothing for Christmas. However, donors who wish to make their own purchases can find out from us the items that are needed and where to send them."

Mrs. Hopewell noted the growing trend of dispensing with office and factory Christmas parties and contributing the money that would have been spent to the Clearing House. A number of companies are planning to adopt this practice this year, she said.

SHE URGED prospective donors to call the Clearing House at RAndolph 6-0363 to learn how they can make their contributions most meaningful. Last year, a total of $2,765 was channeled to agencies by the Clearing House, and 283 donors gave gifts in kind. In addition, an undetermined number gave cash and gifts directly to welfare organizations, after first consulting the Clearing House.

Through its files, the Clearing House not only pinpoints the major Christmas needs, but also prevents duplication in giving by keeping records on the people for whom gifts or Christmas plans already have been made.

Motorists Ignore School Bus Laws

Suburban motorists who violate the law requiring them to stop for school buses came for criticism this week from school and bus company officials.

All agreed that the situation in suburban Cook county is not as bad as it is in Chicago.

BUT COUNTY school superintendent Noble J. Puffer said: "We have received many complaints from parents in the suburbs, and I know from my own observation that the situation is bad there as well as in Chicago."

Puffer said he has sent state and sheriff's police reminders of the state law which requires automobiles to stop when they come to a school bus which is letting off or taking on children. The law applies whether the motorist meets the bus at the front or overtakes it from behind. The car must remain stopped until the bus starts again or the bus driver signals the car to proceed.

THE BUSES carry signs at front and rear which say "school bus" in letters 4 inches high. Bus company officials estimate there are 450 school buses in Cook county, 275 of them outside Chicago.

The situation is especially serious, it was pointed out, because the buses carry mostly kindergarten and grade school youngsters who can't always look out for themselves in traffic. (B7

"In the Heart of the Heights"

A WINNER! That's 14-year-old Jeremy Campbell of Arlington Heights, shown here with the TV producer of "Rising Generation" as they board a TWA plane for New York, where Jerry will appear on Ted Mack's talent scout show Sunday night.

Demand More O'Hare Flights

Chicago city council aviation committee this week launched a full-dress investigation of safety conditions at Midway airport and of the possibility of transferring more flights from Midway to O'Hare field, Park Ridge.

A representative of the airline pilot's association told the committee that, while pilots feel that Midway is still safe, they think it has so much traffic that planes are too frequently delayed. He said that recently he had to wait an hour and 20 minutes before he could land a DC-7 solely because the airport was saturated with traffic.

THE COMMITTEE chairman said that pilots think Midway, along with LaGuardia field in New York and National airport in Washington, D.C., the nation's 3 most dangerous airports because of overcrowding.

Major problem in transfer of flights to O'Hare is the distance from O'Hare to the Loop and poor transportation facilities.

Nevertheless, an airlines pilot this week told Paddock Publications that within 3 years airlines will have a number of flights from O'Hare — all jet liners. And the jets will all have to use O'Hare because Midway runways can't accomodate them. (B7

Teen Drinking, Hot Rodding Are Parley Topics

Teenage drinking, hot-rodding, and a Cook county curfew law were among topics discussed at a recent meeting of Sheriff Joseph D. Lohman's "Junior Advisory Council on Juvenile Delinquency."

Lohman called the meeting to get the teenage point of view on the teenage problem.

The council, which meets in the County building, is comprised of Cook county high school students.

It was organized by the sheriff, who said its purpose is "to provide an opportunity for high school students to give their views on the causes and possible cures of juvenile delinquency and to suggest possible action in this or related fields."

THE YOUTHS said, "Existing curfew laws should be examined with a view to promote uniformity throughout the county. Present curfews cause confusion since a student can attend a party in one section of the county and find he is breaking a curfew law, even though the law in his home community allows him to get home later."

The teenagers voted against hot-rodding on city streets but suggested an adult-supervised drag strip be made available. A committee formed to study this proposition will make suggestions to the sheriff.

The teens admitted that some of their fellow students take "an occasional drink" but, they said, "this constitutes only a very small percentage of teens."

IT WAS SUGGESTED the council make known to the sheriff's office those establishments serving liquor to minors so appropriate action can be taken.

Other topics discussed were traffic violations by juveniles, teenage hangouts, codes of conduct and the use of schools as recreation centers.

For traffic violators it was recommended the sheriff suggest to Family court that local magistrates and/or Sheriff's judges be empowered to try traffic cases on charges of delinquency or misdemeanors, and fine the juvenile or impound his license.

TEENAGE "HANGOUTS" were condemned. In their place the council suggested the creation of teenage centers having effective programming and parent supervision.

The teens voted down additional codes of conduct aimed at separate schools. "We already have so many," said one student, "that more would make things too confusing."

The council unanimously approved the proposition that schools be used during the summer months as recreation centers.

Water, Water Everywhere No Longer Holds True . . .

With three-fourths of the earth's surface covered with water, it seems a paradox to explain that "water, water everywhere," no longer holds true.

"Nor any drop to drink" would be a more likely paraphrase, for our nation is confronted with a serious water shortage reports National Live Stock Producer magazine.

WATER TABLES have shrunk from 25 to 50 feet within the past 10 years in many sections of the country. In the West, water is being pumped from depths as great as 600 feet.

It isn't true that we have less water today than we used to have. We just use more in our daily activities.

Only 2 decades ago, the average person used about 128 gallons of water a day. Now he uses an average of 145 gallons daily.

When you consider the industrial and farm uses of water, we need 1,200 gallons of water daily for each man, woman and child.

WE MUST set a goal of making better use of the perpetual supply of water falling from our skies. Only 27 per cent of the rain that falls in the 17 Western states is put to use. The rest runs unused toward the sea.

ONLY 8 PER CENT of the water available in the Eastern states is used. A tremendous total of 825 billion gallons a day runs off into the sea.

In the meantime, research is continuing on the desalting of water from oceans and converting brackish water to a usable form.

The magazine foresees the day when vast networks of water pipelines will crisscross the country in much the same fashion that petroleum lines do today.

They will be carrying water from sources of supply to areas where it simply does not exist or where it is needed in greater amounts. (DL

Say, you gals have certainly been taking advantage of this REGISTRATION idea. We told you last week about it, but just in case you didn't read about it we'll explain it again.

When you're in one of our stores and you see something that you would like for Christmas — and you'd like the "Man in your life" to get it for you — just register your name and address in our book, and we'll see that one of Santa's helpers gets in touch with Daddio. We carry such a tremendous selection of things that it is difficult for a man to know just what you would like. If you choose perfume, he would know the right brand and the right scent. This idea has seemed helpful to many other ladies and we are sure it would be most helpful to you.

Stop in at either one of our locations, browse through all the departments, and you'll find there is something that you would like. This will make it so much easier, and you won't have to hint about it; just tell us what you'd like by registering and we'll do the rest. Pay us a visit today.

News Of Prospect Meadows

Auxiliary Meeting

Prospect Meadows Home Owners Association Women's auxiliary meets tonight at 8 p.m. at the Mt. Prospect village hall for their combined November and December meeting. The business meeting will be followed by a 50 cent grab bag exchange, refreshments and social hour.

Scouting News

Evans Wells, who was in charge of the Arlington Boy Scout Fund drive for Prospect Meadows, extends thanks on behalf of the boy scouts of this area for the willing support by the Meadowites. Their generous donations will help assure the realizing of the goal set for the Arlington area. Additional thanks to Frank De Berge, Gail Webber, Bob Blim, Bob Wehrheim, Ed Moeller, George Hehnen, Ed Cody, Hank Robotkay, Bob Klein, Chuck Brazeau and Mr. Cambell, who also gave their time so that each house could be contacted.

Saturday morning 17 boys from dens 12, 13 and 14 took a trip through the Harlem park water works. They enjoyed watching how the water is filtered and processed. The boys were accompanied by Bob Blim, Rita Chaiser, Bill Cody, Shirley Seymore, Pearl and Ed Moeller and Ray Roth.

Directors Meeting

The officers and directors of the Prospect Meadows Home Owners association met last Tuesday at the home of director John McGivney. Present to discuss the plans of the association were president, John Berchmans; vice president, John Sage; secretary, Jack Agnew; treasurer, Glen Ehlke, and directors, Bert Ruther, Art Sepke and Bill Maisel.

Birthdays

Don Valentine celebrated his sixth birthday Tuesday. His guests enjoying the afternoon of games, prizes and refreshments were Chris Durec, Johnny McGivney, Mike Pelletier and Don's brothers, Dane and Dean.

Elsie Leonhardt was hostess at a birthday party for her niece, Susan Bennett, Saturday. Helping Susan celebrate her eighth birthday were 25 of her second grade classmates and Donna Anderson and Susan's cousin, Dedrie Hirsch of Arlington. The girls enjoyed an afternoon of games and refreshments.

Saturday evening Lee and Evans Wells entertained Marge and Bob Blim, Evelyn and Jim Cummins and Carol and Wayne Wilkens for cards and refreshments.

Attends Christmas Luncheon

Jean Tiedmond attended a Christmas luncheon December 5 at the Tally Ho restaurant for members of the suburban Saintpaulia African Violet society of Arlington Heights. Jean is a past president of the group from Ohio and was the guest of Alyce Moss, who is president of the Arlington Heights group.

Pat Wrath and Joyce Ruther enjoyed spending Saturday downtown shopping and dining out.

Vera Valentine attended the directors meeting of the Opera guild at the home of Mrs. Alfred Loll in Arlington Heights Wednesday night. The talent bank of the guild, which consists of many kinds of entertainment, is now available for any organization wanting to use it. Anyone interested in more information about this or anyone wanting to use the talent bank may call Mrs. Jack Wassmer at Flanders 8-1250.

Kay and Jim Wilson and Mrs. Stickrod spent Thanksgiving day at the home of Jim's sister, Mr. and Mrs. David Jacobson. Other guests for dinner and the day were Jim's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. James Cronin, Kent Jacobson and his fiancee, Connie.

Neighbors are happy to have Rosemary and Bill Vosburgh back in the Meadows. They moved into their new home on Larkdale last week.

Family Together Again

Gloria and Cal Cambell are glad to have their family together again. Daughter Diane returned home from her stay in St. Ann hospital and is back in school. Gloria's mother came home November 25, after being in West Suburban hospital.

Sunday Carol and Wayne Wilkens and their children and Gloria and Cal Cambell and their children enjoyed a trip to Mangels to see the Christmas display and the children visited Santa Claus. They all enjoyed supper at Cambells and then spent the evening at Wilkens.

Rosemary and Don Finch and daughter, Susan, enjoyed a visit Sunday from Mr. and Mrs. Wroble and their daughter. Mr. Wroble was a classmate of Don's.

Friday evening Keith Ballard, Ricky and Kenny Johnson enjoyed a hayrack party with their Boys club.

Erma and Glen Ehlke entertained Lill and Ed Kunz, Marie and Barny Stanke and Rita and Bob Chaiser Saturday night for cards and refreshments.

The Fatties club met at the home of Dolores Wadle last Wednesday morning. Present for coffee and visiting were Marie Stanke, Lill Kneller, Pat Wrath and Joyce Ruther.

Saturday night Kay and Andy Bischoff, Jinny and Jack Richardson, Bob and Arlette Klein and Mary Kay and Jack Crise enjoyed dining out and seeing "No Time for Sargeants."

A baby shower for Jean Seeber was held Monday night at the home of Fern Waldron. There to honor Jean and her new baby and to enjoy visiting and refreshments were Ruth Larson, Lorrie Brazeau, Lorriane Heinz, Jean Jeatran, Rosemary Vosburgh, Charlene Hampe and Mary Jane Schmidt.

Weekend Guests

Mary Jane and Peter Schmidt enjoyed having Peter's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Olsen of Rinehardt, Wis., who were in town to visit their son at Great Lakes, Mrs. Warney Ruhl and Mrs. James Gillpon from Berkley, Wis., for the weekend.

Weekend guests at the home of Ruby and Stan Polly were Ruby's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Bianchi of Tinley Park.

Essay Contest Winners To Be Named Next Week

Awards to be presented to winners of the literary essay contest held by the Northwest Community Hospital center, which came to a close November 30, will include 2 firsts, Royalite portable typewriters, 2 seconds, portable radios, and 2 thirds, pen and pencil sets.

Students from sixth grade and through high school in Palatine, Elk Grove, Schaumburg and Wheeling townships participated in the contest. Subject of the essays was "Why Do We Need A Hospital In The Northwest Area?"

THE ESSAYS were assigned to pupils at the discretion of the principals and teachers of the schools participating in the contest.

Judges appointed by the contest committee were William L. Ninabuck, Mrs. Thomas O. Grisen, Mrs. Walter C. Moriarty, Mrs. Herman L. Berthold Jr. and Mrs. Lawrence W. Kester, who were selected for both competence and impartiality. An extra precaution was taken by numbering the essays and blotting out the names of schools and students.

Because of the enthusiastic response and the superior quality of the essays submitted, judging is taking longer than anticipated. Final winners are being chosen from winning essays and the names and schools of winners will be announced soon. (AMP

Voluntary Foreclosure Proceedings 'Pay Off'

Public sale of unpaid special assessments, which Arlington Heights is again initiating, pays off.

A sale of 106 lots east of Scarsdale was completed last month.

The indebtedness involved assessments of a big sewer, installed nearly 30 years ago.

A new list of lots is expected to go on sale January 10.

THE TAX benefit to municipality and the schools is best shown by the $25,000 to $30,000 homes that Trude Land Development Co. has erected upon 58 lots cleared at a foreclosure sale 3 years ago.

Any property owner has the right to bid-in the lien outstanding against his property.

Sale of these special assessment liens also means the payment of unpaid general taxes which in turn benefit the taxing bodies as they profit by the collection of back taxes.

THE JUDGMENT liens sold November 15 total $11,440.41. The returns amounted to $6,946, or 69 per cent of the principal.

When lien sale program is completed, it is expected all of the old liens covering special assessments 10 or more years old will be cleaned up. (AF

Advise Filing Disability Claims Early

Totally disabled persons between 50 and 65 years of age are already taking advantage of the recent social security amendments by filing applications for disability payments, according to a statement issued by the northwest district social security office this week.

District Manager Julius Berman emphasized, however, that although applications are now being accepted, July of next year is the first month for which disability payments will be made to qualified disabled people.

The amount of the disability benefit will be the same as the amount of the old-age benefit payable at age 65. Disability benefits will not be paid in addition to old-age benefits.

TOTALLY AND permanently disabled persons of any age, who have not yet filed claim or made inquiry about their eligibility, should do so now, Berman advised. The northwest district social security office is located at 3255 Milwaukee ave. Telephone is Spring 7-3413.

Pamphlet number 2 is available without charge on request, to those desiring general information about the disability provisions of the social security act.

Here's What's New In '56 Yuletide Greeting Cards

Just like automobiles, Christmas card styles change, too, and this year's fashion developments include slimmer cards, distinctive envelopes decorated with gay stripes and holiday ornaments, and red as the dominating color.

Some of the new 1956 slims are much more than that. They're super-super slim, and one of them measures 14 inches in length by only 2 inches in width.

Although red always has been a popular Christmas card color Yuletide in and Yuletide out, it really dominates the rainbow this season.

THE BLUE and green schemes that have been climbing steadily in popularity have been subordinated somewhat this year as red takes over the lead, said Mrs. Jeannette Lee, design director of Hallmark cards.

Many of the new cards are on rich parchment with designs and lettering smartly worked in refined silver and gold. Also expected to be more popular this year are cards that have a simulated all-over frosty appearance.

Mrs. Lee said that a number of new techniques have been used to produce even more striking effects.

ONE OF THESE techniques is called "foto-fancy." Diminutive settings of angels, choir boys and the like have been sculptured in paper, photographed in full color and then reproduced to provide a three-dimnsional feeling.

If you're looking for Christmas cards of a religious nature, you'll find a greater variety from which to choose this year including color photographs of actual settings.

You'll also find some unusual lighthearted cards with the sports car appearing prominently in many greetings just as it does on today's highways.

One card shows a reindeer in Santa Claus garb driving a long, sleek convertible while a carefree girl pilots another sports car laden with gayly-wrapped Christmas packages. (BB

Area Artists Show Work At Allen's Store

Works by area artists are featured in a permanent art exhibition that opened this week at Allen's Paint and Wallpaper store, 11 W. Davis st., Arlington Heights.

Among those contributing local talent are Mrs. Sue Lawrence Shultz, of Rolling Meadows, and Mrs. Edward Fox and Charlotte Laurine, of Wheeling.

THE VARIED exhibit includes oil paintings, water colors, lithographs, etchings and pen and ink sketches. Subjects range from expressionistic design to still life.

Proprietors John and Martha Allen said the exhibit will continue to grow as more artists submit their works.

New York Life '57 Dividends To Hit $100 Million Mark

For the first time in its history, the New York Life Insurance company will pay total dividends of more than $100,000,000 to its policy owners in 1957, A. Charles Reali, general manager of Park Ridge office, announced this week.

The record amount includes dividends to individual life insurance, annuity, and accident and sickness insurance policy owners as well as group policy owners, he said. Of the total amount, $96,100,000 will be reserved in 1957 for dividends to individual life insurance and annuity policy owners as compared with $93,100,000 in 1956, Reali said. He said that the dividend increase is due to the growth of the company.

REALI added that dividends to individual life insurance and annuity policy owners will vary according to the amount of a particular policy, the plan and benefits, the age at which the policy was issued, and the time it has been kept in force.

The company in 1957 will continue to credit interest at 3 per cent per annum, or at the guaranteed rate if higher, under supplementary contracts and dividends left on deposit. (BB

Bensenville Man Chief Metallurgist For C&NW

Victor C. Barth of Bensenville has been appointed chief metallurgist and engineer of tests of the Chicago and North Western Railway System, Chicago, succeeding Robert E. Coughlan who retired after 40 years with the road. Barth has been assistant engineer of tests since 1953.

Both were pioneers in the field of "Preventive maintenance' for diesel engines through the analysis of lubricating oil. Last year North Western was the first railroad to mechanize the spectrographic analysis of crankcase oil; a process which determines engine wear and warns of engine breakdowns through oil analysis. Oil samples from the railway's diesels are now tested at frequent intervals in an electronic device which discovers the early symptoms of engine trouble and allows repairs before the trouble actually deveops. As a result of this close laboratory control, crankcase oil is seldom changed in North Western's diesels and many of the railway's locomotives have run a million miles without an oil change.

BARTH ATTENDED Elmhurst college and completed his training at the University of Wisconsin before joining the railway's testing department in 1928 as a chemist. Following graduate studies in metallurgy at Armour Institute he became chief chemist, a post he held for 12 years before being appointed assistant engineer of tests 3 years ago.

Barth is active in the Society of Automotive Engineers and is a member of the Diesel Engine and the Fuels and Lubrication committees of that group. He organized the National railway change lubrication information among the nation's railroads, and he served as its chairman for 2 years. He is a member of several research groups formed by the Association of American Railroads.

MR. AND MRS. Victor C. Barth live at 4 N-181 Church rd., Bensenville, where Barth organized the Churchville Community club for teenagers in the area many years ago. He has served as choir director at Emmanuel Evangelical and Reformed church Bensenville, for the past 27 years and is a former member of the board of directors of school district 3 at Bensenville.

A daughter, Carolyn, 20, is a pre-medical student at Elmhurst college in her junior year. (BB

Residential Rate Revision Sought For Heater Service

Commonwealth Edison Co. this week filed with the Illinois commerce commission a proposed revision of its residential rate schedule to establish a new attractive rate for uncontrolled electric water heating service.

Providing a charge of 1.5 cent per kilowatt-hour for water heating service on a 24-hour a day basis, the new rate would apply to residential customers of Commonwealth Edison and its Public Service company division.

ACCORDING to the utility, the rate revision would enable local homeowners to take advantage of more compact, quick recovery electric water heaters. These new electric water heaters replenish hot water after draw-offs at a faster rate to provide more efficient hot water service from a small sized tank.

Company studies have indicated that new 40-gallon electric water heaters with 2 4500 watt heating elements are capable of meeting the requirements of homeowners, including those with automatic dish and clothes washers.

New space-saving models are designed to fit in with other applicances in laundry rooms or kitchens. With their small size and no-vent feature, they are particularly adaptable to the space limitations of new homes.

Under the proposed rate revision, customers would be billed for water heating service on a "floating block" principle, which is based on average usage. The number of water heating kilowatt-hours would be established each month as 2/3 of a customer's total electrical usage in excess of 100 kilowatt-hours. This water heating block would be limited to 500 kilowatt-hours monthly.

FOR EXAMPLE, a water heating customer whose total monthly electrical usage is 400 kwh., would have a floating block of 200 kwh. (2/3 of the excess over 100). These 200 kwh. would be billed at the special water heating charge of 1.5 cents.

The utility's present controlled rate for water heating will be continued for customers who prefer it to the new uncontroled rate. Under this plan customers utilize water heaters with extra-large storage capacity and time-controlled heating units. Water is heated during the night for a charge of 1.05 cents per kilowatt-hour and stored up for use the following day.

All charges for water heating are subject to the fuel adjustment provisions which apply to all rates of the utility. (BB

Air Stewardess

Joan Ruth Groth, of 310 South Main st., Mt. Prospect, has joined American Airlines stewardess corps and is currently assigned to flight duty out of Buffalo (N.Y.) municipal airport. Miss Groth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Groth, graduated from Arlington high school and the University of Illinois, receiving a B.S. degree in elementary education at the latter school.

Before winning her wings, symbol of her new profession, she completed a five-week course at American's stewardess training center at Chicago Midway Airport during which she studied the principles of meteorology, flight operations, emergency and safety procedures, flight schedules, personal grooming, and other aviation subjects. She taught school, also worked as a receptionist, prior to entering stewardess training. (BB

Amateur Artists Eligible For Art Show At Urbana

Amateur Illinois artists living in the country or in towns of less than 10,000 population are eligible for the University of Illinois College of Agriculture Town and Country Art show.

The show is January 27-31 and is held in connection with Farm and Home Week, says D. A. Brown, University of Illinois agricultural librarian and chairman of the show.

THIS IS the second art exhibition sponsored by the University of Illinois college of agriculture. Entries must be recent original work and they can be in oil, water color, pencil, charcoal, pastels, ink or any other medium on paper, canvas or other flat surface. Or they may be ceramic pieces, metal enameling or wood carvings.

No kits, or numbered pictures, are eligible. The pieces must also be new to this competition; they can not have been entered in last year's show.

ANYONE may submit up to 3 entries, and the committee selects the final exhibits for the show.

For each piece of work submitted, a complete application form must be filled out. These forms may be obtained from the county farm or home adviser or the Town and Country Art Show, 226 Mumford Hall, University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois. (B10

Hines' Palatine Lumber Yard Among Area's Best

Hines Lumber company, by the purchase of additional land, increased trackage and installation of labor saving machinery, has made its Palatine yard one of the finest in the entire Chicago area.

The land purchased at the rear of its former holdings has added 16,000 square feet and 200 feet of additional railroad siding.

FROM THE time that carloads of lumber arrive, a minimum of labor is involved in the storage stocking and in loading on trucks for delivery to customers.

Special handling equipment allows the stacking of lumber at its designated spot in half the time utilized by the old method. Delivery is also speeded up by a motor fleet of 2 trucks and 6 trailers.

Hines Lumber company today operates 26 yards in the Chicago area. It purchased the Palatine yard in January, 1953, which is now recognized by the company as one of the most important of its retail yards.

'THE DEVELOPMENT of the Chicago area has exceeded our expectations."

Says manager Norman Wipperfurth: "The growth of the area we serve made our present expansion a necessity. Our first step was the construction of a modern office and display rooms. As our area grows, so will the Hines service to the people of Palatine and vicinity." (BB

Cleaning, Care Extends Service Of Gas Appliance

Take it from the men who should know, your appliance servicemen, periodical cleaning and care will pay dividends in better, longer and more efficient service of appliances in the home.

This sums up the advice offered by several Northern Illinois Gas company servicemen in a recent article appearing in the FLAME, the utility's employe publication.

"MANUFACTURERS of gas appliances try their best to produce safe, efficient, convenient, durable appliances," the FLAME stated, "but like all man-made equipment, gas appliances need a little home care, too, if they are to continue to operate efficiently and satisfactorily."

Northern Illinois Gas company servicemen agreed that most appliance service calls are the result of unintentional neglect which can be remedied by periodic cleaning to assure the most efficient service.

ACCUMULATION of deposits from the water inside the water heater tank, for example, can cause corrosion which leads to the inefficient operation of the unit. The gas company experts advise draining about a gallon of water from the bottom of the tank periodically to remove deposits, thus prolonging the life and assuring more efficient operation of the water heater.

Periodic cleaning of gas ranges, too, is a simple routine housewives should adopt, the experts say, to keep the appliance at the peak efficiency built into it by the manufacturers.

GAS DRYERS operate correctly and more efficiently, the gas company men said, if the lint trap is cleaned after each use of the dryer—a simple operation that takes only a few seconds.

An incinerator, the gas company experts point out, requires only infrequent emptying of the ash pan, and for this reason it is sometimes neglected. Overloading an incinerator lessens efficiency of the appliance, the experts add. Incinerator ashes, incidentally, are prized by many gardeners as excellent fertilizer.

Those who heat their homes with gas should heed the experts' advice that if the furnace has a humidifying pan it should be kept clean of lime deposits. Air filters should be cleaned several times a year by gently tapping the filter on a newspaper. It is recommended that filters probably should be replaced once a year to attain maximum efficiency for the heating unit.

THE CONDITION of the flue pipe should be checked for rust periodically, too, Northern Illinois Gas servicemen agreed, and the fan motor and fan should be oiled once or twice during the heating season.

Necessary draft in the chimney can be detected by feeling the suction around the draft hood; a clogged chimney affords little suction and should be cleaned as soon as possible. (BB

Lone Holly Tree May Not Bear Berries For Yule

Planting a single holly tree isn't the berries if you hope to grow your own Christmas decorations.

Unless there are both male and female hollies (staminate and pistillate trees) on your grounds or nearby, the greenery will be unadorned by fruit in the Fall. Many nurseries offer hollies of proven types that will produce an abundance of bright berries if pollinated.

Pleasing forms of the male plants are available too and these can be relied on to produce quantities of the needed pollen, according to E. I. Kabel, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co. Such male trees should be planted closely enough to the berry-bearers to assure active interest of bees and other insects important to pollination. Experts estimate there should be one staminate tree for every 10 pistillate ones.

Annual shearing is good for hollies after they pass their infant stages. This helps keep them dense and attractive. So the cuttings you bring into the home for the Yuletide have double benefits. Hollies are rated a close second to yews as choice foundation plantings.

Appropriately, the popular modern kinds boast appealing holiday names. These include Cheerful, Merry Christmas, Old Heavy Berry and Mrs. Santa.

All these strains produce an abundance of large and brightly colored fruit. (DL

Apple pie and cheese: an old family favorite. Here's a new idea. Put the cheese in the pie. Just roll a half cup of chopped or grated cheddar cheese into the pastry—and listen to the compliments.
* * * * *
Why are so many young homemakers earning prized reputations as good home bakers? Simple enough—they're the smart, well-informed group who have picked up the best experience from generations of good homemakers before them.
It's no coincidence that so many of these young home bakers are using Ceresota flour in all their recipes. Just as their grandmothers did, they're turning out cakes and pies with fuller flavor, better texture, and finer appearance — every time.
You'll like Ceresota, too. It's the UNBLEACHED, NATURALLY WHITE flour—and it costs no more.

When the kids are home for lunch, try making sandwiches with apricot jam with a sprinkling of cinnamon. Then grill in butter in a hot skillet, browning both sides. Mmmm... Delicious!
* * * * *
And, for the youngsters who are always raiding the cookie jar—here's a new recipe that will prove a welcome surprise: "Choc-o-nut Cookies."
Choc-o-nut Cookies
Makes 3 Dozen

Ingredients
¼ cup shortening
¼ cup butter
¼ cup granulated sugar
½ cup brown sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1⅛ cups sifted Ceresota unbleached flour
¼ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 (6 oz.) package chocolate bits
½ cup chopped nut pieces
Mix thoroughly shortening, butter, sugars, egg, and vanilla. Sift together flour, soda, and salt. Add to above and blend thoroughly. Blend in chocolate bits and nuts—drop by teaspoonfuls about 2" apart on lightly greased baking sheet. Bake in 375° oven for about 8-10 minutes. Do not over-bake since cookies should be soft.

Sleepy Hollow Manor
.... A Residential Park
Rte. 72, 1½ miles west of Dundee

A LEGEND WHICH HAS BECOME A REALITY! Only 1½ years ago two native sons of Fox River Valley conceived the dream of creating a site which would enbrace virtually every aspect of Utopian countryside living.
FLOYD FALESE and DAVE HILL, in that amazingly short time, have done the impossible. Having selected a rolling, wooded site, already rich in natural beauty, they sought out a noted land planner, Raymond Hazekamp. Mother Nature was supplemented with: Private Lakes—Spillways—Trout Streams—Sandy Beach—Bridle Paths. And so evolved . . . Sleepy Hollow Manor.
A real land rush is under way for the numerous one-of-a-kind deluxe homes and attractively priced wooded and water front homesites. ¾ to 1½-acre lots priced from $3,500 to $7,500.
Homes ranging from 30's to —you name it! Several homes now ready for occupancy, $38,500 and up.
Highly restricted—1 hour to Chicago Loop—Fire protection—Low tax rate—Dundee schools, public and parochial, served by buses at the gate.

Stop Rabbits This Winter
NEW REPELLENT PROTECTS YOUR TREES, SHRUBS ALL WINTER LONG
You can protect your trees and shrubs from rabbit damage all through the winter with just one application of RINGWOOD RABBIT REPELLENT. And since rabbit damage often starts right after snow falls, now is the time to treat your trees.
Brush or spray it on. RINGWOOD REPELLENT is easy to use. Just brush or spray it on trees as high as rabbits might reach after a heavy snowfall. No mixing, no unpleasant odor. Doesn't freeze, harden, or cake. Adheres to bark quickly and permanently, leaving a tacky varnish-like protective coating.
One coat does the job. This one-coat rabbit repellent was developed in cooperation with the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Three years of testing proves it completely effective as a rabbit stopper. Use on dormant trees which lose leaves in fall... for example: apple, ash, basswood, cedar, cherry, crab apple, dogwood, elm, hackberry, hemlock, honeysuckle, holly, lilac, locust, maple, plum, poplar, prune, redbud, multiflora rose, tulip, and walnut. Not recommended for evergreens.
Ringwood Repellent is available in pints and quarts. One pint treats 10 to 15 five year old apple trees of 6 ft. height. Sold locally by:

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by Bob Paddock

KNOX COLLEGE football team, co-champions of the Midwest conference this fall, boast 5 former suburban area athletes as regular performers. Leading the team to a 6-2 finish were Frank Stanicek, (Hinsdale); Dave Maller and Jack Stallard, (Downers Grove); and George Olson and Bob Peters, (York). Stanicek and Olson were the co-captains of this year's eleven. Stanicek has followed closely his accomplishments in high school with added success at Knox. A star halfback on Hinsdale's champs of '51 and '52, Stanicek was named most valuable player, achieved first team all-conference honors, all-Chicago Area, special mention All-State, and served as co-captain.

Besides his captain duties at Knox he was named second team all-conference and most valuable player at Knox in '55. This season, while bothered by a leg injury at times, he still found time to score 39 points on 4 touchdowns and 15 extra points and rush for 387 yards in 88 carries, a reputable 4.4 average per try. In this his senior year, Stanicek has concluded one of Knox's finest individual football careers.

Olson, a regular along with Stanicek for the past three years, caught 7 passes for 71 yards and 2 touchdowns and was a rugged performer on offense and defense.

Knox's chance for success this year depended on finding replacements for last year's co-captains Frank Casey, quarterback, and Tom Seidel, center. Downers Grove products, Stallard and Maller more than filled the bill. Stallard, Suburban league all-conference in '54 and honorary co-captain at Downers Grove filled the gap at center, usually turning in 60 minutes of fine football. Maller, put at the signal-calling position early in September, came along as one of the conference's best quarterbacks. Completing 19 passes, of which 8 went for TD's, Maller's veteran skill, not expected of a sophomore by coach Al Partin, was a definite determinant in Knox's rise from the league basement to the number one position.

Bob Peters, not counted on for extensive action early in the campaign, saw regular defensive duty the latter half of the season.

LAWRENCE HAPKE, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hapke of Palatine, was one of the starting eleven on the Morningside college varsity football squad this fall. The 1956 addition of the Maroons was probably the greatest grid team ever assembled at Morningside. The mighty Maroons compiled an over all mark for the season of 6 wins, 1 tie, and 1 loss, and captured the coveted North Central conference crown, their first outright title in 33 years.

Climaxing the season's play was their 21-13 title clinching win over the Vikings from Augustana before some 11,000 fans on the Maroon's home field. Larry is a junior at Morningside, majoring in math. He plays end on the varsity team.

DOUGLAS HILDEBRANDT of Palatine Twp. will wind up a satisfactory sophomore year of football at University of Miami on national TV Saturday, Dec. 8. Miami will play University of Pittsburgh in the Orange Bowl that afternoon.

Hildebrandt is one of 3 sophomore ends who have shown good promise this year—and they'll be counted on heavily next year when 3 senior ends depart. There are no junior ends on this squad. Hildebrandt played well in Miami's 20-7 win over arch rival University of Florida last week and kept its record clear of defeat after 9 games. The Hurricanes lead the nation in total defense and rushing defense.

Hildebrandt wears jersey No. 85. Senior Charlie Hutchings of Waukegan, Ill. only other Illinois player on the varsity squad, wears jersey No. 70. He is a starting right tackle.

ANOTHER STEP in the right direction of winning basketball was taken this week at Arlington when the Heights VFW post announced plans for a trophy to be awarded annually to the varsity players with the best free throw accuracy percentage . . . Winner's name each year will be inscribed on the large, handsome trophy . . . West Suburban league athletic directors held their monthly meeting at York Monday, covered a lot of routine business, and decided in spite of state rule permitting rubber basketball be used in all games, the WSC would not use it.

Some teams have not had the opportunity to practice with the new type ball and the move is designed to be fair to all teams.

Coaches generally feel the rubber ball will change players' habits of shooting, putting spin on the ball, etc . . . Another WSC rule designed to keep athletics in its proper perspective is the 1 prohibiting teams to practice more than 3 times a week after the league season has started . . .First wrestling meet is scheduled for this Friday afternoon at Arlington against Maine, starting at 4 o'clock . . . Coaches will present fans with a program listing rules changes, scoring, terminology, illegal holds, timing, etc., for better understanding.

Heights track coach Russ Attis is looking for a few more track meets for next spring, particularly at freshman level.

Ted Caiazza, LaGrange grad now a junior at Illinois, has improved his hook shot and now moves well to either side . . . He's going to come into his own this year and spell George Bon-Salle at center, according to Bob Frisk . . . Bob also spoke of the tremendous ovation accorded Governer Vaughn and Mannie Jackson in scoring half of the freshman points against the varsity Saturday . . . Frosh lost, 71-66.

SWIMMING ROSTER at Grinnell includes soph Dick Bresnahan of Hinsdale . . . Expected to be top prospect in heavyweight wrestling at Grinnell is Bruce Wilkerson of Prospect Heights . . . Listed at 123 is soph Griff Pritchard of Prospect Heights with soph Larry Dukes of Riverside named at 191 . . . On the cage squad is Lee Moses of Maine, a 6-2 soph forward . . . On cage squad at Beloit are Paul Hudgens of Elgin and Lyle Rossiter of Glenbard.

Glenbrook's soph cage tourney Dec. 27-28 will pit Fenton against Glenbrook and Wauconda against Elmwood Park in the double elimination affair.

When Illini play host to San Francisco Dec. 17 they'll be facing the nation's longest win streak, expected to be 39 straight by that time . . . Here are comments of Gerald Tucker, coach of the U. S. Olympic cage squad, "we were too fast, too tall and overall play was too good . . . Not a player from any of the other teams could have made the U. S. squad" . . . Fred Macklin of Bloom, who won state broad jump last May, has quit school . . . Chuck Bennett of LaGrange is 1 of those hailed as possible successor to Bernie Crimmins at Chuck's alma mater, Indiana.

Most valuable gridder and harrier at Maine were Vic Pagel and George Osborne.

Among frosh grid numeral winners at Illinois was Ken Kraml of Hinsdale . . . John Wessels, 6-7 Rockford cage star who was attending No. Carolina State, has dropped out, hopes to enter Illinois . . . Reports from hunters indicate rabbit hunting is good again, with cold weather wiping out most danger of tularemia.

Arlington Host To Leyden In Saturday Test

Once again the Heights will have to rise to the heights if it hopes to win a ball game.

The Cardinals of Arlington have a supposedly tall team this year. They have spirit to go with it and are developing poise that could pay off with a good season in another month.

But that heighth has been anything but convincing against such sky scrapers as Elgin and York. Both of these squads outsized Heights, and the same will hold true Saturday night when the Leyden Eagles come to town.

LEYDEN HAS a tall aggregation with the smallest boys standing 6-2. They're picked to be 1-2 with Bloom in the coming South Suburban league race. They knocked off Kankakee Friday night and will be favored against Arlington Saturday on the Cards own court.

After that the Cardinals should at least hold even with the opposition, at least insofar as heighth is concerned. It will then be up to ability, poise, speed, and you-name-it to decide the winners.

FRIDAY NIGHT Coach Lester's cagers journey to Hinsdale with the game rated a toss-up. Both teams have the same heighth. Both teams have the same experience. Both teams are building.

Arlington's offense stil hasn't jelled, and needs work. Scoring 71 points usually means winning ball but that did not hold true last weekend against York. The Dukes tallied 86 to take home the marbles. That means Heights is weak on defense, and will undoubtedly be stressed in workouts this week.

BILL PALMER was somewhat handicapped against York by a sprained ankle. His rebounding wasn't up to par, but he was up against some mighty tall boys. Coach Lester is experimenting with Jack Weber as guard to give the squad 2 inches more heighth.

Thus, the starting lineup would have Palmer, Tom Jacobsen, Bob Lockwood, Bruce Bjorklund or Pat Brownell and Weber. Jerry Klement, standing 6-5½, is improving but needs more finesse to be a starter. (Sp

HINSDALE will be "up" for the Heights frosh-soph game Friday night, and will have the home floor advantage. It should be a close contest, however. Coach Frank Bohac expects to start the same lineup.

The York game was a team victory with several of the boys playing "their best games" to win. It was the first game for York sophs, though they had scrimmaged Morton and Oak Park in afternoon affairs.

Special feature Saturday night against Leyden on the Heights court will be some dance routines by a group of sophomore girls. (Sp

Pairings For Soph Tourney

Pairings for the St. Charles frosh-soph basketball tournament Dec. 26-29 have been released with Arlington meeting West Aurora in the opener at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

Other schools entered include Libertyville, St. Charles, Proviso, Crystal Lake, East Aurora and Barrington.

THE TOURNEY will be a double elimination affair with both winners and losers in the first round continuing competition.

The event will give Heights fans plenty of basketball to watch with the young Cards playing Wednesday and Friday, and possibly Saturday; the varsity will be competing Thursday and Friday of that week in a 4-team blind draw event at Leyden with Niles and Wheaton also present.

Wednesday, Dec. 26

1:00-Arlington-West Aurora.
2:30-Libertyville-St. Charles.

Thursday, Dec. 27

1:00-Proviso-Crystal Lake.
2:30-East Aurora-Barrington

Friday, Dec. 28

9:30-Wednesday losers.
11:00-Thursday losers.
1:30-Wednesday winners.
3:00-Thursday winners.

Saturday, Dec. 29

1:00-Consolation.
2:30-Championship.

Low Weights Set, But Others Up For Grabs At Arlington

Varsity lineup for the first wrestling meet of the year at Heights is shaping up, according to Coach Dick Mudge, with a majority of weights cut to 1 or 2 boys as starters.

Final selection won't be made until later this week, but most of the challenges are now past history. Interestingly, only the 3 lower weights are definite as of Tuesday morning. with 2 sophomores and 1 junior filling the bill.

RALPH CARLINO is listed at 112. He's been downstate 2 years at 95 and 103, and should have a creditable record this time at 112. Jerry Bonn, a sophomore, has been named at 103, went downstate last year as a freshman at 95.

Dave Schreiber, a sophomore, did a good job last year and definitely rates the nod at 95 this year. From there on Coach Mudge has named a couple of boys at each weight with possibility of frosh-sophs filling in at 4 weights.

PHIL DEMING currently leads the upperclassmen at 120, though a frosh-soph could take over.

127-Pat Harris, John Amann and Les Vaughan are all close here.

133-it could be Ed Schumacher or Dick Leckband.

138-Jim Clark or a frosh-soph.

145-Don Plank or Ernie Rodriguez are the pair here.

TOM THACKERY and Roger Farleigh are the leaders at this weight. The loser of this bout will have to contend with a possible frosh-soph at 165.

175-Greg Rose or Denny Zapp.

At heavyweight are listed Dean Schneck or a frosh-soph.

Three injuries still hurting the Heights team are the broken arm of Clarence Trausch, out for the season; "football knee" of George Steil, out for a month; and still-to-be-diagnosed head injury of Tom Kennicott. These boys could have been leaders at 127, 120 and 145. (Sp

Card Frosh Cagers Gain Split Here

Arlington freshman basketball teams gained a split with Glenbrook Saturday morning in the Heights gym, the 'A' team winning, 38-28, but the 'B' squad losing, 38-24.

"The 'A' team appeared weak on defense, particularly defensive rebounding," Coach Ken Schaller said Tuesday. "We'll have to improve our passing if we're going to make any headway at all against West Suburban league foes."

THE FROSH appeared nervous in their first game, which is to be expected. Scoring was fairly evenly divided with Jim Kennedy sinking 5 baskets for 10 points. Johnson and Bob Inman each scored 8 points.

Other Heights boys seeing action were Mike Dundy, Dan Striegel, Gene Dahlquist and Bob Leekley. High for Glenbrook were Nicolls with 12 and Slettland with 11.

THE 'B' SQUAD fell behind the opening period and could never catch up. Coach Larry Anderson's boys were behind 20-13 at the half and 28-21 going into the final period.

Accuracy of the Heights yearlings was poor with Coach Anderson stressing that phase in workouts this week. John Miller, close to 6', is the tallest starter on the team.

DAN HARRIS is taller, but has not rated starting nod due to lack of enough speed. Ray Teborek is as tall as Harris, but lacks experience.

High point boys for Heights included Miller with 7 and Ronald Beeks with 6. Others seeing action included Paul McNuren, Tom Clark, Frank Eaton, Dan Harris and Ken Dougan. For Glenbrook were Roch and Elmberg with 10 each.

More Eliminations For F-S Wrestlers At Arlington High

Eliminations for spots on frosh-soph squad at Arlington have been about completed, as of Tuesday night. A few more challenges still have to be met. Here's the setup, according to frosh-soph mentor Maurice Kellogg.

95—freshman Leon Wintz.
103—frosh Dick Parson and soph John Cockran.
112—frosh Terry Harris.
120—frosh Jim Slinkard.
127—soph Mike Kauffman.
133—soph Ed Gerrard.
138—soph Paul Clark or soph Fred Fischer.
145—soph Dick Haworth or soph Chuck Neumann.
154—soph Jeff Heintz.
165—soph Dave Buren.
175—soph Larry Leeper.
Hvy—soph Frank Woodruff.

Mt. Prospect Park District Basketball Loop Opens

Central school gym was the scene of openers in the Mt. Prospect basketball league Wednesday night of last week with St. John, Bowling Lanes and Fastex all winning. The 6 teams will play a schedule of 10 games each at Central school on Wednesday nights.

Directing this activity is Mike Skuban, Mt. Prospect park district recreation director. It is another activity of the local park district in providing recreation for the youth of the community.

GRAMS AND Creamer were top scorers for St. John with 14 points each. Goodling was tops for South Church. St. John took a 13-6 lead the opening period and increased it as time went on.

Dahlstrom played an exceedingly fine floor game for the Bowling Lanes in helping whip St. Paul, 41-36, and was high for his team with 19 points. High for the losers was Winkelman with 10 points.

Fastex had an easy time disposing of Jaycees, 49-16, and appears to be the team to beat in the league. Swedberg controlled both boards, and chalked up a lot of baskets by tipping them in, counting 19 points in all. Stoeft was high for the losers with 6.

Frosh Grapplers To Host Glenbrook

First meet for freshmen wrestlers at Arlington high school is scheduled for this Saturday morning, Dec. 8, when Glenbrook comes to town. Time will be 9:30.

Coach Maurice Kellogg is fairly well set in his starting lineup for the first encounter, though eliminations in a couple of divisions were still being held Wednesday of this week.

BOB BRYANT or Dick Peeke are about even at 95. At 103 it will probably be Dick Parson with Terry Harris getting the nod at 112.

It will be Frank Fitzgerald or Jim Slinkard at 120, John Crellin at 127 and Alan Westergaard at 133. At 138 it will probably be Al Ullrick, with Tom Clark expected to start at 145.

DENNIS SCHNECK is leading contender at 154, with John Lopata listed at 165. John Link has the lead at 175 with heavyweight either Bob Hacker or Dick Duenn.

Pros. Hts. Cagers Split A Pair

The Prospect Heights lightweight basketball team came from behind to defeat a tough Thacker team 18 to 16 in their first exhibition game of the season. Thacker led 12 to 9 at the half but Prospect Heights slowly closed the gap and finally took a 17 to 16 lead in the closing minutes on a set shot by Bob Christofferson. Captain Jerry Gehrke added another point on a free throw thus making it 18 to 16 and a victory for a determined Prospect Heights team.

March of Thacker led the scoring with 8 points, while Richard Hendrickson threw in 6 for Prospect Heights.

THACKER OVERCAME a 16 to 15 half time lead and then stopped a determined Prospect Heights rally in the last period to score a 34 to 29 victory. Thacker's height advantage proved to be just a little too much for a scrappy Prospect Heights heavyweight team.

Card JV's Beat Glenbrook

A worried Dick Kinneman became a pleased coach, instead, Monday afternoon when his junior-varsity basketball squad came from behind to trip Glenbrook, 39-31.

The losers took an 8-6 lead the opening period and stretched it to 22-13 at intermission. Final 6 points of that 9 point margin had been tallied in the final 1½ minutes of the second period.

IT WAS THEN the Heights "aggressive defense" took control of the game, holding the losers to a single bucket the entire second half. That third period score was 27-23, Glenbrook, and the Card varsity reserves took over the final segment to win the game.

Arlington missed plenty of free throws, something that will have to be corrected if the squad hopes to take many games. The squad also lacked a consistent scoring punch. Coach Dick Kinneman changed the lineup a bit the second half, with Anderson and Johnston at forwards and Graves seeing a lot of action at guard.

SCORING was evenly divided for Arlington, John Anderson led with 4 baskets, all in the final quarter, plus 2 charities for 10 points. Borgen and Graves tallied 7 points, Johnston and Hutchinson 6.

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

THE BASKETBALL RENAISSANCE at Palatine which John Fabri is working hard to bring about is really showing progress. Palatine's one point loss to Arlington indicated more was to come but no one expected the Pirates to handle Fenton as easily as they did in the league opener. Fabri used his whole squad and won by 9 points.

Actually the boys played their best game at Barrington, except for their shooting, so the bad defeat was not at all discouraging or a setback to Palatine's cage revival.

The next 3 weekends are both doubles and will really test the Pirates. Antioch and Maine this week, Grant and Grayslake the following week, and Wauconda and Crystal Lake top off the Friday-Saturday competition December 21-22, gives the Pirates the competition which makes an even break in victories a tough assignment.

OUR PICK of Grant, Antioch, Ela-Vernon and Palatine in the first 4 spots in the standings held up 1 week at least as all 4 won their openers in both varsity and frosh-soph divisions. This week the 4 winners pair off with Palatine at Antioch and Ela-Vernon at Grant on Friday.

Home teams will be favored in each instance. First week losers find Fenton at Wauconda and Glenbrook at Grayslake. Again we will string along with the home teams in very close engagements.

PALATINE'S WRESTLERS appear to be a bit over their head meeting Waukegan, Niles, and New Trier in the first 3 meets. This is a building year for Coach Ellis. He has no heavyweight since Rohde graduated and has to forfeit that weight. In order to have competition at 175 he has been using Bob Nordin who weighs 150 and Bob has shown real stuff but the weight handicap is too rugged.

By the next match Nordin expects to qualify for the 145 weight and then Ellis will have to move up a wrestler from the soph group or also forfeit at 175.

The heavy early competition is bringing the boys along fast and they will much more likely be ready for the holiday tournament than had the opposition been mediocre.

THIS YEAR Glenbrook will be the favorite to cop the Palatine invitational wrestling tournament scheduled for December 28-29. Coach Walter Sherman has most of his best returning from last year and will have 1 of the best outfits in the area. DeKalb is also rated by Coach Ellis, as a team which might be a threat.

Others in the tournament are Wauconda, North Chicago, West Aurora, Wheaton Academy, and Palatine. Last year Palatine won the tournament.

Wrestling has grown as a high school sport in Illinois faster than any other in recent years. There are over 125 schools with grappling teams in competition and Illinois ranks second only to Pennsylvania in number of schools engaging in the sport. While Pennsylvania and Illinois rank at the tops in numbers no one will question that Oklahoma and Iowa are leaders in quality both in high school and college.

Cornell, Iowa Teachers, Iowa State, and the University of Iowa are always among the leaders in the mat sport.

Even more consistently at the top in collegiate circles is Oklahoma A & M where Art Griffith is considered just about the top coach in the business. In the East the top wrestling school is Penn State, an institution which grabs off the cream of the Pennsylvania high school crop.

Around the Chicago area there were practically no schools wrestling outside the Suburban, South Suburban, and West Suburban leagues 10 years ago. McHenry was one of the first small schools to take it on and quite successfully. This year Fenton, Naperville, Barrington, Grant and Lake Park are starting the sport. Wauconda, Warren, Libertyville, Lake Forest, Elmwood Park and North Chicago have only been going a very few years. Palatine, Crystal Lake, Zion-Benton, Wheaton and West Aurora, have had wrestling no more than 4 years. Arlington Heights has been wrestling only about 7 years.

THAT BASKETBALL has become a high scoring game is proved by the individual scoring in the 4 opening Northwest conference games played last Friday. A total of 15 players scored more than 10 points and 10 players tallied 15 or more. Way out in front is Lars Henriksen of Fenton who hit from all angles to pile up 30 in a losing cause against Palatine. Opening game surprise was the 24 points racked up by little Denny Freund, a small but promising Wauconda sub last season.

Bloom of Chicago Heights went to the state tournament last year but lost their star, Grady McCollum during the sectional tournament when he became 20 years of age.

This year Bloom has the first tournament 5 plus 4 lettermen subs back and looks like a real state title threat with 2 regulars who stand 6-6. McCollum is the only one gone. He is down at Western Illinois State college at Macomb and looks great, but whether he can retain eligibility is questionable.

They say Morton is the favorite in the Suburban League to take the championship won last year by Proviso. LaGrange has the same pre-season rating in the West Suburban. Barrington is a prohibitive favorite in the North Suburban. Dundee seems to be below par in the Little Seven but we have no idea who is rated higher for Geneva, last year's champ, graduated their varsity team.

ATHLETIC DIRECTORS of the new Tri-County league have decided that junior varsity basketball will be played along with frosh games on the Saturday morning following the varsity and frosh-soph games played Friday. A boy will be ineligible to play in the JV game if he was in more than 2 quarters of the varsity game the previous night.

The Tri-County will have tournaments or conference meets next year in cross country, wrestling, track, and golf. T. E. Stutzman of Palatine is chairman and Guy Curtright of North Chicago is secretary of athletic direction group.

Art Zimmer who coached frosh-soph athletics and varsity golf at Palatine for several years writes from Whittier, California, that basketball takes a back seat for football in the Los Angeles area. Football playoffs for a state title go on until Christmas time for the best teams, making is hard for football players in some schools to double in basketball. Whittier, where he is located as junior varsity basketball coach and assistant track coach, has an undefeated football team and is in the state playoffs. Whittier is a big school system located southeast of Los Angeles with a complete kindergarten through college program.

Fenton Wrestlers Drop Elmwood Park Matches

by DICK GEISSLER

Fenton frosh-soph wrestling team lost at Elmwood Park Saturday, 40-16. The Fenton team was handicapped by a 25 point disadvantage because the Bisons had no entries in the first 5 weights.

Fielitz, Burkhart and Ulrich of Fenton, wrestling in the 133 to 145 pound weight classes, won their matches. Next in line for Fenton were Szilage, Koelch and Freie. They were all pinned. Fenton's heavyweight, Johnson, came back with a victory over Elmwood, with a quick pin.

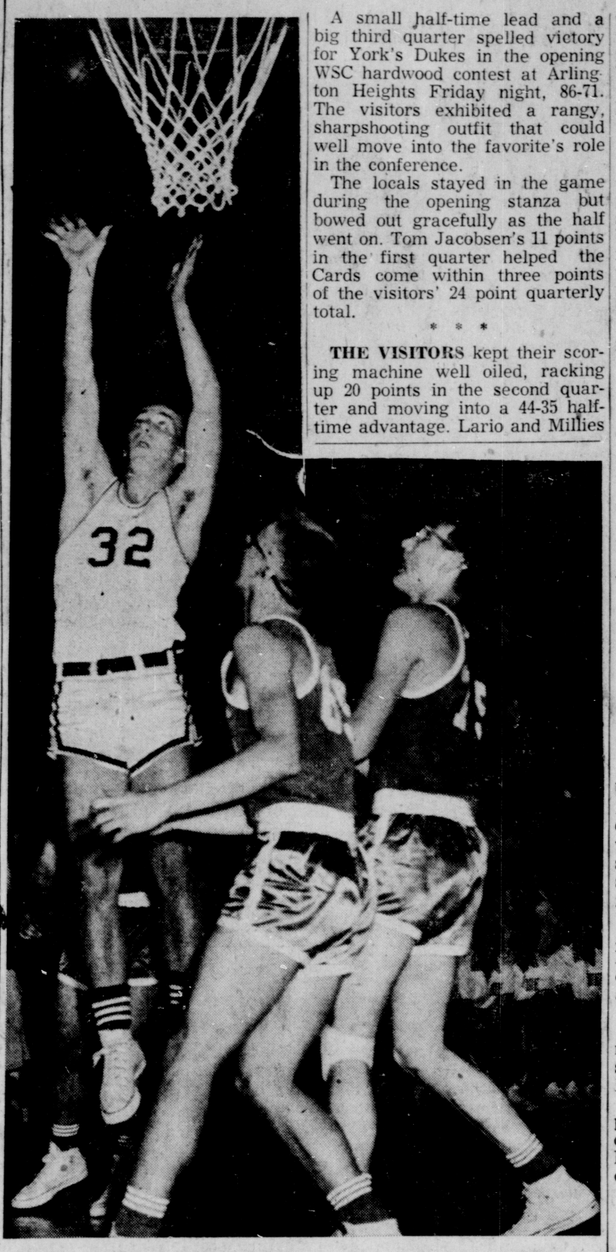
FENTON VARSITY lost to Elmwood Park, 48-20. Elmwood Park showed greater experience in the ring. They seemed to know more about the game and had greater build for their weights.

The first 2 matches resulted in quick defeat, with pins in the first rounds. In the 112 pound class, represented by Frank Fritz, more fight was displayed. Even though he lost, he lasted into the last round.

Next in line for Fenton were Wagnarowski and Carlson. Wagnarowski won with a good lead and a pin in the final round. Carlson put up a good fight but lost, 7-6. Harvey for Fenton won with a score of 6-1. Fenton lost the next 5 matches on Elmwood pins.

Ending the meet was Fentons heavyweight Huge Wilson. He went the full 3 rounds, 3-0.

York Height Leads The Way In 86-71 Decision Over Arlington



JACK WEBER went up in the air for this 1 for Arlington against York Friday night, helping the Cards run up 71 points. It wasn't enough, however, as the visitors tallied 86. Watching the play for York are Marvin Graunke (65) and Leonard Mahoney (75). (Staff photo

A small half-time lead and a big third quarter spelled victory for York's Dukes in the opening WSC hardwood contest at Arlington Heights Friday night, 86-71. The visitors exhibited a rangy, sharpshooting outfit that could well move into the favorite's role in the conference.

The locals stayed in the game during the opening stanza but bowed out gracefully as the half went on. Tom Jacobsen's 11 points in the first quarter helped the Cards come within three points of the visitors' 24 point quarterly total.

THE VISITORS kept their scoring machine well oiled, racking up 20 points in the second quarter and moving into a 44-35 halftime advantage. Lario and Millies were the big guns. Millies controlled the rebounds and dunked in the ones under the basket. When the Cards would concentrate on Millies, Lario would kill them with a set shot out front.

That was the picture as the York lead got bigger, Arlington's floor play grew more erratic. Jacobsen, who was Arlington's only bid for scoring glory in the first half, was shut off after intermission, and failed to counter a single field goal in the second half's play. Bjorklund began to find the range in the second half, racking up 12 points for the Cards.

IT BECAME evident that if the Cards were to make any kind of showing in the conference they must start hitting from the outcourt to prevent the bottling up under the basket which the Yorkmen accomplished. Lockwood played one of his better games although his rebounding efforts were almost futile against the bigger Dukes. His 19 points, which included 9 free throws in 10 attempts, were high for the locals. Jacobsen finished with 18 for the evening.

The loss placed Arlington's record at 2-2 for the year and, of course 0-1 in the conference. (Sp

Card Sophs Rally To Edge York By 1

Arlington's frosh-soph basketeers had to come from behind to whip York 47-46 in the first conference action for both schools. It was the fourth consecutive victory for the locals, who have yet to taste defeat this season.

York led most of the way after jumping off to a 15-8 first quarter lead. Arlington did not sink a single field goal in the initial frame, but netted eight of eight free throws.

THE YORK lead was stretched to 8 points, 29-21, at half-time, and the visitors were definitely in the driver's seat as the two teams went to their respective dressing rooms.

Exactly what Coach Bohac had to say to his boys is not known. However, the second half belonged to the young Cards. They outscored York 16-11 in the third quarter; holding the Dukes to only 2 field goals in stanza three, and narrowing the score to 40-37.

THE FINAL quarter was nip and tuck all the way as the Arlington 5 gave fans their first chance to get excited this season. Ed Whitelaw, held to 4 points in the first 3 quarters of the contest, tallied 5 points in the final canto to help edge the losers 10-6 in the quarter's scoring. A jubilant crowd welcomed the game ending buzzer with Arlington a 1-point victor.

Pat Coreen led Arlington in the scoring department with 14 points. However, the scoring for the Birdies was fairly well distributed. Whitelaw's nine points and Magnuson's eight were the next best individual efforts. (Sp

Card Gymnasts In Workouts

The balconies of the gym have been active the past month at Arlington high school where Coach Gay Hughes has been working his gymnastics squad, a small varsity group with no seniors, but a frosh-soph aggregation numbering about 35.

The schedule is not complete as yet, but does include Leyden, Proviso, Maine and York. A couple of more meets will be added soon.

ONE THING new on the gymnastics docket is a list of 5 frosh-soph meets. Previously, the yearling competed with the varsity.

The small varsity squad appears to have creditable strength on horizontal bar and rings, but lacks much power on any of the other equipment. (Sp

Olympic Cagers To Have Stiffer Competition At Stadium Dec. 14-15

The U. S. Olympic basketball team will get stiffer competition in Chicago Dec. 14 and 15 than it's getting in Melbourne.

That's the opinion of George Ireland, coach at Loyola university, which is sponsoring the two-day pre-holiday tournament at Chicago Stadium.

The Olympians voted unanimously to stay together to appear here after the games in Australia to assure a minimum contribution of $5,000 for the 1960 U.S. Olympic fund. It will be their only post-games appearance and it's the first time in history a United States Olympic basketball squad has not disbanded immediately after the games.

SAN FRANCISCO, Santa Clara, and Loyola, who will complete the tournament field, are all capable of giving the Olympic team a better tussle than they've had in Australia, said Ireland.

"I don't envy Coach Phil Woolpert of San Francisco the loss of Bill Russell and K. C. Jones, two of the greatest players the game has ever known, and it will be doubly tough playing against them now that they're on the Olympic squad," said Ireland.

"But," he added, "you cant sell USF short. Woolpert is one of the greatest coaches in the game, and he still has Mike Farmer, Cari Boldt, and Gene Brown returning, along with Art Day of Chicago, a great prospect as Russells successor at center.

"SANTA CLARA," Ireland continued, 'is a dark horse, at worst, in the California basketball association. Their center, Rich Montgomery, at 6:7, was rated second only to Russell last year on the Coast.

"As for Loyola," declared Ireland," we have no pretensions about beating the Olympic team, which is the best amateur squad in the world, but our team looks like the best we've had in my six years here. We have good sophomore and junior replacements to go along with such veterans as Paul Krucker, Jim DeWulf, and Art McZier."

The Olympic squad will arrive in Chicago Monday, Dec. 10, flying here from San Francisco where they are scheduled to arrive two days earlier.

IN ADDITION to Russell and Jones of USF, the squad features such outstanding stars as Bill Evans of Kentucky, Bob Jeangerard, Wilmette native and former New Trier high school ace now with the Phillips 66ers; Chuck Darling, Iowa all-Big Ten star; and Dick Boushka, ex-St. Louis U. ace, among others. Illini Open Cage Schedule

Illinois opened its fifty-second season of basketball with a non-conference game against Butler Wednesday in George Huff gymnasium.

Coach Harry Combes started 3 regulars from the 1955-56 team which finished second in the Big Ten. George BonSalle, Don Ohl, and Capt. Harv Schmidt were joined by a 1954-55 regular, Bill Altenberger, and a newcomer to the starting lineup sophomore Roger Taylor.

Altenberger, hit by an attack of glandular fever just before last season began, apparently has recovered fully and is performing again at the pace which made him a standout as a sophomore. Much of Illini success this year hinges on Altenberger's ability to perform up to standard.

ALTENBERGER has been reinstated at his old position, and probably will be one of smallest forwards in the Western conference this season. His return has enabled Combes to move junior Don Ohl to guard, his normal spot.

Others who will be given thorough tests before a regular five is determined include letterman Hiles Stout, forward and center, and junior Ted Caiazza, center.

Caiazza was considered a fine prospect as a sophomore last year, but a knee injury forced him out of action after first few games. The 6-7 pivot man has worked regularly this fall and now appears ready for game action again. Combes hopes to use him to spell BonSalle as much as possible.

WHAT LOOKS to be Indiana's strongest basketball team since its Big Ten championship outfit of 1954 winds up a month and a half of pre-season practice this week, fit and ready for its opener here Tuesday, Dec. 4, against Valparaiso.

Coach Branch McCracken has 8 lettermen back from his promising sophomore-junior squad of last year and the 8 include all but one of the 5 starters at end of the season.

The lone loss of consequence was a king-sized one, 6-4 Forward Wally Choice, who paced all scorers with 463 points and established a new I. U. shooting mark of .510 while leading the Conference in field goal accuracy, but not an insurmountable one.

Leading the returnees is 6-8 Archie Dees, who scored 383 points on a .422 shooting average in a brilliant first season. At forward, 6-4½ Jerry Thompson, a .455 shooter who scored 188 points after moving to a starting position at mid-season, is back, along with 5-9 Charley Hodson and 6-2½ Halie Bryant, the starters down the stretch last season, at guards.

GONE FROM the Michigan State scene is the great Julius McCoy, who scored 600 points last year in leading the team to a season mark of 13-9 and a Big Ten record of 7-7 good for fifth place in the conference standings.

Strongest points for Michigan State appear to be a pair of veteran forward performers, George Ferguson, Providence, R. I., senior and team captain, and Larry Hedden, 6-5 junior from Gas City, Ind.

In at center will be Chuck Bencie, junior from Gary, Ind., who at 6-3 is State's tallest man. Manning the guard positions will be Jack Quiggle, junior from South Bend, Ind., and Harry Lux, a senior from Chicago. All are letter winners and they'll start Saturday night. The sixth returning letterman is Pat Wilson, a guard, who has just joined the team from the football squad.

Xmas Concert

Northwestern university's 17th annual Christmas concert by the 275-member choral union will be presented Sunday, Dec. 9, in Cahn auditorium, Sheridan rd. and Emerson st., Evanston. Two performances will be given, one at 3 p.m. and another at 5 p.m.

A limit of four tickets per person may be obtained without charge by writing the concert manager, Northwestern music school, Evanston. Bensenville Rockets Run Out Of Gas, Lose 86-60

The game between Park Forest and the Bensenville Rockets started out to be a seesaw affair Nov. 28, but Bensenville lost 86-60. The scoring of both teams the first half was fairly well balanced, with no more than a 6-point lead taken by either team.

Park Forest and Bensenville battled to a 17 to 17 tie at the end of the first quarter, and going into the second quarter the game still looked like either team might wind up being the winner. At the half there still was no more than 6 points separating the 2 teams, with Park Forest holding the lead, 41 to 35.

BENSENVILLE Rockets seemed to be hitting the majority of their shots from the outside, while Park Forest was hitting a lot of easy lay-ups and from around the free throw line. This showed that the Rockets five need a little work on defense.

Toward the end of the third quarter Bensenville started running out of gas, and they were not as alert and sharp in their rebounding and shooting as they were the first half. Going into the fourth quarter Park Forest ran them down and scored 26 points to Bensenville's 10 making the score 86 to 60 at the end of the game.

CORTEZ LED the scoring for Park Forest with 29 points. He was an all-around basketball player. He was also alert on defense. Jim Konigan led the Rockets with 17 points. He rebounded outstandingly. Bob Floyd and Leonard Egly for the Rockets were outstanding in rebound play. Bob Floyd was right behind Karrigan with 14 points.

This Sunday, Dec. 9, the Rockets travel to Mount Morris to play the VFW Kolts at 4 p.m. Then Wednesday, Dec. 5, Joliet plays at Bensenville. They are all college players and have a lot of height on their squad.

Wednesday, Dec. 19, the Rainer Comets from Elmwood Park play the Rockets. They are an all-colored team and are supposed to be quite a ball handling team.

Antioch Drops 55-51 Decision To Dundee

Antioch dropped a 53-51 decision to Dundee Saturday night in a non-league game played on their home court. The loss of their three high scorers on fouls in the second half cost Antioch the victory.

Both Art Hanke who tallied 15 points and Wayne Herbst who got 16 went out in the third quarter and Jerry Hummel who had 14 got his fifth foul midway in the final segment. Antioch led 25-22 at the half and 41-40 going into the last period. Puffpaff, Dundee center, got 20 points. Antioch took the frosh-soph game 51-33.

Parkie Blasts Maples With 707 Series

Al Parkhurst blew the roof off of Beverly Lanes last Sunday night with a devastating barrage of strikes that totaled up to a 707 series. Parkie had games of 184-257-266; the highest 3 game series ever rolled at Beverly Lanes.

His opponent in match play, Ward Siewert, rolled a creditable 175-183-210 for a 568 series, but was buried under Parkhurst's tenpin avalanche.

Al is now undefeated in four matches. His average for these 12 games is 204, and certainly he has established himself as a mighty formidable opponent in match competition.

THIS SUNDAY night, however, he meets a bowler who could upset the applecart, Art Cameron. Art, a high 180 average bowler, has thrown a few 700 series himself. Over the last few weeks he has practiced on alleys 13 and 14 (where match play is held) and from all indications he seems able to contest Parkhurst's winning ways. In any event this should prove to be an explosive match.

Match Game

It was Hopper's vs. Hopper's in a bowling match game Sunday at Jeffery Lanes with Unit No. 1 winning, 2484-2358. (Sp

Drivers Take Lead In Rolling Green Ladies League

Rolling Green country club's ladies' bowling league from Arlington Heights is staging a ratrace for top honors. Currently ahead are the Drivers, captained by Hazel Burnier of Arlington, aided and abetted by Alma Woodman of Arlington, Ruth Marzula and Doris Pedersen of Park Ridge.

Hazel Burnier rolled a rip-roaring series of 577 last week with a game of 225 to wind it up.

Other stars of the month are Evelyn Roland and Ruth Godfrey, both of Arlington Heights, rolling 547 and 510 series, respectively. (BD

Bowlers Can Compete With Just 1 Team In Tournament

Big change in the Paddock bowling tournaments, which actually took effect last year but didn't gain much attention 'til this time, is ABC rule prohibiting anyone from bowling more than once.

Several bowlers have contacted tourney promoters about whether they will be permitted to bowl in the tourney with 2 different teams. Their squads are in contention and could possibly be in first place come Dec. 22 (for the men).

IN SUCH CASES the bowlers who gained entries with 2 different teams will have to make a choice. They'll have to select a substitute for the team they do not pick.

That's a rule of ABC and affects the men's tournament at Gunnell's Lanes, rtes. 12 and 83, Sunday, Jan. 13. First place teams of all local men's leagues as of Dec. 22 will be eligible. Deadline for entries will be Dec. 29.

FOR THE WOMEN the same rule will prevail. Their tournament is slated for Sunday, Jan. 20; at Mt. Prospect Bowling Lanes with first place teams of all local leagues as of Dec. 29 eligible. Deadline for their entries is Jan. 5.

Entry blanks and posters have been distributed to all local alleys. League secretaries are supposed to receive their supplies from alley proprietors. Captains of first place teams, or league secretaries, are urged to make time reservations as early as possible.

THE MEN will bowl on 4 shifts, 1:00, 3:15, 5:30 and 7:45. This will permit 64 teams to compete. Fifty-one made the tourney last year, and close to 60 are expected this time.

The women will bowl on 5 shifts, 12:00, 2:30, 5:00, 7:30 and 10:00. This will permit 30 teams to compete. Twenty-six competed last year, and close to 30 are expected this time. (Sp

Notre Dame Boys To Stage 2 Plays

Notre Dame high school for Boys' drama club, the Jugglers, will present 2 one act plays, FIAT LUX by Faith Van Valkenburg Vilas and REFUND by Percival Wilde, December 9 at 8:30 p.m. in the high school's gymnasium, 7655 Dempster st., Niles. The chorus will also give a concert between the plays.

Ted Bartman of Arlington Heights will play a role in REFUND.

FIAT LUX is a modern morality play which deals with an embittered father who finds the true light at Christmas. REFUND is a satire on modern education. (B7

A Modern Look at an Old Superstition

Folks used to put off writing their wills . . . thought it brought them bad luck. But old superstitions lose their importance in the light of today's understanding. Many thoughtful persons now make their wills long before retirement. Such decisions relieve loved ones of harassing problems under stress. We invite you to visit us and discuss our arrangements.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

Man's God-given protection and power will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday, December 9.

Keynoting the Lesson - Sermon entitled "God the Preserver of Man" is the Golden Text from Ephesians (2:8): "By grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God.

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (215:-12): "Whatever is governed by God, is never for an instant deprived of the light and might of intelligence and Life."

Scriptural passages will include the following from Psalms (16:5,-6,8): "The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup: thou maintainest my lot. The lines are fallen unto me in pleasant places; yea, I have a goodly heritage . . . I have set the Lord always before me: because he is at my right hand, I shall not be moved."

Presbyterian Evening Circles Plan Christmas Programs

The Women's association of the First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights announces that only the 5 evening circles will hold meetings in December with Christmas programs planned for each. Christmas devotionals, based on the story of Christ's birth as told in Matthew and Luke, will be presented in each group by the following Bible leaders: Mrs. Edward Carlisle, Mrs. Charles Opela, Mrs. Ivan Quackenbush, Mrs. Enoch Jordan and Mrs. R. N. Bergstrom.

The business and professional circle will hold its annual Christmas party this year on Wednesday, Dec. 12, at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Edward Carlisle, 1006 S. Vail. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Carlisle will be Mrs. O. G. Braun and Mrs. Robert Keers.

The other evening circles will hold their meetings on Wednesday, Dec. 19, at 8 p.m. at the following homes: Circle 9, at the home of its chairman, Mrs. Charles Bennett, 111 S. Drury lane. New Custom 300 over 16 feet long

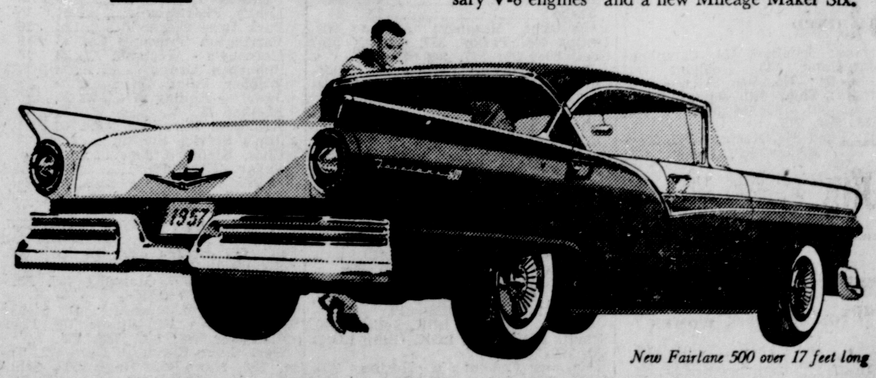
It's a new kind of FORD in TWO BIG SIZES

The low-priced '57 Fords come in 2 big sizes

Here are two new ways to go BIG! Choose one of Ford's distinguished Custom or Custom 300 models—over 16 feet long. The elegant Fairlane and Fairlane 500 models are over 17 feet long! They're the biggest Fords ever!

There's a big power choice, too! Silver Anniversary V-8 engines* and a new Mileage Maker Six.



New Fairlane 500 over 17 feet long

It's up to 9 inches longer, as much as 4 inches lower, America's first big low-priced car. And here's why it's the best buy on the market today.

Beneath Ford's look of tomorrow is a new "Inner Ford." The lower, wider, contoured frame allows all passengers to sit within its side rails. New springing takes the bounce out of the roughest roads. For your comfort, there's even more inside room! This new Ford body is built for keeps!

There are 5 all-new Station Wagons, too!

9-passengers, 6-passengers, two-doors, four-doors . . . and every one is a spacious cargo carrier! They all have Ford's new wrap-around liftgate for easier loading and better vision.

*A special 270-hp Thunderbird 312 Super V-8 engine available at extra cost. Also, extra-high-performance Thunderbird 312 Super V-8 engine delivering up to 285 hp.

Big is a low-priced word in the '57 FORD

Point Of View

Sanitary District: What Does It Mean To Suburbs?

It's been a month since a good-sized chunk of the northwest suburban area of Cook county was voted into Metropolitan Sanitary district of Greater Chicago. But the dust hasn't settled on the sludge beds yet.

The results of the November 6 election were decisive.

Of a total 59,330 votes cast, it passed by 10,442 votes. Northwest suburban voters gave it a majority of only about 900, however.

What happened was that voters of the south and southwestern areas of the county, now largely without sewage disposal facilities except for septic tanks, pulled the northwest areas into the district.

About 40 per cent of the land area of the county, including 5 per cent of the population, was up for annexation. Now 95 per cent of the land area of the county belongs to the district.

Three entire northwest townships—Barrington, Schaumburg and Hanover—and sections of 4 townships not already in the district—Wheeling, Elk Grove, Palatine and Northfield—were taken into the district.

Locally, annexation carried by these margins: Elk Grove, 200; Wheeling, 500; Palatine, 1,000; Schaumburg, 450; and Northfield, 600; the measure was defeated by about 900 votes in both Hanover and Barrington townships.

With all doubt removed as to the wishes of the citizenry, discussion must now veer in another direction—to the implications of the annexation.

A Fly In The Ointment . . .

As of November 7, responsibility for treating sanitary wastes in annexed areas was transferred to the Sanitary district.

The district has authority to handle the storm water run-off but says it can't because it has no funds for the purpose. Apparently this means that Arlington Heights, Palatine and Mt. Prospect must continue to maintain Weller and Salt creeks for proper storm water drainage.

Each village will also continue to collect sewage. The district will extend, soon it says, interceptor sewers to Arlington Heights and Palatine.

To understand several phases of the whole annexation picture, it is necessary to recall its background.

In the 1955 session of the state legislature a bill was introduced to allow an annexation referendum. Presumably, this bill had the backing of Sanitary district officials.

Few, if any, local officials in northwest suburbs, knew of the bill and hence failed to oppose it. A group of 13 towns on the southern fringe of Cook county knew though, and lobbied themselves out of the referendum

This sort of tactic helps account for the exaggerations during the campaign by some suburban officials and, after the election, resentment on the part of Arlington Heights officials.

Let's examine the reactions of Barrington, Palatine and Arlington Heights to the results of the election.

Reactions To Election . . .

Barrington and Hanover townships lie within the Fox river drainage basin.

This fact, plus the fact that Barrington itself straddles the Cook-Lake county line, influenced Barrington voters to soundly reject annexation. Barrington will attempt to disconnect from the Sanitary district. According to the admission of district President Anthony Olis, Barrington has a good case.

Palatine, on the other hand, decided after the election to cooperate with the district. The lack of sewage disposal facilities in the village had forced building to a halt. Palatine village officials had vigorously opposed annexation, saying that taxpayers would pay $100,000 more to the district over a 20-year span than they would for a village-operated system.

Palatine still must pay off a bonded debt of $285,000 on its present disposal plant. After the district indicated it could not assume this burden, the debt became the principal issue in the campaigning.

Olis reasoned that newly-annexed areas would not assume past debts of the Sanitary district and that it would be unfair to ask district taxpayers to take on Palatine's financial obligations.

The situation was the same in Arlington Heights, except that the latter has a plant debt perhaps 3 times as large. According to one report, if the 2 villages were to be paid for their treatment facilities, it would have to be authorized by state legislature.

The decision of Palatine trustees to cooperate reflects the village vote, 1,887 to 1,340 for annexation.

Arlington's Dilemma . . .

Voters in 16 precincts which roughly correspond with the village limits disapproved annexation, 4,510 to 4,458. Due to an oversight, one precinct did not vote on it at all, according to the county election commission.

Arlington Heights trustees had not learned the above results prior to Tuesday night. Without determining how the voters of the village expressed themselves at the polls, trustees talked over plans to withdraw, by one means or another, from the district.

The Arlington village board instructed its attorney to learn the cost of a court test. It would apparently have been a suit to challenge the legality of the legislation that set up the election. Such a court test would probably have gone into the highest state court and would have been fought with the mighty rsources of the Sanitary district.

Trustees were expected to drop the idea when local results became known Tuesday night.

An interesting question remains: Would a suit have been worth the effort and expense?

Arlington taxpayers would pay, by trustees' estimates, a whopping $1.7 million to $2.5 million more to the district over 20 years than it would cost if the village still ran its own plant.

That amount of dollars, if correct, would buy half the legal talent on LaSalle st.

Yet one trustee confessed it is "unlikely" any court would permit the village to secede. This is because even before the election the village was bordered on 3 sides by the Sanitary district. Another reason: If Arlington were an independent island within the district, serious problems would arise if the village were to expand outward.

Add to these things the opinion that chances of winning a long, costly court suit would be slim and a gamble in court does not appear practical.

Again studying the annexation on an area-wide basis, there is an encouraging side to the picture.

For one thing, once the white elephant disposal plants are paid for, say in 35 years, taxes will drop.

Secondly, communities expand and bump up against each other. Their problems became insurmountable unless they approach them together. Drainage problems do not stop at village limits. Arlington Heights and Mt. Prospect have had differences in the past over maintenance of Weller creek, used for sanitary outfall and storm drainage.

A county-wide agency with immense funds and hundreds of experts is best equipped to deal with the present and future needs of this mushrooming area.

The future of the northwest area will best be served if all communities recognize this.

The FENCE POST

Federal Aid

I'm late this week, but finally did get around to reading your excellent editorial in the November 22 issue concerning the "Newspaper's Role in Suburban Growth."

It is indeed a reassuring experience to note the stand you have taken regarding the basic responsibility of builders and developers in the pre-planning of the communities their operations create. Experience has shown that a frequent reminder of their fundamental civic responsibilities in providing space for school expansion and parks is very much in order.

THE ONLY disturbing element in your editorial is that passage pertaining to state and federal aid to education, and specifically the statement that "some increases from these sources are in order." I submit that "great" — not "some' increases are in order.

I must confess however, that you are not alone in your opinion; I have heard similar sentiments expressed before on radio and TV, and have seen it before in the metropolitan dailies. And, frankly, I am both puzzled and concerned.

FOR SOME reason or reasons not apparent to me, local boards of education and civic groups cast a cold and very suspicious eye on proposed state and federal aid to public schools. I hope that you or some other source will tell me why, in the face of the current educational crisis, we do not seek it out to the very limit of its availability. How can we afford to do otherwise?

To date, the only basis for this perplexing reluctance to accept the help that schools so sorely need is a rather rebelous reference to the need for retaining something called "local authority."

Do the opponents to state and federal aid to schools honestly believe that these agencies are really lying in wait, dangling bait before the boards of education and ready to ambush any and all takers?

Even if we accept this somewhat absurd and far-fetched premise as true, are the goals, administrative methods, interests and educational procedures of state and federal agencies so at variance with those of the local boards as to preclude acceptance of the financial aid, which is so critreally needed now? I cannot believe that these things are true.

THE POSITION taken by the opponents of aid to schools would gain credibility if there was a suitable alternative. I know of none so far suggested.

I'm sure I speak the sentiments of thousands of northwest suburban home owners when I say that we fervently hope that additional taxation is not being proposed as the entire solution.

As a resident of the area, I know that you are acquainted with the staggering size of the tax bills already being delivered in this area each year. We are near the point now where taxation threatens to drain off much of the attraction in suburban living. If and when that happens, we'll have a real calamity on our hands.

LET'S DISPENSE with at least some of this false pride in home rule; the effective education of our children is far too important to be sacrificed while we theorize about government.

This is the north of 1956, not the south of 1860; to the best of my knowledge, Washington, D.C. and Springfield, Ill., are not alien powers. Aren't we Americans and Illinoisans first and "Cook Countians" second?

What real evidence — as differentiated from opinion or theory—is there that we really need to be concerned about, either the quality of state — and federally aided educatiion or the pseudo-tragedy of diminished 'authority."

THE TRAINING of young minds in the wonderful world of growing knowledge is all-important; and the provision of facilities to accomplish it is the most important duty of any community.

It is unthinkable that considerations of local politics should be permitted to interfere. The greatest asset we possess — — is at stake.

Such Smugness

In the Bensenville Register, November 1st, (The Mailman's Corner) appeared 'Ann Landers Victims: Are they 'Weak' Religiously?"

The entire text of this presented a smugness and condescending attitude that prompted me to comment on it.

ADMITTEDLY, there are many different types of individuals that make up this world of ours. One must recognize, then, that numerous and various problems arise among them. I suppose that those who write to her just don't know where else to turn to in asking for an unbiased reply or perhaps to get something "off their chest."

Who are we to say, without knowing the entire history of a situation, whether these people were deprived of "good early training" or are "devoid of the right kind of religious training?" Could this possibly imply that the 'right kind of religious training" results in a fanaticism of self-righteousness? This smacks a little bit to me of narrowness and intolerance.

GRANTED, this is not a world in which everyone is blessed with "good judgment," and we are all far from perfect, so why should anyone, (especially one who reads cheaper magazines and advertisements, and who finds humor in tragic jams) look down their nose at their fellow man.

True, there are some situations in Miss Landers column that call for a laugh, especially her witty replies, but anyone who gets a laugh out of some of the tragic letters must have a terribly warped sense of humor, and certainly a lack of sympathy and understanding for the next fellow.

AND JUST for the record, let me say that an unkind reference to "wicked" or "wistful" widows and "broken down" bachelors is further demonstration of the "small package" man makes when he is so utterly wrapped up in his own smug self-satisfaction.

To close on a lighter vein, let me ask if you've read her (Ann Lander's) column lately? It seems bachelors can be very happy care-free individuals (for "them as likes it") and in all fairness, let me add that widows can be very understanding and congenial company. So there now — anybody want to cry on my shoulder?

Truck Hazard

We would like to bring to your attention the need of a 4-way stop sign at Evergreen and South Elmhurst ave., and also the enforcement of the posted speed.

We have many young children on this street, and the trucks that use this street to by-pass the village seem to out number the cars. They are causing a lot of damage to the street. These are not light weight trucks. The gravel and cement trucks are going by in a steady stream. Also big trucks hauling trailers loaded with machinery. Who will have to pay when the street goes to pieces?

WE ALSO have a school located on this street and that means many small children walking to and from school.

If we wanted a home on a truck route we would have bought one there. We have a big investment in our homes, but we have a bigger investment in our children. So help us keep our children alive.

Socially Speaking

There is a very good reason why the Rolling Meadows Home Owners association membership fell off.

We all saw how it was run before Mr. Moeller took over and naturally thought it would continue as such. We want, and need, an association that does things for us — not a closely knit clic of politicians that use the association for a social club.

WE CAN have Christmas parties and picnics without belonging to an association. From Mr. Moeller's article in last week's newspaper, I believe he is serious in doing things for the people. I for one will join again and I hope many others will again and give Mr. Moeller an opportunity to show us what he can do.

MRS. HELEN Wilson, who appears at the Opera House next Friday in a great role in Grundy's comedy "The Circus Rider," has accepted a fine offer for next season, with one of the best companies in the land. It should be a matter of pride to every person in Palatine to have an opportunity to hail the success of their successful townswoman.

Schaumburg — Fred Hattendorf had his little daughter christened Martha at Schaumburg church Sunday. Those present were C. Hattendorf, Wm. Hattendorf, Henry Kruse, Henry Volkening, H. Theise, G. Pelitier and John Engelking with their families.

Everybody should prepare this winter for a big boom, that is sure to strike Arlington Heights next season.

Henry Laseke will soon be able to buy a big farm and run it with his own help. His wife presented him another fine boy Nov. 30; all are well and happy.

Blonde, Quivering Mass Of Suicide

by MARY

Under every brunette head beats the brain of a blonde.

I have been conducting my own poll, and we all know that polls are conservative. Except the Literary Digest of years ago and who is young enough to remember that?

All my life I have had a sneaking hunch that nature had slipped a stitch when she went to work on me. She made my hair dark which was not at all nice of her. I wanted to be towheaded but no one asked me until it was too late.

THINK OF the mental suffering I have suffered with this hidden desire to look like Marilyn, Jayne and Kim. Well, I only wanted to look like them hairwise. Enough is enough.

So, I ran around buttonholing members of my family, friends, acquaintances, strangers and members of parliament asking how they thought I would REALLY look as a blonde. They all smiled pityingly and said that they thought I would look just too awful for words.

With these kind words of encouragement, I decided to go ahead and live a little. Telling not a soul of my nefarious errand, I hied me off to a man I know who does things with hair for a price. Let er rip, I sez to him and sat back waiting to become a new woman.

AT ONE POINT in the process when my hair was a bright orange, I started going through the want ads hunting for a cave I could lease for about 6 months. No head of hair ever looked so peculiar and I wasn't the only one who thought so. Other customers in this emporium of beauty, and I use the word loosely, could hardly keep their eyes off me.

Embarrassment was written all over them. Hysteria was written all over me. I kept laughing merrily, albeit hollowly, saying what good fun it all was and wouldn't my family be surprised. Inside I was a quivering mass of suicide.

BUT IT ALL came out rather well. Not my hair, just the color.

I am now a honey blonde and everyone keeps saying how becoming it is, how much younger I look, that I never looked so well. I told that nature a thing or two. I must have been a mess.

Just Around The Corner From Patty McArdle

Christmas Revives Candles

Dear Peg:

With Christmas and holiday entertaining almost here, you're probably planning, like I am, Christmas decorations for your home. Since one of the most important features of Christmas decorating is the use of candles, I want to tell you a little about what I read in a booklet published by the Victrylite Candle company. Some of these tips on the etiquette of candle usage as well as ideas for Christmas decorating came as news to me and I thought might interest you.

Candles lend an irresistible charm and inviting warmth to any room at any time. Unfortunately, most of the time we are too busy or rushed to bother with candle decorating—we do well to have one little candle lighted on the dinner table occasionally. (In fact, our family does well to even sit down at the dinner table occasionally—usually it's in front of the television set. The children think dinner tables and coffee tables are the same things.)

However, at Christmas time candles receive their proper attention and we enjoy using them on tables, mantles and in sconces. No matter what the occasion, candles are always proper after dusk and may also be lighted on a luncheon table if the day is dark. If you use candles on a table during the day and don't light them, the wicks should be charred anyway. Use fresh candles whenever you use them and be sure they are lighted before guests enter a room and not extinguished before the guests leave the room.

Have you ever tried to look at and talk to someone across the table from you with a lighted candle in your direct line of vision? Then you know how annoying, to say nothing of blinding, the glare is. Candle flame should always be above eye level. For formal occasions use white or ivory tapers in crystal or silver holders. For less formal entertaining unusual and attractive effects can be made with colored candles in any type container. Try using different colored candles in the same candelabrum (the small thin taperlites lend themselves well to this type of arrangement).

During the Christmas season jeweled candles are especially lovely. Sequins, pearls or glitter can be glued on easily. If you have an entrance hall table to decorate, try three of those big plump candles, in different sizes, on coasters or set in paper foil (they stand without holders) and around their bases place sprigs of evergreen or holly. Coffee tables lend themselves to many arrangements with smaller candles (the size of the candles should correspond to the size of table to be decorated). Two short fat candles of "rope" design placed in a shallow dish of water and surrounded with cut flowers — red carnations would be pretty—provide a lovely conversation piece. An unusual arrangement can be made with several petite pencil-thin tapers in a graceful wrought iron holder. With little children around, however, you perhaps won't be interested in coffee table arrangements involving candles.

A mantel will fairly glow if you use an arrangement of evergreen boughs, three various sized candles on one end of the mantel, a big Santa candle in the middle and 5 or 6 short, fat candles on the other end. One of my friends always has the family Bible lying opened to the Christmas story in the middle of the mantel with one tall candle on each side. Hang a bright holly wreath over your mantel and trim the mantel with more holly. On each side of the mantel use giant size red Yule candles. Because of their paragum bases, many candles will stand without holders, so you can use them in your antique glass compotes with fruit and nuts or evergreen and ornaments. Candles can be had in almost any size, shape and color so you have a large variety to select from. The important point to remember in decorating with candles is to make your arrangements interesting and eye-catching by varying the sizes, colors and the placements of candles.

". . . Good fellowship grows warmer 'mid surroundings mellowed in a taper's soft glow. Fine wine becomes headier; the simplest meal becomes a memorable occasion . . . and the dreams and schemes of the young in heart take wing in candlelight fantasy . . ."

My love, Patty.

MARCHING FOR MUSCULAR DYSTROPHY

Unique Inverness Countryside Home Of Emory Moore Charm Personified

Utter simplicity and ease of living are the keynotes of the Emory Moore home in Inverness Countryside, boulder and cedar siding Palatine. Settled into a hill as though it had grown there, the split Wisconsin house is charm personified. Architect Charles Klopp, Palatine, has designed such features as an indoor-outdoor kennel for the Moore collie and indoor-outdoor living for the Moore family.

SERENITY AND CHARM are typified in the master bedroom. Colors from the two modern oil paintings are picked up in the bedspreads and draperies.

LENDING A COLORFUL NOTE to the entrance hall is the peacock designed and made by Mrs. Wearing and Mrs. Sersen, decorators.

THE DOOR to the main hall was hand carved with 5 signs of the Zodiac depicting family birthdays etched into the blond wood. Woodcarver John O. Torell, Palatine was commissioned for this work.

The family room is the hub. Here it is that Mr. and Mrs. Moore and their 3 sons, Terry, Mickey and Timmy gather to watch television, listen to the Hi-Fi and just generally live.

Placed to their best advantage on the stone fireplace wall of this room is a collection of early weapons. The iron pike or halberd dates back to 1650. The large Moorish shield made of rhinoceros skin was brought to England around 1700 from Morocco.

DIRECTLY under the shield is a victorian sword and sheath dated 1837 while the German helmet was the headgear of a member of the Kaiser's Imperial Guard.

The interior was designed and decorated by Dorothy Wearing Inc., Barrington. Mrs. Wearing and her associate, Mildred Sersen, Fox River Grove, have taken into consideration the house, the people who live there and the setting and their own ingenuity and the result is integrated beauty.

Using local artists wherever possible, Mrs. Wearing and Mrs. Sersen have had several objects executed especially for the Moores. The fireplace screen patterns the stone of the fireplace wall and was done by Harold Kerr, Palatine.

KERR, whose studio is on Dundee rd., also did the figurine in metal that stands in a niche in the sitting room. Sharing this wall is an old zither restored by Mrs. Sersen and touched lightly with gold.

The sitting room, family room and story book kitchen extend living to the outdoors through the glass walls overlooking the yard and the golf course.

The bedroom wing is on the upper level of this split level home. Terry, a high school senior, has a modern room paneled in a rosy hued wood imported from South America.

THE MASTER bedroom and dressing room are done in peacock blue fabrics complementing dark woods of the furniture.

The Moores have achieved that American goal, family living in the modern way, and the result is completely lovely.

Beta Sigma Phi Fills Thanksgiving Baskets

A meeting of the Lambda Delta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi was held recently at the home of Juanita Styczykowski of Hoffman Estates. It was reported that there was enough food collected to fill 4 baskets which were given to a worthy family in the area at Thanksgiving time.

Three members transfering from other chapters, Marge Pagani of Peru, Ill., Janet Heyde of Hawaii and Jean Trout of Lena, Ill., were welcomed. Pat Scott of Fairgrounds Park is the latest pledge. Pledge training will be held 2 Mondays every month for the next 6 months. Members spent the social time of the meeting making ornaments for the Christmas party to be held at the Countryside School for Retarded Children at Lake Zurich.

Members have also been sewing pillows and Christmas stockings to be filled with toys and fruits for the children at the school.

A pledge ceremony and the ritual of jewels will be held at the Fahrman hotel, Lake Zurich, December 8 at 8 p.m. Husbands have been invitd to a dinner dance immediately following the ceremonies. Dorothy Kirkwood, Fran Justi, Elaine Luce, Ronnie Dupin, Margaret Leway, Georgina Winkleman and Marilyn Danz are to be given their ritual of jewel pins.

A party for children of members of the sorority will be held at Georgina Winkleman's home in Orchard Hills from 7 to 9 p.m. December 10.

No further meetings of the chapter will be held until January 12.

Arlington Nurses Donate $1000 To Hospital Fund

Members of Arlington Heights Nurses club voted at their November meeting to donate $1,000 to the Northwest Community Hospital fund. This sum has been raised by the club through various projects, such as card parties, bake sales, dolls, style shows and rummage sales.

Completely separate from these funds, money is also raised through the year expressly for the lending closet. Because of the great demand for the sick-room supplies which the Lending Closet dispenses without charge to residents of Arlington Heights, article are constantly being replaced.

This donation of $1,000 is the second one made to the hospital fund by the Arlington Heights Nurses club. Last year $1,500 was given toward the purchase of the land for the hospital site. (S

When Mrs. Lawrence R. Smith served her Date Pudding to the Plum Grove Garden club recently, members were so enthusiastic that several requested the recipe.

That was reason enough for this good cook to choose that recipe to share with us today, in addition to the fact that it is one of her favorites.

Made from a family recipe, it is easy to prepare and always a success. All ingredients are just placed in a bowl and mixed by hand to make this pudding, which is in reality a moist-textured cake. Dates are in the cake as well as the topping, and it is served with whipped cream.

This rich, tasty Date Pudding will serve 18 to 24 persons, and thus is ideal for large groups. However, it can be frozen successfully, and so can be prepared for small families, too.

The Smiths live at 308 S. Hale in Palatine. Mrs. Smith is a charter member and vice-president of the Plum Grove Garden club.

Date Pudding

1½ cups dates, cut up
1 teaspoon soda
1½ cups hot water
½ cup shortening (Crisco)
1 cup sugar
1½ cups all-purpose flour
1 egg
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon vanilla

Put all ingredients into one bowl in the order listed and mix by hand. Bake in a greased 9 by 12 inch tin 40 minutes in 350 degree oven.

Topping

1 cup dates, cut fine
1 cup sugar
¾ cup hot water

Mix ingredients together and cook until thick. Add ½ cup nutmeats. Spread on pudding while topping is still hot. Serve with whipped cream. Pudding may be cut into 18 large or 24 medium-size pieces.

Squeeze your Florida oranges every day for delicious vitamin-C rich juice but save a few for pomanders—they're fine Christmas gifts that you can make yourself. Even in the days of "good Queen Bess" pomanders were "efficacious in keeping away musty scents" from closets and linen shelves. Make them now for their fragrance is best a few weeks after they are made.

Select thin-skinned oranges (easiest to stick cloves into), or grapefruit for bigger pomanders, and follow these directions. If you prefer, you can make your own scents from different spice combinations.

FLORIDA POMANDER

Florida oranges
White cloves
Powdered orris root
Ground cinnamon

Select firm oranges for making pomanders. With fork tines, make rows of holes in the skin. Stick whole cloves into the holes until the rind is completely covered. Roll orange in a mixture of equal parts of orris root and ground cinnamon. Pat in as much of the powdered mixture as will adhere to the orange. Wrap the pomander in tissue paper or other soft paper for several weeks. Remove the paper, shake off any loose powder, and the pomander is ready for use in drawers or in linen shelves.

To hang in a closet, crochet a loose circular cradle, or simply tie the pomander with a piece of ribbon, ending in a loop.

TOWN AND COUNTRY CHORUS, composed of residents of Palatine, Arlington Heights and Mt. Prospect and other local communities, will present its annual program of Christmas music in 3 performances at Arlington high school this weekend. Saturday and Sunday evenings the performance is at 8:15 and a Sunday matinee begins at 2:30 p. m. Proceeds will go to the Northwest Community hospital. (Crofoot Studio

U. S. Starts Chicago Area Housing Survey December 6

Approximately 40,000 homes in the Chicago standard metropolitan area will be covered as part of the National Housing inventory which gets underway locally December 6, according to Robert D. Krook of the Census Bureau's field staff who will direct the survey.

About 50 persons will be employed in the survey which will supply current information on the number and characteristics of dwelling units now in existence in the Chicago area.

The survey will also furnish facts on the losses and gains resulting from new construction, conversions and demolitions since 1950, providing the first measurement of the local housing supply since the 1950 Census of Housing.

THE SURVEY will show size and age of houses, rents paid, value of homes, condition of houses, vacancies, plumbing facilities and characteristics of families living in the houses covered in the survey.

Information will be gathered also on outstanding mortgage debt, interest rates, use of conventional and government-insured mortgages, second mortgages and monthly payments, if amortized.

ENUMERATORS for the National Housing inventory were given a 3-day training course December 3, 4 and 5 and will start their rounds December 6.

It is expected that the survey will be completed in 3 to 4 weeks.

Separate figures for the Chicago area will be compiled with preliminary statistics scheduled for release in the summer of 1957 with final reports set for the fall. In addition, housing statistics for a number of small areas within the City of Chicago will be provided by the survey. The Chicago Housing authority is furnishing the funds for the additional data.

Krook pointed out that all information furnished to the Census Bureau is kept confidential by law and only statistical totals and averages are published.

At Ripon

A total of 164 Ripon College students pledged fraternities and sororities on the Ripon campus last week as the annual pledging practice got underway. Of the total 93 of the pledges were men who were pledged to seven fraternities and 71 vere women who were pledged to Ripon's five sororities.

The students will be pledges of their respective organizations until spring, at which time they will become actives.

Among those pledged:

David K. Miller, 639 S. Lincoln, Arlington Heights, Sigma Chi.

Donald Drewes, 460 Buffalo Grove rd., Arlington Heights, Lambda Delta Alpha.

Lynn Becker, Lake Zurich, Lamba Delta Alpha.

Patricia Carroll, 101 Kenilworth, Prospect Heights, Delta Phi Sigma.

Patricia Baron, Rand rd., Arlington Heights, Pi Delta Omega.

At Carleton

James Plambeck, freshman student at Carleton College from Arlington Heights, is a member of the lights committee for "Six Characters in Search of An Author," Carleton college players' production being presented December 4-8 in Nourse Little theatre.

This particular play is composed of 2 main groups, the director and actors who are rehearsing in the theater, and the family of 6 characters in search of an author to express the drama within them.

Plambeck is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Plambeck, 819 S. Vail ave., Arlington Heights.

At Dubuque

The drama spotlight at the University of Dubuque moved from the Campus Lane theatre to the open spaces of Peters Commons, as "theatre-in-the-round" is re-introduced on the campus. Two one-act plays were presented in the round Friday evening.

Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatics fraternity, sponsored the evening's entertainment, for which Daniel Hansen of Odebolt, Iowa, is producer. "Salt for Savior" was directed by Norman Stenzel of 135 Warren ave., Palatine. (CC

At Wisconsin

Ginger Rogan, 756 E. Chicago st., Palatine, was among 7 students at the University of Wisconsin recently initiated into the Wisconsin chapter of Alpha Xi Delta social sorority at the university. (CC

At Grinnell

Miss Janice Pearson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Pearson of 56 S. Greeley, Palatine, will be a member of the shepherds' chorus in the Grinnell college opera workshop production of Gian-Carlo Menotti's Christmas opera, "Amahl and the Night Visitors," to be presented Friday, Dec. 7.

Miss Pearson, a junior at Grinnell, is a 1954 graduate of Palatine township high school.

At Augustana

Miss Margaret J. Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert C. Anderson, 616 S. Bristol Lane, Arlington Heights, has pledged Chi Omega Gamma sorority at Augustana college, Rock Island, where she is a freshman. She is a graduate of Arlington high school. (CC

At Cornell

Forty-three students at Cornell university, Ithaca, N.Y., have been named members of Aleph Samach and Red Key, junior men's honorary societies.

Included is George E. Bullwinkel, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Bullwinkel, 416 WeGo Trail, Mt. Prospect, college of engineering.

Wooster Alumni

Northwestern university school of speech graduate, Professor William C. Craig will be the main speaker at the annual dinner of the Chicago alumni chapter of Wooster college to be held at the Chicago Engineer's Club, 314 S. Federal street, at 6 p.m., December 7. (CC

At Carleton

The annual Carleton college service fund drive, under the direction of student chairman Richard McAuliffe, senior from Arlington Heights, has exceeded its assigned goal of $6,500 by $1,000.

Student and faculty contributions totaled more than $7,550 during the 10-day drive.

About 97 per cent of the student body participated in the drive, giving an average of $8 each. (CC

At Valparaiso

Miss Corinne Anstedt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Anstedt, of 303 Hiawatha Trail, Mt. Prospect, was one of 200 students recognized November 15 at a Valparaiso university honors convocation for high grade point averages during the spring semester, 1955-56.

Miss Anstedt, a sophomore compiled a 2.06 average out of a 3.00 maximum possible.

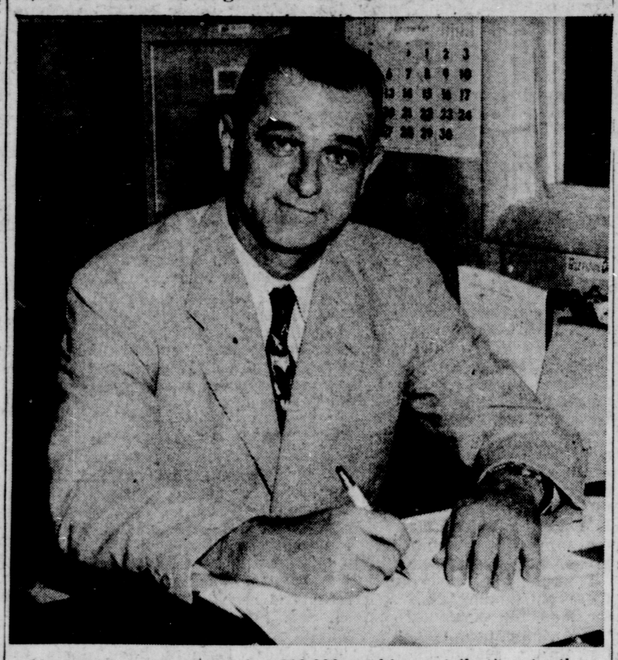
European Eating Habits Are Going To The Dogs

by BILL DILLINGHAM

Some Europeans eat their own dogs.

In Germany, there are legalized dog slaughterhouses. The existence of such business is partly explained by the widespread belief that dog meat is helpful in curing and preventing tuberculosis.

Germany is the single country of Europe where it is legal to trade in dog meat. It has been said that this is the only land in the world that produces a genuine hot-dog. All the rest make imitations.



SIGNING A PLEDGE for $10,000 as his contribution to the Northwest Community Hospital center is Max Rhodes, president of Rhodes, Inc., Arlington Heights. (Staff photo

AN INN NORTH of Hamburg gained local fame by listing on their menu a tragically comical dish: "Poodle-noodle soup, one mark, with bread." (Pudle-Nudle Suppe, eine Mark, mit Brot).

The World Federation for the Protection of Animals, which met in the Hague, Holland last year, sent an appeal to the Bonn Government asking for strict laws in defense of dogs. This group also made public the information that canine calories have no special affect on tuberculosis.

In Switzerland it is quite legal to kill a dog for the purpose of eating it, but not to make a business out of the meat. The Swiss delegate to this meeting, Mr. A. Kuhnle, affirmed that every man should have the right to kill his own dog. The British delegrate, Mr. Cecil Schwartz, added: "All over the world it is permitted to kill your own dog, but nobody in England would dream of eating it."

SOME BUSINESSMEN believe that these slaughterhouses do a service to the community by clearing up the streets of stray animals.

The slaughterhouses employ a particularly macabre system for the actual killing. A metal ring is fixed about four feet from the ground to a building wall. A chain runs from the dog's neck through the ring to a man's hand. When the chain is pulled, the animal's neck is drawn tightly against the wall, and the dog remains completely helpless. The actual killing is done with a club.

NO LAWS in Germany curb the manner in which one may kill such convicted dogs. In Neider-Sachsen, however, a veterinary must inspect the slaughterhouse with an eye toward sanitation.

To recruit victims, some businessmen pay a small sum of money to children who will bring in the dogs.

It might be taking a chance, therefore, to leave Rover tied up outside of a store while doing one's shopping.

Wieboldt's Okayed

Cook county board last week approved rezoning of 28 farmland acres east of Maine Township High school and lying between Dempster and Ballard to permit construction of a shopping center which will include a Wieboldt's department store.

NEEDLE in the GROOVE

by PAUL LITTLE

Some exceptional platters this week, ideal choices for your Christmas gift list! So excellent is their sound that we transferred them to tape to preserve their quality, using the Thorens manual turntable with "Miratwin" cartridge connected to the Brociner Mark 30C Audio Control Center preamplifier, which in turn was hooked into the phonograph input of the Webcor Royal Coronet Portable tape recorder; this was operated at a speed of 7½ inches per second for full-range symphonic sound, using Reeves Soundcraft Plus 50 magnetic tape for best audio results. Our Yuletide wish to you is that you get all these components plus the discs!

The heartwarming 12-inch disc comes from Folkways Records and Service Corp. of New York City, "With Voices Together We Sing," featuring that great American tuning-fork Pete Seeger with his banjo as leader in an audience participation concert of folk songs recorded at a concert for 500 teachers at New York's Museum of Modern Art in New York last fall. Pete's wonderful zest communicates itself to the audience, and the result is an old-fashioned singfest in the best tradition of the word. You'll be enchanted by his versions of "Risselty-Rosselty," "Oleanna," "Que Bonita Bandera," the beautifully poignant "Streets of Laredo" and Chanukah, O Chanukah," and the rousingly rhythmic "Wimeweh." One of the most enjoyable lps ever issued!

FROM A NEW and enterprising disc firm, Heritage Productions Corp., also of New York City, we cite the 12-inch first-time waxing of Reinhold Gliere's passionately romantic First Symphony in E Flat, Opus 8, which is paired with the contemporary Russian composer Muraviev's fiery "Heroic Poem." Gliere, who died this year at the age of 81, is best known for his tremendously epic "Ilia Mourometz" (Westminster's discing is the finest version); the First Symphony is a youthful but extremely original work. Very good sound from the Russian tapes.

Victor brings us a glorious 12-inch album by our own beloved Chicago Symphony Orchestra under Dr. Fritz Reiner (LM-1999) which programs some of the most exciting music ever written for orchestra: a blazing performance of Tschaikowsky's "1812 Overture," a hauntingly compelling rendition of Liszt's "Mephisto Waltz," the buoyant, effervescent gayety of Dvorak's spirited "Carneval Overture" Weinberger's "Polka and Fugue from Schwanda," and Smetana's "Bartered Bride" Overture. Sound is breathtaking!

Also from Victor, a collector's item in jazz legendry: "Hugues Panassie's Guide to Jazz," a 12-inch disc issued simultaneously with Panassie's authoritative book of the same title under the Houghton Mifflin Company's auspices.

He has chosen 16 selections by the greatest artists jazz has ever known: as examples, we cite Duke Ellington soloing in his own memorable "Black and Tan Fantasie," Coleman Hawkins' lyrical tenor sax styling in "My Blue Heaven," Fletcher Henderson's famous "Sugar Foot Stomp."

IAA Urges Soil Bank Corn Base Acreage Vote Dec. 11

Strong endorsement of the soil bank corn base acreage alternative in the December 11 corn referendum vote was voiced today by the board of directors of Illinois Agricultural association.

Otto Steffey, IAA president, said that the organization — representing more than 200,000 Illinois farm families — is taking a positive stand in the upcoming referendum vote.

The referendum will give farmers an opportunity to choose between the soil bank base which carries a 51 million acre corn base for the commercial corn area or the old acreage allotment which provides only 37.3 million acres of corn in the area.

"CORN FARMERS can decide for themselves whether they want to stop runaway corn and feed production or whether they want to return to a plan which has discriminated against the corn belt and driven feed grain production to other areas," Steffey pointed out.

To spur action throughout the state in behalf of the soil bank base plan, the IAA is staging a Farm Bureau leaders meeting at noon Friday in the Illinois Building theater on the Illinois State Fairgrounds in Springfield.

Plans for a vigorous campaign supporting the soil bank base plan will be laid.

"The IAA board unanimously approved this strong action because it felt Illinois farmers should keep a corn base they can live with, keep corn production in the corn belt, give the soil bank plan a chance to work, keep competing feed grains off diverted acres, and protect the interests of all Illinois farmers," Steffey added.

"Although the referendum directly affects only corn farmers, it has a serious effect on all Illinois farmers," Steffey said. "Since corn is Illinois' number one crop, the welfare of the corn farmer has a marked effect on agriculture throughout the state.

"Long and serious study went into our fight to get a workable corn base of 51 million acres. We've got a corn base we can live with. Let's not lose the ground we've gained," Steffey warned.

IN ORDER to carry, the soil bank base plan must receive a two-thirds majority vote. All land-owners and tenants in Illinois who grew corn in 1956 are eligible to vote.

Cattle Survive Winter Better If Treated For Lice

Cattle will go through the winter feeding period in better condition if you treat them for cattle lice.

Dr. M. E. Mansfield, extension veterinarian on the staff of the Dixon Springs experiment station of the University of Illinois, says that cattle lice generally increase during the winter.

By spring heavily infested animals may have so many lice that their vitality and resistance are lowered and their rate of gain is slowed.

Lice rarely cause the death of cattle, Dr. Mansfield reports. But cattle in poor condition from lice may die if exposed to severe weather. Lousy cattle commonly rub off patches of their hair coat.

LICE SPEND their entire lives on the animals. The adult females glue the eggs to the hair of the host animal, and these eggs hatch into nymphs wthin 1 or 2i weeks. The nymphs mature into adult lice in another 10 days to 3 weeks.

Spraying the animals thoroughly in the fall will eliminate this wintertime problem, according to the veterinarian. You can apply the insecticide as a spray, dip or dust, but on most farms a power sprayer or a hand-operated garden-type sprayer is handiest.

Just remember that the spray should thoroughly wet the animals. Some farmers have reported getting good control of lice with backrubbers.

METHOXYCHLOR and lindane are the two most widely used insecticides. Apply methoxychlor at a .5 per cent concentration and lindane at a .03 to .06 per cent concentration in sprays. The amount to use will vary from one-half to 2 gallons, depending on equipment, size of animal and length of hair coat.

It is important not to wet the animals during cold weather because of the danger from pneumonia or other respiratory trouble. (Fm

DOWN ON THE FARM

with Your Farm Adviser CARL F. MEES

I spent a day this past week at the National 4-H club congress. I would like to state that this was one of the most impressive events that I have ever attended.

The day I attended, the program consisted of an "around the world program" of 4-H or similar rural youth organization. There were representatives from more than 20 countries at the meeting. It is interesting to know that such fine work is being done in other countries.

THE PROGRAM throughout the day was packed with educational and recreational features. All of the 4-H members were really enjoying themselves. There were 31 4-H'ers from Illinois at the meeting. We felt quite fortunate in having two from Cook County, Ronald Kohlman, Rich-Breman Go-Getters, Tinley Park and Julia Gray, Palos Heights 4-H Club, Palos Heights, Illinois. Both of these delegates have been club members for many years.

Erwin Schmid, Barrington Pioneer's 4-H Club, Barrington, is another outstanding club member. He received a four day trip to Chicago sponsored by the C & E I Railroad. This was held at the same time as the club congress, but separate meetings.

I would like to congratulate these outstanding club members for their fine achievements.

One sometimes wonders about the future leadership for our country; who will take over when some of the older leaders retire. When we attend meetings of this type, where some of the finest youths in America are gathered, our spirits and morales are bolstered. When I saw the leadership displayed by the more than 1500 outstanding 4-H members at this meeting, my position is reaffirmed that there is new leadership being developed all the time.

INDIAN AGRICULTURE

The United States has cooperated with the Indian Government in trying to get India established on a sound economic and agricultural basis.

The agricultural extension service, University of Illinois has sent several extension workers to India to help establish an extension program.

This past week an agricultural extension worker from India spoke at a meeting which I attended. Following are a few interesting facts he related to us.

India has been an independent country for only a short time, since 1947. There are 14 different languages spoken in the country. They are trying to get a common language established. It is difficult to get anything done if the people cannot understand each other. Seventy per cent of the population depends on agricultural for a way of life.

MOST OF THE farms are family sized farms averaging 5 acres each. This five ac[illegible] wil probably be in three different tracts in 3 villages. Crops do not produce as they should. At times partly because of the rainfall. While the total amount of rain is usually adequate to produce good crops, it is poorly distributed. Sometimes 30 to 40 inches of rain falls 3 - 5 days.

Most farmers have debts to pay off and cannot make improvements as they would like. He stated they were quite inadequately financed.

When the average size of the farm is 5 acres, I wonder if they can ever be adequately financed. He had many interesting facts to relate to us and he was quite impressed with our country and our farmers. (FM

Beat Drought With Small Stream Irragation Project

Illinois now has more than 300 irrigators and many more farmers are considering the possibility of irrigating to beat the drought.

This is a good time of year to do some planning, because of a dam or artificial reservoir may be needed. Smaller streams often have an intermittent flow of water, and some type of impounding device is needed to make water available during the months of greatest demand.

Since landowners along a stream have the right to use all the water they need for household purposes and for watering livestock, a farmer must take into account all of these uses before deciding to irrigate.

ALSO, THE Illinois courts have said that all of the landowners next to a stream have an equal right to use the water for artificial purposes, such as for irrigation and manufacturing.

And the fact that one farmer starts using stream water for irrigation before anyone else does not give him any special right to the water if the others want to irrigate later.

BECAUSE OF these legal rules, the following suggestions are offered to those farmers who may be thinking about spending money on a dam or reservoir:

1. Find out what uses are being made of water downstream, and determine whether the water supply is adequate.

2. Calculate your own needs for irrigation, and estimate the reduction in supply to lower owners. It may be necessary to consult an engineer to decide this point.

3. If downstream water use would be substantially reduced by your withdrawal of water, contact the lower owners or meet with all of them at one time and discuss the problem. Reach an agreement on usage if possible.

* * *

4. ASK FOR permission to stop the flow temporarily while the reservoir is filling.

5. If the water will be backed up on an upper owner, get his consent.

6. Contact the State Division of Waterways to find out whether a permit is needed to construct a water-holding device in that stream.

Failure to follow these suggestions may lead to litigation and a court decree requiring removal of the impounding structure or device.

How Corn Vote Affects Soil Bank

The soil bank program will be available for farmers in 1957 no matter how the December 11 corn referendum turns out, L. H. Simerl, University of Illinois farm policy specialist, pointed out today. But if the base acreage program is approved, farmers will have to put 15 per cent of their corn base into the soil bank if they want price support on corn.

If a farmer wants to put land into the acreage reserve, the 15 per cent must be taken from the base acreage. But if he puts 15 per cent of his base acreage into the conservation reserve, he can plant his full base acreage to corn and still get price support.

IF THE ACREAGE allotment plan goes into effect, farmers will not be required to put land into the soil bank to get price support, but they will not be able to plant as much corn as under the base acreage plan.

Soil bank payment rate for the acreage reserve part of the program will be the same as in 1956 — 90 cents a bushel. This amount will be multiplied by the normal yield on each farm to get the payment per acre. If normal yield is 60 bushels, payment would be $54 an acre.

Under the conservation reserve, payments will range from $9 to $14 an acre. (FM

Stream Pollution Cases Raise Legal Questions

A number of prominent stream pollution cases in recent years have brought questions about the legal rights of persons downstream.

Cities and villages have caused most of the trouble because of inadequate sewage disposal facilities. However, some difficulty also has arisen from a few corporations with large amounts of waste disposal.

Many farmers rely on streams or rivers for domestic water supply and irrigation. Family and friends also use the water for swimming, fishing and boating. Pollution restricts or completely cuts out these uses.

ILLINOIS LAW gives protection to landowners. It states that a landowner has a right to have streams flow through his land free of pollution. Cities and villages are required to construct sewage treatment plants approved by the state if a stream is used for sewage discharge.

There is a special group at Springfield called the Sanitary Water Board which hears and investigates complaints of pollution. This board has the authority to order a city, village, corporation or an individual to build adequate treatment facilities within a specified time. If the order is not followed, the board may obtain a court injuction to stop further pollution and may impose a fine of $500 plus an additional $100 for each day of violation.

There is another remedy under the Illinois Criminal Code that makes it unlawful to corrupt or render any source of water unwholesome or impure. If a farmer's source of water is being polluted, he may ask the state's attorney to take action. If the state's attorney finds that the law is being violated, he can bring a criminal action against the wrongdoer.

A CONVICTION under the criminal code carries a maximum fine of $1,000 and one year's imprisonment. Also, the court may order the sheriff to abate the source of pollution.

Wrongful pollution may also be stopped by bringing a civil suit in the circuit court, asking for an injuction. By this action, damages may be recovered for injury that has already resulted from the pollution. (Fm

Some Legume, Grass Seeds May Be In Short Supply

Farmers may find some legume and grass seed hard to get for 1957 planting. But total supplies should be adequate, even though dry weather cut production this year, says Earl Spurrier, University of Illinois agronomist. The large carryover of 1955 seed will help to bridge over the short 1956 crop.

You should be able to get all the alfalfa and red clover you'll need, even though the seed crop was smaller this year. Carryover from last year will help to make up the difference. Sweet clover could be a little hard to find because of smaller acreage and lower yields.

SPURRIER SUGGESTS that farmers wanting to seed bromegrass should locate their source of seed now. Producers harvested one-fourth less seed this year and the smallest crop in 8 years. Only half as much Kentucky bluegrass seed was produced this year as last. But the carryover is the largest in 5 years.

Timothy also suffered from dry weather, and growers harvested a 45 per cent smaller seed crop. But Spurrier says other grasses can replace timothy, so the shortage of that seed may not be critical.

More encouraging is the orchardgrass seed picture. The crop is 2 per cent larger than last year, and imports have been high. This grass will make a good substitute for brome or other grasses.

Stocks of fescue, bentgrass, perennial ryegrass, anual ryegrass and sudan grass left over from last year will help to fill the shortage in the 1956 grass seed crop, Spurrier says. Fm

Referendum, To Decide Corn Acreage As Well As Price

The corn referendum on December 11 may decide the amount of corn a farmer will grow, as well as the support price, points out L. H. Simerl, University of Illinois farm policy specialist. Simerl also reminds farmers that the referendum will decide the corn program for the next three years, and not just f[illegible]

The amount of corn to be planted under the base acreage or the acreage allotment program can be much more significant than the differences in the announced 1957 support prices under the 2 programs, Simerl explains.

THE NATIONAL base acreage set by law is 51 million acres for the next three years. The acreage allotment is variable, depending on the supply of corn. The national acreage allotment was about 50 million acres in 1955 and has shrunk to 37.3 million in 1957. If corn supplies increase further, the national allotment will become still smaller.

Support price under the base acreage-soil bank program is set by the Secretary of Agriculture. He is required to set it at a level that will help farmers sell their corn in normal trade channels. The support price for the base acreage program in 1957 will be $1.31 a bushel. Simerl expects that for 1958 and 1959 it will continue within a few cents of this rate.

UNDER THE acreage allotment program, the support price will be $1.36 a bushel in 1957. For 1958 and 1959, Simerl points out that the support could drop to the 75 percent of parity minimum allowed by law, or to around $1.25 a bushel. (FM

Atrophic Rhinitis Slows Growth Of Infected Pigs

Although atrophic rhinitis apparently doesn't affect productivity in swine, it slows up the growth rate of infected pigs after weaning.

Veterinarians at the college of veterinary medicine at the University of Illinois point out that recent studies by the U. S. department of agriculture indicate that some diseased animals show no outward ill effects from the disease. The economic loss comes in slower growth in affected pigs.

IN ADDITION, pneumonia may occur as a secondary complication of the disease. One symptom is crooked snouts and noticeable facial contortions in diseased pigs.

Persistent sneezing is an early — and sometimes the only — symptom of the disease. Other symptoms may include nose bleeding, nasal mucous discharge, coughing or irritation of the snout, which may cause the pig to rub against the ground or some other solid object.

Veterinarians don't know the cause of or an effective cure for atrophic rhinitis. However, antibiotics may help infected swine gain weight.

HERE ARE some control plans suggested by the college of veterinary medicine:

1. Farrow sows in isolated lots and individual farrowing houses, and keep sows and pigs isolated until weaning time. Select breeding stock from litters that show no sneezing or coughing and isolate them from the rest of the herd.

2. Sell all hogs in an infected herd; then disinfect the premises and leave them vacant for three to four months. Restock with animals from farms where no atrophic rhinitis has been found.

3. Take baby pigs from an infected sow when they are 24 hours old or less, and raise them in disease-free surroundings.

Commercialism

The U.S. department of agriculture states that is is not commercially possible to grow coffee in the United States because of the high cost of labor and land.

Has Your 4-H Club Morale To End Year Successfully?

by C. V. FORT

T. T. Martin, associate editor of National 4-H News had this article in the November issue.

Club morale is a lot of things and they are a result of previous club experiences. How do you build up these experiences?

HERE ARE 11 ways:

1. Encourage the formation of friendships, and see that shy members are presented to the group in such a way that they will not be subjected to unjust criticism and ridicule.

2. Use the national 4-H club pledge, motto, emblem, slogans and songs on proper occasions; and the flag, ceremonials and rituals as needed. It is well to bear in mind, though that too much repetition may rob these symbols of meaning.

3. Assign each member one or more jobs, and see that such are done well enough for every member to take just pride in the accomplishments.

4. Guard against favoritism.

5. OFFER such challenges to your group as: "You did it once; you can do it again."

6. Promote self-respect among the members, for this also begets respect for you leaders and others.

7. Much can be accomplished by letting your group members know that they are expected to carry out responsibilities on their own.

8. Give credit for suggestions contributed by a member of the club or by other leaders.

9. SHOW appreciation for growth and development. Preferably commendation should be given in public; reproof, in private where possible, by the so-called "sandwich method" — a criticism between two compliments. This has been proved an effective means of insuring improved behavior.

10. Trace false rumors back to their sources and stop them by making the correct information public.

11. Do not minimize difficulties ahead, but encourage members to face situations as they arise.

EVERY INDIVIDUAL MEMBER AND GROUP HAS SOME DEGREE OF MORALE, BUT WHAT YOU NEED IS HIGH MORALE.

That's the club which completes its projects 100 per cent — not one year but every year.

You need to have high morale, too, if you are to inspire your members with it. So face up to the problem, and solve it. (FM

Up And Doing 4-H Receives Awards

At the annual 4-H recognition night Monday, Nov. 19, the Up and Doing 4-H club received the county health award and the Club of the Year, an honor which has been given this club 4 consecutive years and 7 out of the 9 years since the award was started.

Individual honors were as follows: county project honor, Marcy Beigel, Theona Popp, Nancy Garlisch; county project and state project honors to Sandra Busse and Judy Moehling; county outstanding and frozen foods medal also presented to Judy Moehling; Diane Deeke, county project and state project honors, county outstanding, state outstanding, C. and E.I. railway trip, medals for home improvement, frozen foods, home economics, foods preparation and dress revue and blue ribbon for essay on electricity.

The girls received the awards at a special club recognition night Tuesday, Nov. 20. The mothers were invited. After the presentations refreshments were served and bunco was played.

Mrs. Alvin Moehling, leader of the club, is attending Singer Sewing Machine instructions on 'Learning to Know Your Machine." (4-H

Holiday Party To Mark 15th Year For Wheeling Home Bureau

A Christmas party has been planned by Wheeling Home Bureau for Thursday, Dec. 13, and will celebrate the unit's 15th anniversary.

The business meeting will be held from 10 a.m. until noon, at which time Mrs. C. E. Hill and Mrs. F. Sesterhenn will give the lesson on "Helping Children Grow in Responsibility."

Luncheon will be served by a special Christmas committee consisting of regular board members, assisted by Mrs. Joseph Clemens and Mrs. J. M. Danielson.

The Christmas party will take place after lunch, with games, grab bag and special events.

All members are urged to attend and are requested to bring a dollar grab bag gift and a few Christmas cookies. (4-H

Recognition Night For TNT 4-H Club

TNT 4-H club held recognition night November 26 in the new Elk Grove school gym. Three girls and the leader of the Riverview Rolling Pins were guests.

After all awards were given out to the girls, the leaders, Mrs. Wichman, Mrs. Wille and Mr. Mahler, also received awards. Mrs. Hinkle received her 10-year pin as leader for the club and Alice Bollmann received a bracelet as a reward as the girl who did the most for the club during recent years.

Later, bunco was played by the girls, their mothers, guests and leaders. All winners received a prize.

Refreshments were served with Joan Klamer, Kathy Silibuski and Alice Bollmann as hostesses. (4-H

Sewing Susies 4-H Meets November 13

The November 13 meeting of Sewing Susies 4-H group was called to order at 7 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mees. Alice Randall, who was visiting, was welcomed and a federation report was given.

A committee, consisting of Audrey Gronert, Carol Halstead, Carol Conroy and Mary Kay Meyer, was appointed to check trip possibilities. Next meeting of the group will be December 11 at the home of Gerry Sieben. (4-H

Barrington Bluebird 4-H Re-organizes For Winter Season

First meeting of the new year of Barrington Bluebirds 4-H club was held November 24 with 12 girls enrolled in the winter club. They are Lauralee Ackmann, Charlotte Adamson, Carol Ann Blume, Virginnia Blume, Shirley Dieckhoff, Carol Hartman, Elaine Heine, Karen Heine, Marlene Hoffman, Nancy Kerchenfaut, Susan Petges and Janet Olsen.

This year the winter club is taking a party a month as its project. Officers for the winter months were elected with Elaine Heine as the new president; Karen Heine, vice president; Susan Petges, secretary and Janet Olsen, secretary. The girls were given awards they had earned the previous year.

Next meeting of the group will be held December 8 at the home of Mrs. A. E. Schaefer, leader.

Legal Rights Is Topic For Elk Grove Home Bureau

Elk Grove unit of Cook County Home Bureau met November 28 at 1 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Donald Kastning. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Wallace Duke, Mrs. Edwin Duke and Mrs. August Duke. Mrs. John Mechlenburg, receptionist, greeted 18 members and 3 guests.

The lesson for the day, "Some Aspects of Legal Rights of Property Owners" was given by the Home advisor, Mrs. C. Uphom.

Committee for the Christmas party announced that the party will be December 19, at noon, for members and their guests at the Farm Bureau building in Arlington Heights. Members are asked to bring grab bag gift for the party.

Tickets for the 16th annual Home Bureau meeting, Jan. 17, 9:45 in the Conrad Hilton hotel, may be purchased from Mrs. Victor Pollman. (4-H

Aid Wild Life With Poor Soil

Wise land management practices on the poorer soils in Illinois will encourage wildlife to grow and increase their numbers.

Harold Scholten, extension forester at the University of Illinois college of agriculture, says that the basic need for wildlife preservation is to make land more productive for wildlife.

THAT SIMPLY means that farmers with less productive soil need to recognize wildlife as a crop and manage their land accordingly.

Modern farming methods tend to destroy natural wildlife habitats, Scholten says. The result has been decreased numbers of wild game in recent years. But there are still plenty of acres of poorer soils that can be managed to encourage wildlife production.

Wildlife management practices you can use will depend on the kinds of crops you grow. Farmers will continue to extensively cultivate the most fertile soils for human food supplies, even though such practices destroy natural wildlife habitats.

WILD GAME depend on both soil and water conservation, the forester points out. Good soil conservation and forest management practices will provide both food and shelter and nesting places for wildlife.

Game refuges and game farms are other ways to increase numbers of wild game and birds. Game laws and predator control under certain conditions also help. (FM

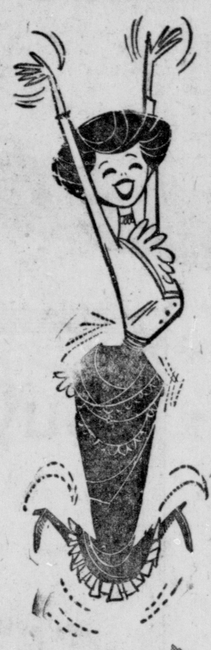
I wish I could whistle!



Everytime I try to whistle, all I can manage is a loud whoosh!

I've felt like whistling ever since I came to work at Old Orchard.

Work? It's more like play working in the light spacious air conditioned buildings of this most modern of all business districts. One of the builders told me Old Orchard was designed as much for the people who work here as for the people who shop here. I guess the plan was successful because we both seem to be pretty happy about the result.

Well, enough of this talk, it's time to get back to work.

No, I don't have to. I want to.

Oh, I do wish I could whistle.

Oh, well. Whoosh.
